U. S. Combat Losses Dip to 114 Last Week

Lowest Total in 6 Months Reflects Lull in Ground War

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. combat casualties in the Vietnam war dropped to their lowest level in six months last week with 114 Americans killed, 893 wounded and five missing, the U.S. Command announced today.

But the sharpest decline last week was in the number of South Vietnamese troops reported killed in action— 76 compared with 183 the week before

The number of Communists killed dropped to 1,399, the lowest since the week that ended June 10, the U S. Command said. But U.S. headquarters said the kill ratio of 6.8 to 1 for the allies last week was the highest this year and possibly one of the highest of the war.

Relative Lull

The low casualty figures reflected another relative lull in the ground war and did not include the casualties in the disastrous fire aboard the carrier Forrestal Saturday.

A U.S. spokesman explained that it was not known yet whether these would be classified as combat or operational casualties since the fire and explosions began with an accident as the carrier was preparing to launch strikes against North Vietnam.

The U.S. Command announced three new operations of battalion size but reported significant contact in only one of them.

U.S. pilots flew 161 missions against North Vietnam Wednesday, their biggest day since July 13, when 170 missions were flown, and a Viet Cong bombardment wounded 27 Americans— nine of them seriously—and set some fuel stores on fire at the U.S. Navy base and petroleum storage area at Nha Be, 10 miles southeast of Saigon.

Pilot Rescued

One U.S. jet attacking the Red gun positions crashed due to mechanical trouble but the pilot was rescued.

The raids on North Vietnam also cost the United States another plane, an Air Force reconnaissance jet downed by ground fire. The two crewmen were listed as missing in action. It was the 630th American warplane announced lost in combat over North Vietnam.

The U.S. Marines reported 77 Communist troops killed in one of the three new ground operations announced today.

Tight Curfew Remains

'Bombing' Negro Student Slain by Milwaukee Police

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Police shot and killed a Negro youth during a bomb incident Wednesday night and spent a busy evening chasing down sniper reports.

But for the most part Mayor Henry Maier's stringent curfew appeared to have clamped a lid on the racially troubled city.

National Guardsmen massed at dark, deserted intersections. Shotgun-slinging police sat in doorways along Third Street in the five-square-mile inner core, where most of Milwaukee's 86,000 Negroes live.

Two vacant houses burned down during the night, the most serious of 34 confirmed fires reported by midnight. A total of 523 persons have been arrested in the four nights since Sunday, when disorders broke out. But most streets were hushed.

College Student

An 18-year-old Negro college student was shot to death outside a paint store. Det. Capt. John Lavin said four policemen saw four Negro teen-agers carrying a firebomb that was hurled at the store. He said police shots were fired when the youths disobeyed a command not to run.

The gunfire killed Clifford McKissick, 18, a sophomore at Wisconsin State University Whitewater.

His 19-year-old brother was charged with attempted arson, and two 17-year-old companions were taken into custody as juveniles.

Three persons died earlier in the week, two of them in a building that burned during a sniper battle, and the third of a heart attack.

Sniper reports crackled over police radio frequencies. But there was little solid evidence of shooting by the time police arrived, and no sniper suspects were arrested.

Police seized arms plus 20,000 rounds of ammunition Wednesday in a Third Street apartment near the center of Tuesday night sniping. The arms included three revolvers and five rifles, one equipped with a telescopic sight. A 75-year-old man told detectives it was a hobby collection.

Curfew at 9 p.m.

Maier, whose curfew had been in effect over the entire city from 7 p.m. to 5:30 a.m for two nights, said it would not be restored today until 9 p.m. Sales of firearms, gasoline in containers and liquor at any time remained prohibited.

Meanwhile, Wisconsin Gov. Warren P. Knowles reported that he had rejected a request by New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who had telephoned Wednesday afternoon to ask a special meeting of governors of states hit by rioting and civil disturbance this summer.

"I told him I had to stay home and was not about to leave the state until we had everything under control," Knowles said.

Maj. Gen. John A. Dunlap, state National Guard commander, predicted his Guardsmen would remain on duty over the weekend. His second in command, Brig. Gen. Joseph Stehling, said the men could demobilize in half a day when given the order.

Stehling said the men were in excellent spirits—partly because a mail call has been instituted.

He said other conveniences included installation of showers, sanitation facilities and a mobile post exchange, expected to arrive today from Ft. Sheridan, Ill., north of Chicago.

Where to Send It

Mail sent to National Guardsmen in the Milwaukee riot area should be addressed to the Milwaukee armory office at 4108 N. Richards St., giving the man's name, rank and unit. For instance:

LBJ Asks Money for More Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson ordered today an accelerated buildup of U.S. forces in Vietnam and called on Congress to adopt a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes to help pay for it.

The President, in a budget and tax message to Congress, said American troops strength in Vietnam will be increased by 45,000 men, raising the total by the end of the current fiscal year next June 30 to 525,000. In a briefing outside the message itself he made the increase figure 45,000 to 50,000.

His figure on forces was higher than the sum of the latest count from Saigon—461,000—plus the increment of 45,000 to 50,000. But Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has said 480,000 are authorized, a figure that would account for Johnson's total.

Thus the actual buildup by the end of the year would be above 60,000.

Johnson said the extra taxes, which would produce $6.3 billion extra revenue in fiscal 1968, should become effective on corporations retroactive to July 1 and on individual incomes next Oct.1

Johnson said the proposed tax increases would expire June 30, 1969 "or continue for so long as the unusual expenditures associated with our efforts in Vietnam require higher revenues."

"I have concluded, after considering the recommendations of Secretary McNamara, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Gen. Westmoreland that I should authorize an increase of at least 45,000 in the number of men to be sent to Vietnam this year," Johnson said.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander in Vietnam, had been reported previously as making a proposal for that increase in his forces during the recent visit to Vietnam by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

"This nation has taken a solemn pledge— that its sons and brothers engaged in the conflict there shall never lack all the help, all the arms, and all the equipment essential for their mission and for their very lives," Jonson said.

"America must—and will—honor that pledge. It is for this reason that expenditures for Vietnam—subject as they are to the variable damands of mili-

Major Policy Speech

Humphrey Warns Of 'Jungle Rule' In Cities of U.S.

BY DICK LYNEIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

DETROIT — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey laid down what he termed "A Marshall Plan for impoverished America" during a major policy speech given here Wednesday night and warned, at the same time, that "The rule of jungle will not prevail in America."

Speaking at the closing banquet of the National Association of Counties (NACO), Humphrey urged his countrymen not to "fall victim to the demogagues and agitators who would tear down what men of peace built with their life's blood over generations."

Instead, the vice president pleaded, now is the time for reconciliation and cooperation, not hate and revenge."

Speaking in the nation's fifth-largest city which is just starting to recover from a weak of wanton and destructive rioting, Humphrey asked:

"Do they really believe that violence and hatred can lead to anything but more violence and hatred?

"Do they think for one minute that injustice can be remedied by injustice?

"Do they think gunfire — the burning of schools and buildings — the literal destruction of neighborhoods can bring any change but change for the worse?"

'Enemies of Freedom'

The vice president said he had a "message for those who would turn Americans against Americans.

"We recognize you for what you are — destroyers, haters and enemies of freedom."

Calling himself "an optimist, Humphrey said he's confident America will make it through its crisis.

"The whole story of America," he stated, "has been the story of a people who have always overcome all obstacles in their search for a more just and perfect union. There have been dark moments, but we've always prevailed."

Rather than "hate and revenge," Humphrey said, "it is a time for reconciliation and cooperation.

"Our commitment to the building of free, safe and just communities must be no less than the commitment we have made in the past to military defense of the country — to the exploration of outer space — to the rebuilding of a devasted western Europe after World War II."

Outlining needs for Americans "trapped in the ghettos,"

No Joke for Police, Guards

BY MIKE WALTER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE — The Milwaukee policeman was jokingly asked when the morning newspaper would be delivered so the enquiring National Guardsman on duty could break his tedium.

"Hell, man," said the cop, "you don't have to read about the news. You are the news."

The time was about 2 or 3 a.m. Wednesday and the place was the corner of Capitol Drive and Green Bay Road (State 57). There was little else for the two law enforcers to talk about, especially since the site of their brief conversation was more than a mile from the center of action in Milwaukee's third day of racial strife. So each cracked a joke.

But it was no joke. The policeman and the Guardsman each knew that what had once been a policing action was now much more.

There was evidence of that from the moments Monday afternoon when the Fox Cities' 1st Battalion, 127th Infantry paraded down U. S. 41, along State 100 and onto U. S. 45 on its way to State Fair Park. No curfew had been ordered yet, so other traffic was everywhere.

But, along both sides of the roadways were people, mostly children, who will gather at any pretense of a parade, but also their parents, who waved at the Guardsmen. It was easy to believe that these people thought the Guard had come to save their city. Many of them did, for it is not often in today's America that armed soldiers will enter a large metropolis with the intent of taking it over.

Post-Crescent Wire Editor Mike Walter was a member of Headquarters and Headquarters Co., 1st Bn., 127th Inf., based at Appleton, when the order to mobilize was received. This story was written as a Guard's impressions of happenings in Milwaukee.

And the sight continued. When the 32nd Division left its base camps at three Milwaukee area locations later that evening, people again lined the freeway. "You better believe they're glad we're here," said one GI.

They had every reason to be glad. Rioting in the city's Inner Core had claimed two lives already and was threatening to blow up into what had been promised all winter and spring — another Watts.

What the National Guard did when it entered Milwaukee was clamp down tightly on everything. People were no longer allowed to walk the streets. Cars disappeared. Businesses closed down for lack of people to man them.

On the first night the forbidden area was a 105-block sector from State Street on the south (just off Wisconsin Avenue, the main downtown street) to Burleigh Street on the north, and from First Street on the east to Fifth Street. But by the following evening the area had increased eight-fold. The State Street and First Street bases remained the same, but Burleigh was stretched to Capitol Drive on the edge of the northern suburbs and Fifth Street to 27th Street. Eight hundred forty blocks were now covered.

"You guys know that nobody can come through, don't you?" said a city policeman to the Guardsmen at Capitol and Green Bay, "Nobody. Even if they have those slips which give them permission. Nobody."

The statement had come about 3:15 a.m. Wednesday, well after the sentinels on duty at the large, well-lighted intersection had turned away their first would-be intruder. The orders of the Guard were

2 More Die From Fire on Forrestal

MANILA (AP) — Two men injured in the fire aboard the aircraft carrier Forrestal have died, raising the toll of confirmed dead to 131, the U.S. Navy announced today. Three other men still are not accounted for.

The two injured men died in hospitals in Vietnam to which they were transferred before the Forrestal sailed Sunday to the Subic Bay naval base in the Philippines.

Knowles Raps Democrats

Safety Bill Won't Return Until Fall

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles indicated Wednesday he would renew his drive for traffic safety when lawmakers return in the fall rather than summon them back into special session to try to revive his shattered bill.

Knowles said: "There's probably very little use in thinking about a special session without some willingness on the part of the Democrats to reassess their position."

Democrats voted solidly against Knowles' package as the Assembly killed it 46-45 last Friday just before the Legislature adjourned until Oct. 17.

Knowles said: "If we haven't sold the package sufficiently so that the legislature is aware of the critical nature of the problem, maybe we've got some more spadework to do."

The Republican governor, asked if he would rewrite the safety package to try to make it more acceptable to Assembly opponents, said: "I don't think anybody should pass a highway safety package just to give lip service to the whole problem."

Repeats Position

He repeated his support for annual automobile inspections and compulsory intoxication test for drunken driving suspects—two proposals fought by Democrats.

Knowles also called once again for a uniform minimum age for drinking beer, a proposal stricken from his safety package by a Senate-Assembly committee set up to try to forge a compromise after the lawmakers deadlocked in June.

Increase in Benefits

Initial Approval Given To Social Security Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A per cent Johnson proposed—and $3.2 billion increase in Social the special raises for those reSecurity benefits—about $1.2 ceiving minimum amounts. billion less than President Johnson proposed—is headed for House consideration.

The House Ways and Means Committee, after five months of hearings and deliberations, approved Wednesday its version of a complex measure that would.

- Provide at least a 12½ per cent increase in benefits for Social Security recipients, effective the second month after enactment.
- Raise Social Security taxes, beginning with a maximum $44 hike next year, to pay the cost of the increases and try to keep pace with still soaring hospital and medical costs.
- Make a number of changes in the conditions for federal participation in state welfare and medicaid programs, generally in the direction of limiting the extension of medicaid eligibility and of encouragng work training and job requirements for some categories of welfare recipients.

Medicaid—a different program from medicare—is aimed at providing medical and hospital care for the poor.

Sponsors aimed at House consideration of the bill within two weeks.

On the Social Security benefit side, the bill would provide the general raise—less than the 15 per cent Johnson proposed—and the special raises for those receiving minimum amounts.

The minimum benefit under the regular old-age program would be increased from $44 to $50 a month, compared with the administration recommendation of $70.

The special benefit paid certain persons 72 and older with insufficient coverage for the regular program would be increased from $35 to $40 a month for a single person, from $52 50 to $60 a month for a couple.

SALUTE

A COLUMN FOR DRAFTEES, SERVICEMEN AND VETERANS

Read This Now Before Enlisting

BY JERRY T. BAULCH
For the Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Here are a few things you should know if you're in military service or thinking about entering:

GI Bill Benefits

You can take advantage of the home loan and educational benefits of the GI bill while you're still in service.

You're eligible if you have completed at least two years of active duty.

Saving Money

The Armed Forces have several ways to help you save money.

The most profitable is the Overseas Savings Program, which pays 10 per cent interest compounded quarterly. Deposits as small as $5, but not more than the serviceman's alloted pay will be accepted. It's part of a program to cut down the dollar drain abroad.

Only those overseas may participate. And after a depositor returns to the United States or its possessions, interest and deposits can continue for only 90 days.

Another recommended method of savings as purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds, paying 4.5 per cent, on the payroll plan. Savings also may be made through the new Freedom Savings plan and through post or base credit unions. Or those in service may allot part of their pay to a bank or savings and loan association.

There have been lots of gripes about pressure by some commanders on bond sale drives to reach their quotas. Congress and Pentagon Officials are making efforts to keep the purchases voluntary.

Physical Standards

The new policy of lower physical standards for enlisted men in the Armed Forces has recently been expanded. It permits a man to stay in service when a minor physical defect is discovered during basic training, provided the recruit volunteers to have the condition corrected at government expense.

Household Shipments

Military families now receive greater protection on shipments of household goods. Movers assume a 60-cents-per-pound liability on interstate shipments of such goods. The old rate was only 30 cents.

Airmail Letters

A 5-cent stamp will speed letters by air to U.S. servicemen in Vietnam. The letters must include the 5 digit APO, the same as a zipcode. And now Congress is considering free mail for men overseas.

Army Community Service

Hundreds of wives are finding that the Army Community Service offers a friendly hand on daily problems — from schooling for handicapped children to locating housing for a family whose breadwinner is overseas. The service, active for over a year now, helps Army families returning from overseas.

Its volunteer activities include day care for children, babysitting, local transportation, storage for household articles, orientation for new members of the Army community and special programs to bring into local Army activities those families separated from their servicemen.

Air Force ROTC Awards

The Air Force is awarding for next fall's College term financial assistance grants to 159 fourth-year ROTC cadets, 1,400 juniors and 600 sophomores. This steps the program up to 3,000 grants in effect.

In case you want to try, the number of grants may be stepped up to 5,500 each school year starting with the fiscal year that begins in July next year.

Each grant covers the cost of full tuition, laboratory expenses, incidental fees and allowance for textbooks. The recipients also receive $50 monthly.

To be eligible you must have a cumulative grade average of at least 2.5 on a 4.0 scale, high scores on the Air Force Officer Qualifying Test, satisfactory medical fitness and "high personal and moral standards." Leadership in college activities also counts. So do skills and abilities needed by the Air Force.

Beginning Sept. 1, the Air Force will offer a few of the full college scholarships for competition among high school seniors graduating in the coming school year. They have to be accepted in a college with an Air Force ROTC program, pass the rigid academic and physical standards required of Air Force flying students and agree to take flight training after they are commissioned. This will mean one year flight training and five more of active duty after that.

Army ROTC

The Army plans to increase its total of college level ROTC units by 15 in each of the next two college years — the first to be added since 1952. So far 150 colleges have applied. At present the Army has ROTC units at 247 college and university campuses.

Active duty obligation of ROTC officer graduates remains two years for non-regular ROTC officers and three years for distinguished military graduates who accept regular army appointments.

Dear Jerry:

Will draftee recruits who complete basic and advanced training be given an opportunity to select the unit for which they feel they have particular qualifications? Some of these trainees might be qualified for Officers' Candidates School as well as for service in higher technical units.

Mrs. RKA, Chevy Chase, Md.

Dear Mrs. RKA:

A person's aptitudes and desires are ascertained by interviews and he may apply for what he wants. And his MOS (occupational speciality) is noted as a part of his backgroumd. His requests are taken into consideration, but the good of the service comes first. It depends on whether his timing is right — whether there is a vacancy — but he isn't allowed to sit around and wait for an opening he likes. A man can go to OCS if he demonstrates he is qualified and can get into a school quota.

Dear Jerry:

The statements were made in your column that the President wants to increase the wartime rates for disability compensation for veterans who served on or since Aug. 5, 1964, that increase in insurance up to $30,000 is being proposed . . . could you answer: Is there any bill before Congress or being contemplated . . . regarding the increase in wartime compensation for veterans prior to June, 1964? Does the proposed insurance to $30,000 include the above category of veterans.

WWG, Newport News, Va.

Dear WWG:

The proposed insurance increase to $30,000 includes only those who served since Aug. 5, 1964. Bills are before Congress to give cost-of-living increases to most VA benefits are indications that the chances are good.

New Banking Plan Has Significant Meaning

BY SYLVIA PORTER

One of the biggest savings banks in New York has just signaled a breakthrough in family financial management by offering a plan under which its customers may make periodic deposits and order specified parts of each regularly scheduled deposit to be channeled into (1) a savings account: (2) a life insurance policy; and (3) mutual fund shares.

The plan, first of its kind and characterized as "quite experimental," received the expected routine headlines. A New York State official said "we currently haven't taken any position, for or against the idea." An executive vice president of the bank said "naturally, we hope that we'll be able to increase deposits and life insurance sales as well as attract mutual fund investments."

But to me, this development warrants far more than a few routine headlines. For between the lines of this story, I read a message of deepest bread-and-butter significance to you. Here, in everyday words, is what I think the bank is saying:

The Message

"You really should not keep all your savings on deposit with institutions such as ours. Even though we're paying you historically high rates on your deposits (5 per cent is commonplace) this rate alone does not sufficiently protect the buying power of your money.

"The income tax you must pay on interest or dividends cuts the net return to you; in the 50 per cent tax bracket, a 5 per cent return is a net of only 2½. The steadily rising cost of living erodes the buying power of your cash deposits another 2 or 3 per cent or more a year.

"We want your deposits and we're competing for them. We also think that you should diversify your holdings and that we should help you do this.

"We approve of life insurance for the protection of your family and we'll sell you an attractive policy.

"And now to give you a hedge against inflation, we'll help you buy stocks that should go up in price as the cost of living goes up. We suggest you buy no-load mutual fund shares because these don't charge a sales fee. We have picked out three funds which have outstanding performance records but you can choose to buy the shares of another mutual fund if you wish.

"The fundamental point is that you have a 'variety' of holdings. This is sound money management today."

The New York bank would surely not use my everyday words and it might even argue with my interpretation. But no matter, the forces which led it to create this plan can guide you too. To put it even more plainly. . .

We are living in an era of long-term inflation and since 1965, the pace of rise in living costs has accelerated. Of course, the pace will slow again but there is no mistaking the basic trend of prices is UP.

Against this background, it does not make sense to keep all of your savings in cash or its equivalent.

Of course, you should have a nestegg in cash for emergencies. If you are elderly and are withdrawing funds from your savings on which to live, it's common sense to maintain deposits at today's relatively high interest rates. And of course, if you are supporting a family, you should own life insurance for their protection. But the average middle-income family should go beyond cash and life insurance into investments which should rise in value as dollars lose purchasing power.

Stocks Investment

Common stocks belong in a balanced family financial portfolio. This is not speculating. This is not a move for short-term gain. This is a program to safeguard the value of the dollars you have over the long-term.

It is this reasoning which accounts for the vast expansion in ownership of stocks by individuals in the past 10 to 20 years. The outbreak of gambling in recent months should not obscure the fact that the overwhelming majority of owners of stocks are investing.

It is this reasoning which accounts for the sharp rise in ownership of stocks by institutions in the past decade.

It is this reasoning which accounts for this break-through in a savings-insurance-stocks program. The plan's key purpose is to pull new deposits to the bank, but its creation tells the tale of the U. S. dollar in the latter part of the 20th century.

St. Mary Class of '47 Gets Together Again

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reinhardt, Fond du Lac, registered with Mrs. John Spalding and Mrs. Kenneth Weiland as the couple arrived for the St. Mary reunion. Below, looking for the faces of old friends on the display board, are Mr. and Mrs. Willard Strebe.

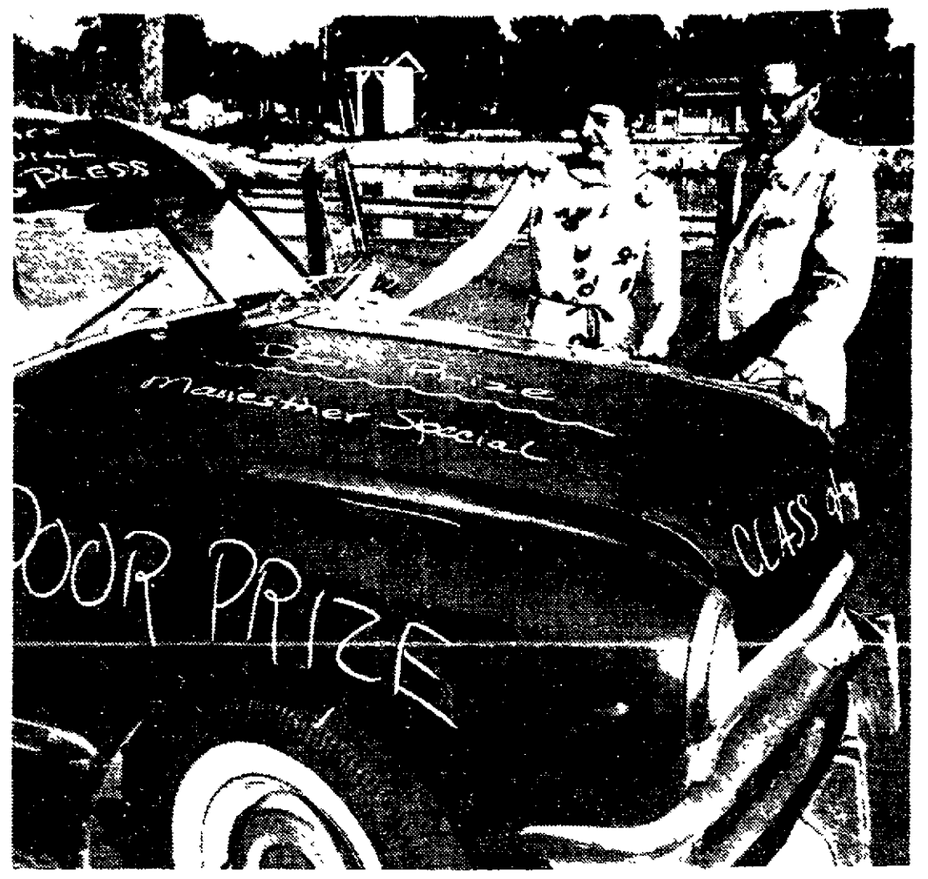
'Classmates and mates' were given the welcome sign Saturday evening as members of the St. Mary High School, Menasha, Class of '47 met once more. The 20-year get-together was held at the Menasha Elks Club.

Committee members assembled a display of photographs of class members, outstanding school events, and pictures of those unable to attend the reunion. The old 'Zephyr' yell was still strong as members talked over their high school years and the events since graduation.

John Spaulding and Mrs. Kenneth Weiland served as reunion co-chairmen. James Newcomb performed toastmaster's duties.

David Coenen and Ray John had charge of awards; Gene Clark, entertainment; Joseph Cheslock, dinner arrangements; Mr. and Mrs. Don Verbrick, picture board and decorations and John Spalding, booklet.

The reunion included a 5:30 p.m. cocktail hour, 7:30 p.m. dinner and dancing.



An Old Car was named 'door prize' and decorated to match. Looking over the weary specimen, above, are reunion co-chairmen Mrs. Kenneth Weiland, Appleton, and John Spalding, Menasha.

Medical Technologist Vital Part of Hospital Health Team

BY JOY SCHALEBEN

MADISON — "Good morning, Mr. Smith, I've come to take a blood sample from your arm."

Mr. Smith eyes the young lady and her tray of needles and test tubes. It's 7 a.m.

"But I haven't had breakfast yet. Besides, someone took a blood sample the other day."

"I know you haven't eaten. Your doctor ordered a blood chemistry test — a protein analysis. Its results depend on a fasting blood sample. That's why I'm here before breakfast," the medical technologist explains.

"Certain blood tests are made daily to check your condition. A series of tests aids your doctor in prescribing your medication," she adds.

Typical Scene

This typical early morning scene, between patient and medical technologist, occurs daily in hospitals across the country.

But just what is a medical technologist? How do you enter this profession?

Medical technologists perform laboratory tests used in the diagnosis and treatment of disease, explains Miss Alice Thorngate, associate director of the University of Wisconsin Medical Technology School. "Some even refer to a technologist as the physician's right arm," she added.

She describes a medical technologist's work as varied yet specialized.

"Medical technologists at times work with patients by collecting specimens such as blood, from a vein or a finger. But a greater part of their work is done in medical laboratories performing, for example, chemical tests to analyze what is present in a patient's blood or urine," Miss Thorngate says.

Specific Tests

"A doctor might want to know the amount of sugar in a diabetic patient's blood. In the case of the patient who has had a kidney transplant, the doctor is interested in electrolytes — the amounts of sodium, potassium, cloride and carbon dioxide in the blood," Miss Thorngate continued.

In a blood bank laboratory, the technologist determines a patient's blood type and matches it with a donor's blood for transfusions. In bacteriology the medical technologist cultures specimens to see if disease-causing organisms are present and, if so, to what antibiotics are they sensitive.

Miss Thorngate has been teaching at the UW Medical Technology School since 1940. Since that time about 600 students have benefited from her experience and knowledge. She sees the need for qualified medical technologists increasing daily.

The medicare program has greatly increased the demand for medical technology education, Miss Thorngate observes.

Needed Everywhere

Average starting salary is $6,000 a year and, with experience, can increase to about $12,000. A medical technologist can find a job any place in the country, Miss Thorngate observes.

To become a registered medical technologist one needs three years of college plus a year in an approved hospital training program. Then the student must pass a national registration examination given by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists. Many colleges and universities offer a degree in medical technology.

What makes a good technologist?

"Above all, an interest in science," Miss Thorngate says, "and an interest in a patient's welfare. The lab results prepared for a physician must be accurate," she emphasizes. "The medical technologist must be a person of integrity and must take pride in her work."

Medical laboratories are becoming more and more mechanized and computerized. Dr. Frank Larson, director of the UW Medical Technology School, cites as an example a device particularly useful in a large hospital — the SMA-12, or sequential multiple analyzer, which can do 12 different chemical analyses on one blood serum specimen in 12 minutes.

It is primarily used as a screening test for patients being admitted to the hospital, he explains.

More Specialized

However, automation of laboratory procedures does not reduce the need for medical technologists, Dr. Larson emphasizes. "On the contrary, it frees them to do more specialized work."

Meanwhile, back on the hospital floor, the young lady with the tray of needles and test tubes has finished drawing Mr. Smith's blood. She labels his tube and looks at the next requisition slip: Mr. Will Orman, Room 362, cholesterol test. It's 7:05 a.m.

After she has collected blood specimens from all her patients, she will return to her laboratory to begin her tests. The results will contribute greatly to the patients' welfare.

Clay Pots, Saucers Makeshift Dishes

Nwe clay pots and saucers make convenient additions to outdoor living. Clay pots, lined with aluminum foil, can be put into service as dessert dishes, individual habachis, candlesticks, or paper cup holders. Use clay saucers as serving plates or ashtravs. Sturdy clay won't tip or fall over in breezy weather, and the terra cotta color blends well with outdoor surroundings.

Mama says air conditioning is no longer a luxury.

"Being changed is a drag. Once, Mama even stuck me with a pin. That hurt. I can't talk yet. But I can understand. I know about a lot of things. About love. About baby powder. About smiles. And air conditioning. Mama says our house is air-conditioned. Every room she takes me to feels just as comfortable. The bathroom. The bedroom. The kitchen. Mama says Worthington Climatrol air conditioning is no longer a luxury. What's a luxury?"

Good Rules Should Not Bind You

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"What should I do when the rules of good play cost me a trick?" asks a reader. "I always play second-hand-low and third - hand - high, but this doesn't always produce the best result. Are the books wrong?"

INSERT MAT

Yes, the books are wrong because no book can cover all possible situations. The "rules" are meant only as general advice. Break the rules whenever it's to your advantage to do so.

Take today's hand as an example of when to break the time-honored rule of "third-hand high." West leads the three of spades, and declarer plays the queen from dummy. East must break the rule if he wants to defeat the contract.

Suppose East takes the ace of spades and returns a spade to dummy's king. Declarer starts the clubs, losing to West's queen. West can take his jack of spades and his ace of clubs, but nothing else. South's ten of spades saves the day for him.

Signals With Nine

East defeats the contract if he breaks the rule at the first trick. He should signal with the nine of spades instead of playing the ace.

Declarer starts the clubs, losing to the queen. West leads another spade, correctly interpreting the nine as an encouraging signal.

Now East can take the ace of spades and can return the deuce of spades through South. West gets both the jack and the eight of spades, and the defenders thus defeat the contract with three spades and two clubs.

Daily Question

Dealer, at your left, bids one spade. Partner bids two hearts, and the next player passes. You hold: S—K Q; H—Q J 6; DQJ 3; C—10 9 8 7 3. What do you say?

Answer: Bid three hearts. Your hand should be worth about three or four tricks to your partner, enough to produce a game if partner has a really good hand for his overcall. If three hearts goes down, the loss is small since the opponents could probably make a part score if you let them bid comfortably.

Your Problems

Staggering 'Social Drinkers' Create Pathetic Home Situation

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It is 2:30 a.m. Mom and Dad are still staggering around, screaming at each other. The last guest just left. I helped shove her out the door. Before leaving she managed to drop her drink in the vestibule and I had to clean up the broken glass. My parents were too smashed to notice.

I am writing because I know I won't be able to sleep until dawn. After a party like this Mom and Dad fight all night. She accuses him of making passes at other women and he says she is crazy and he is going to put her in a mental institution.

I am a 17-year-old boy and have been offered two full scholarships in another state. But I'm afraid to leave home because I don't know what will become of my brothers and my little sister if I go away. Yet I know I must get a college education because at the rate my parents are going they will be dead of alcoholism before the younger kids are grown. I have to get myself educated so I can take care of them.

I am not writing for advice. I know you can't help people who won't help themselves and my parents insist they are not alcoholics. They call themselves "social drinkers". But thanks Ann, for letting me get this off my chest. I needed someone to talk to. —RX?

Dear RX?: I am printing your letter in the hope that the thousands of "social drinkers" who stagger around and fight until dawn will recognize themselves. In the meantime, I hope you will write to Alateen for literature. The address is Al-Anon Family Group Headquarters, Inc., P. O. Box 182, Madison Square Station, New York, N. Y. 10010. Kids with boozing parents need to know a lot of things and this organization can help them. Good luck, fella.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am an 11-year-old boy in the 5th grade. I called a girl who is in my room at school and asked her if she would accept a roller skating date with me for Saturday afternoon. She said yes.

That night my mother told my father about it and he said no 11-year-old kid should go on a date. He made me call the girl and cancel.

I was going to use my own money which I earned. My Mom had agreed to drive me and the girl to the rink and drive us home. This would have been in the afternoon. A man supervises the kids at the rink at all times.

Please tell me if you agree with me and my mother or if you agree with my father. If you agree with me and my mother, I will show my father your answer and try for next Saturday. — Stephen

Dear Stephen: Sorry, but I'm with your father. Eleven-year-old kids should not be dating even if it is only an afternoon at the roller-rink.

After three or four rink dates, you'll want to go to the movies. Then you will want to make a lunch date. Next you will want to take her to dinner. When you reach the age of 12 you will want to go steady. By the time you're 14 there'll be nothing left to do but get engaged.

Stick to the fellas for a few more years, Steve. You won't regret it.

Drinking may be "in" to the kids you run with — but it can put you "out" for keeps. You can cool it and stay popular. Read "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Landers

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Get Color Chart at Paint Shop

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: We have 3 gallons of ivory semi-gloss paint, and would like to tint it another shade. No one here seems to have any information. Are there any color charts available to amateurs?

A: Nearly every good paint store, and many hardware stores, not only have color charts, cards and chips supplied by manufacturers but color mixing machines, too. Exact proportions of tinting colors are given to assure uniform mixes. Bring a brush-out sample of your paint, so the exact shade.

Q: During a cold spell, our north outside wall frosted up so badly that moisture stained our wallpaper mural. How can I remove this ugly brown staining. The mural paper was quite expensive.

A: Sorry, but that stain has become a permanent part of the mural. First chance you get, consider having your walls insulated, so this frosting up won't re-occur.

Q: I would like to put down a sidewalk of dark green concrete. I know that paint would never last. How do I do this?

A: You can get powdered limeproof concrete colors which mix right in with the concrete, so the slab will be colored, through and through. But don't mix in more than 10 per cent colors in proportion to the total amount of cement. The lumber yard can give you full details.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Spider Veins

A Lovely Asks: What causes spider veins on the face and what should be done about them? Mine have become numerous and my make-up no longer covers the problem.

The Answer: The condition is caused by broken capillaries — tiny thin-walled blood vessels which lie close to the skin's surface. Breaks are due to bruising, to harsh skincare techniques and, sometimes, to a health problem. Doctors have come to believe that a tendency to weak capillaries is inherited.

Any part of the body may be affected and there is always the danger of a small cluster of broken vessels becoming larger and darker. To guard against increases on the face, you must handle your skin with a feather touch. Squeezing, pummeling and stretching the skin are out. Neither ice nor steaming hot water may ever be applied directly to the face.

The veins can be successfully hidden by opaque foundation. There are two types. One comes in cake form and is sponged on. The other is a cream, applied like any other cream foundation and then set with a waterproof finishing powder.

If the veins increase in spite of proper skin care, a medical check-up is indicated. You may wish to consult a dermatologist in any case. Very often it is possible to render veins barely visible by dehydration with an electric needle.

Infant Should Have Feeling of Freedom While Being Bathed

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR DR. JONES: I have a new baby who's still too young for me to bathe in a bassinette, but I want to be prepared when the doctor tells me she's old enough for a real bath. Is there anything wrong with putting her in a baby carrier and placing the whole thing into the water? The kind of carrier I'm talking about looks like a square-off spoon; the baby is strapped into it. It has a stand so that the baby is supported in a semi-standing up position. I thought this would be good because it would let me have both hands free to wash her. What do you think? MRS. L A

Eve Jones

The main pleasure and constructive purpose of bathing an infant is to give him the care-free experience of being weightless in the water. Tiny muscles get very tired being pushed into all the hard surfaces the baby rests on. The baby carrier will deprive your daughter of feeling free, so I don't think it would be wise to use it.

Concentrate on learning to bathe your child properly. There isn't really much trick to learning to hold an infant in the tub: Keep your left thumb and forefinger around her left shoulder, let her upper trunk and shoulders rest on your forearm, and nest her head into the crook of your arm. That leaves your right hand completely free to wash her and allows almost all of her body to float freely in the water.

Yes, and the best way to do this is to teach the enjoyment of a number of different things. The child who has never learned to enjoy anything except food is likely to have poor manners. He will rush into the house and go right for the refrigerator. It is the child who has learned to care about the opinions of others, the condition of the house, and the things that make us civilized, who will first clean his feet, hang up his hat, and wash before gorging himself.

Competition in marriage is healthy!

True— False — False. The married pair who constantly vie with one another to match personal indulgence with personal indulgence are being foolishly competitive. Even if your wife spends more than you think she should have on that new coat, squandering a like amount on fishing equipment you don't really want is not going to balance the budget. Better to talk over your purchases and do a little joint planning ahead. Cooperation is far healthier than competition.

Mitchell, Carmichael, Brown

Three Men Symbolize Different Negro Stands

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three men symbolize the struggle for the mind and the progress of the American Negro. All three are Negroes: Clarence Mitchell, Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown.

Mitchell has worked almost his whole adult life for justice and peaceful solution through law and order for Negroes. Carmichael and Brown are apostles of violence.

Three recent statements by these men illuminate not only the different roads they have chosen to follow—and the kind of appeal they make to the Negro mind—but the choice Negroes have open to them.

Want Resegregation

"The haters, both white and nonwhite," Mitchell said Wednesday night in a talk in Atlanta, "are now operating on the same wave - length. They both want to resegregate the country."

"They are a small minority, but they are a dangerous minority. They are dangerous because some of them are reckless enough to carry out wild schemes of destruction."

The Associated Press reported that in a three-hour news conference, from which U.S. reporters were barred, Carmichael said in Cuba where he is the guest of Fidel Castro:

"One good thing about the Vietnam war (he never served in it since he was never drafted) is that the United States has taught us how to kill."

Guerrilla Uprisings

He called for Negro guerrilla uprisings in this country.

Brown, charged with inciting to riot in Cambridge, Md., but free on bond while he awaits an extradition hearing on the charge, made a speech in Cambridge immediately before the riot July 24.

Wednesday the Cambridge chief of police, Brice Kinnamon, told the Senate Judiciary Committee Brown's speech was not only inflammatory but was "the sole reason for our riot." Kinnamon produced a recorded speech which, the police chief said, Brown made to the Cambridge Negroes. In part it said:

"I mean, don't be trying to love that hunky (white man) to death: shoot him to death, 'cause that's what he's out to do to you. Do to him what he would like to do to you, but do it to him first."

Burn Town

Brown reportedly said the town should be burned down but advised his listeners to do the burning in the white sections of Cambridge.

Mitchell is 57 but he has been working for the advancement of Negroes for 30 years, which is longer than Brown, 23, and Carmichael, 26, have been alive.

He worked for government, state and Negro agencies—all involved in Negro problems—and 22 years ago he went with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He has been the NAACP's Washington representative since then. His is hardly a private life. He lives in Baltimore where he has a wife, Juanita, an NAACP lawyer there, and four sons, comes to Washington every day and works until 8 o'clock at night or later with senators and representatives on bills affecting Negroes, goes to committee hearings to testify or listen, or to see Justice Department lawyers, or to the White House, or to various meetings, and then on weekends has to fly around the country to attend meetings.

Lifetime Dedication

This has been his life 22 years, day in and out. He is a husky man with a temper he keeps controlled. He is not doing it for money. The NAACP is not a place to get rich. He has dedicated his life to this job.

It was the NAACP which, after years of preliminary test cases leading up to the big one, got the Supreme Court in 1954 to outlaw segregation as unconstitutional. This cut the barrier to Negro progress.

If it weren't for the work of Mitchell and the NAACP, Negroes in America would probably be as segregated today as they were 100 years ago.

It was this decision which made it possible for Carmichael and Brown to assert themselves although they look upon the NAACP people as a bunch of outdated Uncle Toms.

Brown, who had a good scholastic record but didn't finish college, is from Louisiana and this year succeeded Carmichael as chairman of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee—a ridiculous name for it now.

He left school to work in the civil rights drive in Mississippi. At first pictured as shy, he picked up audacity as he went along.

Carmichael, a citizen although born in the West Indies, finished college. He, too, got his early training in the civil rights drive in Mississippi. Last year he authored the phrase "Black Power."

But last year he hemmed and hawed about admitting he advocated violence. Not any more—and now he is said to command fees of $1,000 or more for some of his appearances.

'Free' in Water

Paraplegic Determined To Conquer Channel

By TOM BRILEY

REHOBOTH BEACH, Del. (AP) — Harry Hinken has his problems on land. But put him in the water, and "I'm free."

Hinken, 42, had polio 14 years ago. He can't walk without crutches. But the rest of him is strong, including his determination to become the first paraplegic to swim the English Channel.

Hinken lives in Arlington, Va., where he has a thriving general insurance business. He gets in four to five miles of swimming at the Northern Virginia Aquatic Club each morning before going to work.

Channel Conditions

Then on weekends he comes to Delaware to train under conditions approximating those found in the channel. The "Indian River inlet here is probably even more treacherous than the English Channel," says Hinken.

His strenuous training was interrupted last year by two operations, the 18th and 19th in the years since he was stricken by polio. In successive operations the left and right collarbone joints were removed because they "were eaten up by arthritis," caused by the strain put on his shoulders by his crutches, Hinken said.

Why try to swim the channel?

"It's like asking a man why he wants to climb a mountain. I have a successful business and a lovely family. I have overcome my handicap. But I want to swim the channel."

Neap Tide

Hinken will try to swim the channel between Aug. 28 and Sept. 1, the time of the neap, or minimum, tide.

He will be accompanied by his coach at the aquatic club, former Olympic swimming coach Stan Tinkhan, but Mrs. Hinken will remain at home with the couple's children, a son and a daughter.

"It's a man's job," she said. "They don't need a woman. I would just get in the way."

Hinken is determined that nothing will stop him from swimming the channel.

"If they take me out," he said, "they'll just have to take me out. I'll not come out on my own until I hit the opposite shore."

Aldermen Square Off Over Cost of Site Development

Pointer Says Streets, Utilities Will Total Additional $38,000

Two Appleton Council members — one a veteran and the other a freshman alderman — squared off verbally Wednesday night over apparent major problems and the cost of developing the Mielke property as a new school site.

And during the short-lived debate, the board of public works' land acquisition committee found itself damned and defended.

The committee has consistently recommended against purchase of the Mielke property, favoring development of Hoover Park as a school site instead, but was overriden by the schools' fiscal control board earlier in the week.

Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), chairman of the street - sanitation committee, and Ald. James Bethke (9th), a leader of the drive to have the Mielke site selected for his ward, failed to see eye-to-eye on what comes next.

Resumption of Dispute

There could be a resumption of the school site dispute at a special meeting of the fiscal control board (consisting of 20 aldermen and four town chairmen) next Wednesday night.

Pointer, whose committee has the task of planning the necessary streets and services leading to schools, told the council bluntly that under existing conditions it would take a year to get the work done.

Pointer said it would cost an additional $38,000 over the purchase price of $39,680 to put in streets and other utilities.

The major stumbling block is that the land, while in the city, is not platted. One of the conditions of the city's offer to purchase will be for the Mielke Trust to dedicate land needed for streets, city officials said.

However Pointer explained the hands of the department of public works would be tied when it came to street and utility construction until the land is platted.

He reminded his colleagues that the plat must be approved by the plan commission, regional planner and the department of resource development planning division before any work can be cdone — emphasizing this represented a time bind over which the committee or works director had no control

Towns Put Share in Escrow

And Pointer said he felt the towns (Buchanan, Harrison Grand Chute and Menasha) should be asked to put their share of the $38,000 development costs in escrow, "unless you want the City of Appleton to get caught and pay the entire sum."

Pointer declared it would be in order to call a meeting of the

Miller Ordered To Stand Trial

Charged in $40,000 Coin Theft From Menasha Collector

OSHKOSH — County Judge James V. Sitter this morning ordered Lawrence V. Miller, 23, Oshkosh, to stand trial after Menasha grocer and dealer Irvin Wanserski identified him as one of the three armed men who who stole $40,000 in coins and bills from him March 19.

In a preliminary hearing, Judge Sitter found probable cause to believe that the Menasha grocer was robbed of the money and that Miller, 603 S. Park Ave., took part in the robbery.

Acting Circuit Judge David C. Willis, Green Lake, will try Miller for armed robbery in the third floor courtroom here. Judge Willis has not yet set a trial date.

Only two witnesses, both called by Dist. Atty. Thomas Fink, testified. One of them, Joseph G. Gokey, 1104 Hobbs Ave., an Oshkosh food distributor, refused to testify on the grounds that his answers to Fink's questions might incriminate him. Fink did not indicate why he had called Gokey.

Fink's second witness was Wanserski, who described what happened at his home at 4284 Sixth St. on the night of March 19. He said it took three men from 9 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. to carry all of the stolen coins in his basement upstairs and outside.

Wanserski said he did not see the third man until all the coins were packed in bank bags, pop cases and grocery boxes. One of the men then called to "Willie" to come and help Wanserski up the basement stairs with the load of coins, Wanserski testified.

Wanserski said the man called "Willie" was armed with what seemed to be a .45 caliber automatic pistol tucked in his belt.

When Fink asked Wanserski whether the man who helped him carry the coins was in the courtroom, Wanserski said "yes" and pointed to Miller.

Wanserski also said "Willie" told him he had better be careful because the other two men "would use their guns."

Miller's attorney, Robert L. Jackson Jr., Milwaukee, cross-examined Wanserski and moved for dismissal of the case because there was no evidence presented in the hearing on the value of the coins. Judge Sitter denied the motion.

Miller's $10,000 bond was continued and he was released.

Appleton Will Pay $107,000 Bonus to Vinton Firm

Firm Working on New Avenue Beats Deadline by 107 Days

Vinton Construction Co. of Manitowoc will receive a $107,000 bonus for completing the College Avenue reconstruction 107 days before the Nov 1 deadline.

Approval of the payment, according to the original contractual arrangement which called for a bonus-penalty arrangement, was given by the Appleton Council Wednesday night.

However, Ald. John Steidl (18th) spoke against paying the $107,000, contending that only $60,000 had been budgeted for bonus purposes. Steidl, along with Ald. George Schwartzbauer (10th), cast the lone votes against the board of public works recmmendation.

Steidl wanted to know where the additional money would come from, and was told by Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), chairman of the street-sanitation committee, that it would be available without having to increase special assessments.

'Outstanding Job'

Pointer defended the avenue project and claimed Vinton did an "outstanding job" and was entitled to the bonus under terms of the contract approved by the council.

"The general contractor brought in enough equipment and manpower to get the job done in a hurry . . . and even went to the trouble to have trenches thawed out during the winter to expedite work," Pointer explained.

Schwartzbauer questioned whether any work had been neglected because of the early completion of the avenue project and was informed by Public Works Director Frank Keuler that specifications had been met.

'No Maximum'

"There was no maximum listed in the contract as far as a bonus or penalty was concerned," Pointer said. "The $60,000 figure was the best estimate that could be made at the time."

City Atty. David Geenen said the city was legally liable to pay the $107,000 bonus under the contract.

Had Vinton taken longer than Nov. 1 to finish the job. he would have been required to pay a penalty of $1,000 per day to the City of Appleton.

In other action, the council okayed purchase of streetscaping materials, along with trees, shrubs and outdoor furniture. for avenue beautification at a cost of $52,360.

Six-Page Report

Taxpayers Association Asks To Defer Improvement Plan

Lower annual tax levies, higher bonding and deferment of several major municipal improvements have been recommended to city officials by the Appleton Taxpayers Association.

The group filed a six-page report with the Appleton Council Wednesday night for consideration when aldermen meet in September to adopt a five-year capital improvement program.

Recently, Finance Director Henry Schreve prepared a proposed five-year plan to the council, putting more emphasis on pay-as-you-go in some instances than bonding

But there are several instances in which the Taxpayers Association take exception, and practically an opposite approach.

Points Upheld

Schreve's position has consistently been upheld by the city's financial consultants.

The association report took exception to assessed valuation, population, school operation, city operation and general city debt projections.

Most emphasis was placed on the fact that the homeowner is faced with constantly increasing municipal taxes.

"We find it difficult to accept that any of you would project your personal expenditures to exceed substantially your anticipated salary or wages" the association told the council.

It recognized that several of the capital improvement projects were necessary as listed in the long-range plan but felt they should be deferred past the five-year period rather than being included in it.

With respect to some of the city's annual programs — sewer and pavement construction — the association suggested cutting the amount of money designated for the annual budget and bond instead, thus holding the tax rate down somewhat.

The proposed construction of an Oneida Street Bridge over the Fox River in five years or so drew criticism, with the association suggesting the project be considered over the next 20 years.

Delaying some major street improvements to 1972 was advocated, along with deletion of a proposal to erect a new city home.

Incinerator Construction

Deferring construction of a municipal incinerator until after 1971 was recommended, along with holding off on building a city hall and new library until after 1971 and 1972, respectively

The main recommendation, which runs against the priority recommendations of the city's comprehensive plan, is that the downtown one-block urban renewal program — scheduled for 1972 but requiring considerable advance work — be deferred.

"We do not believe this program can be undertaken even then without a substantial increase in the tax rate," the association said

It also said one of two junior high school additions should be deferred from 1969 to 1970, the Appleton West High School additions and remodeling should be shifted from 1969 to 1970, and the northside elementary school should be deferred from 1970 to 1971.

The association's recommendations, it claimed, would cut down considerably the projected tax rate increase, along with decreasing substantially the money to be paid out for major capital improvements because they will be deferred

The report was signed by Harry H. Kositzke, association president

Decision Urged on Soldiers Square Mall

Freedom Bar Operator Guilty of Two Charges

Robert Ludwig Fined Total of $200; Two Other Counts Dismissed by Request

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer, in a surprise move late this morning, moved to dismiss two tavern counts against Robert Ludwig, agent for Ludwig Lanes, Inc , at Freedom

Ludwig, 38, of route 1, Kaukauna, was found guilty on two other counts and was fined a total of $200 and costs by acting Outagamie County Judge David H. Sebora of Calumet County.

Schaefer, at the start of the second day of the 12-member jury trial, asked for dismissal of charges of furnishing beer to five minors and failing to properly display his retail beer license.

Schaefer, in explaining his actions, said he had decided Wednesday to subpoena 15 more witnesses — all youths allegedly in Ludwig's at the time of a "raid" Jan. 27, but later learned that it would not be possible to continue with trial Friday.

Conflict in Schedule

Judge Sebora had indicated that should the trial run beyond today, it would conflict with his Calumet court schedule, and he would have to continue the trial to Aug. 16, when testimony would be renewed. Indications were that the trial would run for several more days, since Schaefer still had at least 30 more state's witnesses and John Esler, Ludwig's attorney, told the court he would call 10 or 12 defense witnesses.

Schaefer said that should there be a delay to Aug. 16, the state's testimony would have been "forgotten" and the defense would be able to come in with "fresh testimony" and that would be the testimony "the jury would remember"

Schaefer had originally intended to subpoena 18 youths who were in the tavern during the raid, then decided to call 15 more

'No Contest'

Esler entered no contest pleas for Ludwig on charges of allowing minors to loiter in the Freedom tavern, and failing to display an identification registration book Judge Sebora found Ludwig guilty and fined him $160 on the first count and $40 on the second Court costs, which Ludwig must pay, are expected to run high.

Before Judge Sebora imposed the fines, Schaefer said that Robert Ludwig had three prior convictions on tavern law violations. The latest charges against Ludwig were brought following a "raid" by state beverage agents and county police shortly before midnight Jan. 27.

Most of the testimony Wednesday afternoon came from the four state agents who made the investigation.

Agents Testify

They were Robert Seeman of Wausau, a field supervisor, and investigators John Schulz, Richard Breed, and Russell Nikolai, each of whom, at the request of Schaefer and over the objections of Esler, supplied the names of some 30 minors — ages 15-17 — agents said were in the building

Schulz testified that he was in Ludwig's about an hour and a half before the "raid," and at that time observed "what appeared to be" a number of minors in the bar Schulz said he ordered a large bottle of beer and left after 10 minutes.

He then conferred with other agents, after which county au-

Pedestrian Walk Would Cost $50,000

A decision on construction of a Soldiers Square pedestrian walk — the next phase of the city's comprehensive plan — was urged Wednesday night by Ald. Roy Pointer (14th).

Pointer, chairman of the street-sanitation committee, presided over a council of the whole meeting after aldermen conducted their regular business session.

He said it would cost $50,900 to make the area between the new ramp and avenue store rear entrances, from Oneida to Morrison Street, into a mall area

Pointer told the council he personally felt the pedestrian walk areas, which will have landscaping and other features, should be treated as downtown parks and be built with municipal funds rather than levy any special assessments.

Additional Parking

At the same time, Pointer said the alternative was to leave the square area for additional parking. However, he added this would be costly in the long run although exact estimates were not available.

The upshoot of the council's action was to have the committee prepare a report containing costs and other information on converting the square into a pebestrian walk, or maintaining it as a metered parking area for about 25 vehicles.

In the meantime, the committee will also contact property owners in the Soldiers Square block, and three other areas where other pedestrian walks are included in the comprehensive plan, and obtain their ideas and reactions.

Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th) said he was not in a position to make a decision on whether the square should be used as a mall or for parking, and sought the comparative information.

The council was told fire and police officials inspected the area and said no problem would be posed by making it into a pedestrian walk. And, authori-

Man Charged With Felony In Shooting

Incident Occurred During Vandalism At Rural Home

A route 1 Seymour man will be arraigned in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Friday afternoon on a felony charge brought after a rural West De Pere youth was seriously wounded in a shooting incident early the morning of June 26.

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer said that Gerald M Nagel, 24, has been charged with causing injury by negligent use of a weapon.

Nagel allegedly fired a shot from a .22 caliber rifle that struck Robert Manders, 17, route 2, West DePere, in the abdomen after three youths reportedly were causing vandalism in front of his home about 1:30 a.m.

Manders, who was struck by the bullet as he was getting into a car, was taken to a Green Bay Hospital where he remained for some time.

Two Green Bay men, a few days after the shooting-vandalism incident, were fined $100 and costs each on a charge of procuring beer for minors One of them also was fined an additional $100 for causing criminal damage to property at the Nagel home

Police Investigate Alleged Attack on 25-Year-Old Man

Appleton detectives today were continuing investigation into an alleged attack on a 25-year-old man near a downtown restaurant about 1 50 a.m. today.

Jeral Jahnke, 1623 N Owaissa St., told police that he was walking on College Avenue near Division Street when three youths, all about 17, tall, and with long hair, stopped him.

He told police that one of the youths struck him in the eye He then ran across the street toward a restaurant, but the youths caught him before he could get inside, and struck him again. A waitress at the restaurant called police.

Jahnke, whose shirt was ripped, was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment of what authorities indicated was a minor eye injury.

Headliners Hard to Find For Street Dedication

Previous Commitments to Keep Knowles From Attending College Avenue Unveiling

City and Chamber of Commerce officials have been unable to get a nationally-known celebrity to come here Sept. 29 as Appleton's guest of honor for the formal College Avenue dedication.

The city council got the word Wednesday night from spokesmen for the commerce-industrial development committee which was given the public celebration assignment some weeks ago.

While part of the program was announced — and the lack of a headlining personality rapped by a northeast side-alderman — it was also learned that Gov Warren P Knowles will be unable to attend the street and Soldiers Square Ramp dedication.

Previous Commitment

Knowles had been invited to be the main speaker at the ceremonies but said unfortunately he has a previous commitment to be in Milwaukee to attend a dinner at which Gov. Ronald Reagan of California will be the main speaker.

"I am very honored, however, that you have asked me to be the speaker at your ceremonies as I am cognizant of the importance attendant to the festivities," Knowles wrote Mayor George Buckley He offered congratulations to the city, along with regret at being unable to accept the invitation

The program for providing special entertainment for the night of Friday, Sept 29 will feature the Hollywood Palace Review, according to Ald Walter Kalata (2nd).

The council approved entering into a contract for $1,800 with 20th Century Productions of Rockton, Ill., to get the Review to come here to give two performances at the Lawrence College chapel.

"Mixed Emotions"

"I have mixed emotions about getting a review as the feature of the celebration," remarked Ald John Ayers (12th).

"I just can't believe the City of Appleton cannot get some national celebrity to come here and give our town some national publicity" Ayers said, adding he was disappointed

Kalata replied the committee was authorized to spend $2,000 and if the council would authorize a $7,500 to $11,000 appropriation it could get a nationally-known entertainer or group.

It was disclosed that Ald. James Bethke (9th), a committee member, contacted some major firms in the Fox Cities region but reported none was in a position to get a national figure to come to Appleton for the College Avenue program.

Three Bands

On Thursday night, Sept. 28, there will be three bands providing music for street dances in the blocks between Division and Elm Streets, Superior and Appleton Streets and Drew and Durkee Streets.

As part of the formal street opening program, the council also concurred in the recommendation of the committee that the New Car Dealers Association be allowed to display 1968 models on the avenue Sept 29 between 9 a.m and 9 p m

An attempt is also being made to have antique cars on display by way of contrast.

During the week of the celebration, College Avenue will be closed to vehicular traffic from noon on Sept. 28 until 1 p m Sept. 30.

Appleton Gets Award for Safety Work

Appleton Mayor George Buckley and Police Chief E O Wolff attended a noon luncheon in Madison today, honoring Appleton as one of 12 Wisconsin cities with outstanding pedestrian safety programs in 1966. The cities are being cited by the American Automobile Association (AAA).

Presentations at the meeting held at the Park Motor Inn were made by Gov. Warren P. Knowles

The villages of Kimberly and Little Chute will receive similar recognition for pedestrian safety programs next week.

AAA safety director Francis J Eckerman will visit the Little Chute police department at 1 p m Monday and the Kimberly police department at 2 p.m. that day to present the awards to the villages.

'Do Whatever Necessary'

Nation Can Pay for War, Slums, LBJ Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says Americans can afford both the Vietnam war and domestic programs aimed at heading off further slum uprisings.

He told a news conference Monday he hoped "not many people would feel that because we have a problem at home is any indication that we would ignore or surrender our interests abroad."

The President suggested the nation's prosperity was such that "our country will be able to do whatever is necessary to do."

That came in response to a query about possibly asking Congress for more antipoverty funds if new or expanded programs were recommended by the President's Advisory Commission on Racial Disorders.

"$23 Billion More"

Johnson claimed that if the nation had the same income-tax rates in force this year as when he became President, "we would be receiving in the Treasury $23 billion more than we will receive."

He earlier said "there will be some adjustments" to his proposal for a six per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes. But he declined to discuss specifics.

The President appeared cool toward two proposals made in the wake of the Detroit riot, most costly in the nation's history.

One, by Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R—Ky., would make immediately available for special projects in slum areas about $1 billion from long-range urban spending programs.

Johnson said he would be happy to improve on administration of programs aimed at urban areas, but stressed: "It would be helpful if some of the dozen or so programs that are pending could have the approval of the Congress."

He also said he saw "a good many problems" connected with a proposal by Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh for creation of a 1,000-man federal riot force.

Answering other queries, the President:

—Said he did not know whether the Gallup Poll, in reporting 52 per cent of those polled disagree with his Vietnam policy, truly reflected public thinking.

—Said he disagreed with the contention by Secretary—General U Thant of the United Nations that the Vietnamese people were fighting a war of independence similar to the American Revolution.

Sounds of Music Heard At Riverside

NEENAH — Enthusiastic young actors and actresses have been busy rehearsing their roles as the musical young children of the Baron Von Trapp in the Riverside Players production of Rogers and Hammerstein's "Sound of Music" to be presented in the Riverside Pavilion August 17-20 and 24-27.

Director Ken Anderson has double-cast all of the children except the oldest daughter, and the thirteen children are warming up their vocal chords for their every-other night performances.

The "Sound of Music" story that has delighted audiences from stage and film is that of a warm-hearted young Austrian postulant named Maria. Maria leaves the Abbey to become governess for the seven children of the widowed Capt. Von Trapp.

Through well-known musical pieces like "Do-Re-Mi," "The Lonely Goatherd," "Climb Every Mountain," "Edelweiss," and "Maria," she wins the confidence and love of the children. After many confused feelings, Maria also wins the love of the Baron, and they marry just in time for the Nazis invasion of Austria.

It was Bicycle Race day in the Appleton recreation program at Huntley School Wednesday but the race did not necessarily go to the swiftest. For instance, the boys above were engaged in a "slowest" race and Lee Bauman, right, was the winner. Dave Siewers, left, and Terry Sieverts, backgorund, were other competitors. Balancing a book on the head while bicycling was another task and Sue Bauman was a serious contender. (Post-Crescent Photos)

After Two on Patrol

Night of Rest For Guardsmen

NEENAH - MENASHA — Members of the Twin Cities and Appleton National Guard Units were given a night of rest Wednesday after two nights of patrol duty on the perimeter of the Milwaukee core area.

Men from Oshkosh and Fond du Lac units replaced them, getting their first taste of patrol duty. Wednesday night was described as "quiet" by a 32nd Division spokesman.

He said the Oshkosh and Fond du Lac units, part of the 2nd Battalion, 127th Infantry, would be on duty again tonight. With the curfew being pushed back to 9 p.m. from 7 p.m., their duty shift was to be cut to four hours instead of five hours.

If tonight remains quiet, the officer said, there may be an announcement Friday as to when the guardsmen will be released to return home.

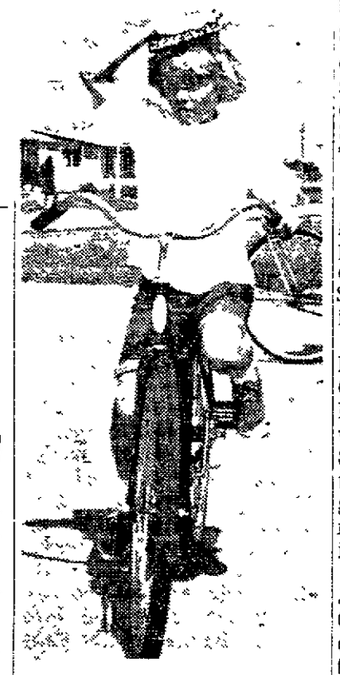
The 1st Battalion, 127th Infantry, with units in the Twin Cities, Appleton and Clintonville, was undergoing another day of relaxation and training today at the state fair grounds in West Allis.

Additional training in riot control, with emphasis on problems involving snipers, was being given today. In addition, softball games were being scheduled and swimming facilities were being made available to the men.

Training is being conducted on the mammoth 10,000 car parking lot on the fairgrounds and also around the complex of exposition buildings for sniper training.

State fair officials said that so far the quartering of the battalion on the fairgrounds hasn't interfered with preparations for the fair which opens next Thursday night.

Most of the troop activities, they said, are taking place at the northern end of the grounds, away from the main center of fair activity.



Aldermen State Opposition to Manager Form

Neenah Schedules Special Referendum On Proposed Change

NEENAH — Aldermen vigorously stated their opposition to the council-manager form of government Wednesday evening but agreed the decision should be left up to the electorate.

A special election this fall to settle the issue before the April 2 balloting was broached by the councilmen but after a heated discussion, they decided to wait for the actual filing of the petition by the Citizens for City Manager.

The CCM, which already has 1,070 signatures on the manager petition — about 100 more than necessary for forcing a referendum — has indicated it would file the completed forms with the city clerk this Friday.

Resolution

Ald. Thomas Ryan, Second Ward, opened the discussion by asking City Atty. Charles Schaller to prepare a resolution calling for a special election this fall and present it to the aldermen for their consideration at the next council meeting.

Ryan, who said he was "definitely opposed to the council-manager form," added the council "owed the voters an opportunity to decide" the issue. "I don't think we should keep them on a limb."

Mayor Carl Loehning remarked, "We haven't got the petition yet." He said the council would be "jumping the gun."

"Maybe they're not going to present the petition," Loehning said. "They say they are. I don't know."

Schaller noted that the wording of the resolution would have to coincide with the petition statement and thus it couldn't be prepared until the actual filing of the signatures.

Meredith Advises Negroes Enlist

WEST POINT, Miss. (AP) — James H. Meredith advises young Negroes to volunteer for the armed forces, and called the war in Vietnam "the greatest thing that ever happened to the Negro."

During his speech at Mary Holmes College Tuesday a few students hissed his suggestion that Negroes volunteer.

The civil rights figure retorted: "I see those liberals have really been working on you all."

He told 250 students participating in a summer enrichment program at Mary Holmes that the war has made the Negro "realize he's a man and he won't come back and let his kids be beat up."

Russell placed the loss at $100,000. The ammunition was in the store's sporting goods section.

Westgor Elected Red Cross Chief

NEENAH — The Neenah chapter of the American Red Cross Board of Directors met yesterday to elect officers for the 1967-68 year. John Westgor was elected chairman.

Other officers were Charles Littlefield, vice-chairman, Mrs. C. M. Hedges, secretary, Ambrose Owen, treasurer, and Mrs. Earl Pantton, executive secretary.

Announcement was also made that the American National Red Cross has increased the quota for the Neenah chapter to $7,043 for the 1968-69 year. Reason for the approximately $2,000 increase was given as the greater need for services to the armed forces, to veterans, and for increased cost of blood services. This increase will be included in the fund drive during March, 1968.

Confidence Man Uses Queen in Jewel Swindle

LONDON (AP) — A confidence man who said he was ordering a $1,750 necklace for Queen Elizabeth II was sentenced Wednesday to four years in prison.

John Charles Winter, 48, pleaded guilty to three charges of larceny. In swindling various jewelers, he posed as a royal equerry, a lord, a military officer and a professor.

Winter got the necklace posing as a royal equerry. His lawyer said he arranged by phone to meet the jeweler first in the Royal Mews, which contains a display of royal coaches and is open to the public.

After several visits to the store, Winter chose the necklace and took it away on approval. He also promised to get the store the royal warrant, an endorsement which gives a store a potent boost with customers. Winter sold the necklace.

Comedian Danny Kaye Stops Off at Home During World Travels

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Danny Kaye stopped at home long enough to "pick up some fresh laundry" Wednesday and headed for the other side of the world.

Less than a day after returning from Israel, where he entertained troops, Kaye told a news conference he will leave Tuesday for a three-week tour of U.S. military hospitals in the Pacific.

"So, here I am to pick up some fresh laundry and go," the comedian said.

Sharp Drop Hits Market

News of Surtax Request Temporarily Shakes Confidence

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined sharply early this afternoon on news that President Johnson had requested a 10 per cent tax surcharge because of the high cost of the Vietnam war. Trading was heavy.

The ticker tape ran late on the New York Stock Exchange.

Losers outnumbered gainers by more than 2 to 1.

The setback came a day after the stock market had made a 1967 peak for the second day running amid exuberant trading that pushed volume up to 13.56 million shares, fourth-biggest on record.

As the session began the market was irregular and then eased as analysts said time had come for a normal digestion of the strong rise.

Prices began to sag sharply on news that the President would send a tax message to Congress at noon.

They settled back further as Wall Streeters learned in advance of what the President's message would contain.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 8.61 at 913.66.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 2.1 at 340.2 with industrials off 3.2, rails off 1.5 and utilities off .3.

COWES, England (AP) — Prince Charles didn't win, but he did better than his dad—who finished last in an 11-mile yacht regatta in rough water off the Isle of Wight Wednesday.

It was the 18-year-old heir to the throne's first shot at competitive sailing and no one expected him to beat his father. The prince steered the yacht Labrador into 13th place.

Violence Raging on Chinese Mainland

Travelers Report Hand-to-Hand Combat Among 20,000 in Hunan

HONG KONG (AP) — Travelers from Red China today reported bloody fighting between more than 20 000 supporters and foes of Mao Tse-tung in Hunan, Mao's native province

"Both sides fought with sharpened wooden or steel rods, but occasionally gun shots were heard," one informant said "The clash has been going on for seven days and has greatly affected train traffic between Canton and Hankow"

Chinese sources here said clashes between pro and anti-Mao elements in Hunan, Shangtung and Kwangtung provinces and struggles in Shanghai and the Wuhan district indicate that China is in a state of anarchy.

Railroad Sabotaged

The anti-Communist newspaper Ming Pao said the rail line between Hong Kong and Canton had been sabotaged repeatedly by anti-Mao train workers There has been a marked falloff in trains coming into this British colony from Red China A Hong Kong official said 12 cars arrived Wednesday instead of the usual 60

Visitors said most of the trains were coming in from Mei Hu Chen, a town about four miles south of Canton

Ming Pao, quoting visitors from Canton, said many storage depots were occupied by anti-Maoists in that metropolis after bitter fighting between Red Guards and train workers The paper said bodies still littered the streets in Canton and hospitals were jammed

Oust Liu

The Peking correspondent of the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri Shimbun quoted an unidentified source as saying Peking's Revolutionary Committee—the capital's highest provisional authority—has asked Communist party headquarters to oust President Liu Shao-chi from his home and hand him over to the committee by Saturday noon

The report said the party presumably would comply and Liu would be hauled before a mass criticism rally

Yomiuri also said Mao may be holding an expanded meeting of the party politburo or the party military affairs commission Quoting observers in Hong Kong, the Tokyo paper said the guest list at the Red Army anniversary celebration in Peking Monday indicates that the most important Communist meeting in a year may be under way in Peking The paper said 146 prominent Maoists invited to the reception may also have been summoned to either an expanded politburo meeting or an enlarged gathering of the military affairs commission

If the politburo is meeting, the observers said, Mao might be getting ready to hand over the party chairmanship to his top aide, Defense Minister Lin Piao, or he may be planning to remove Liu from the presidency.

Providence Keeps Curfew

Negro Area of Rhode Island City Site of Rioting

PROVIDENCE, R I (AP)—A 9 p m curfew will remain in force in a 1½-square-mile area of South Providence tonight as police seek to keep peace for a second night

The predominantly Negro area of old wooden homes around a shopping center was the scene of rioting and arson Monday and Tuesday nights

Sniping occurred Tuesday night

Two youths were shot One, hit in the stomach, remained in a hospital in fair condition

The City Council gave Mayor Joseph A Doorley Jr. emergency powers Wednesday, and he clamped the curfew on the area

Police reported only one incident in the area Wednesday night A thrown rock broke the windshield of a car The two occupants were treated for minor glass cuts

Firebombs

Police said firebombs were thrown into stores and a home about a mile from the area, but the flames were extinguished with little damage

Detective John Eddy said the streets in the curfew area appeared deserted. Traffic in other sections of the city was reduced because many residents thought the curfew was citywide.

Doorley said the curfew would remain in force tonight. After that, he said, a decision to impose it would be made from day to day.

Police credited 21 Negro workers from Progress for Providence—the city's antipoverty agency—with helping to keep peace. They went through streets of the riot area Wednesday urging people to obey the curfew.

American Black Power Advocate Stokely Carmichael is applauded as he makes his way to the rostrum Wednesday in Havana, Cuba, to speak to the Havana conference of the Latin American Organization of Solidarity. House Divided on LBJ Proposal

Romney Fight Hurt Crime Bill

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's controversy with Michigan Gov George Romney over use of federal troops in Detroit's riot could cost him needed House votes on a key amendment to the administration's anticrime bill

A GOP move to shift control of the bill's proposed crime control program from the federal government to the states has strong partywide backing and potential help of Southern Democrats Also expected to win strong support is an amendment calling for special training for police in antiriot techniques.

The bill, heart of Johnson's anticrime program, would authorize $50 million for grants to local police departments to improve their training and recruitment programs and modernize their equipment

The administration has said it would ask for $300 million next year and $1 billion the following year

The money would flow directly between the attorney general's office and the local departments, with governors given the right to review and evaluate grant applications, but not veto them

Charging this could lead to a federally-controlled police system, Republicans are rallying support for their amendment to turn the money over to the states and let them make the grants to local agencies

Position Weakened

A GOP supporter of the administration bill said Wednesday night the widely publicized differences between Romney on one side and Johnson and Atty Gen Ramsey Clark on the other over dispatch of federal troops to Detroit greatly weakened the administration's position in Republican ranks

"They don't want to have Johnson and Clark telling their local police what to do," he said

Rep Emanuel Celler, D-N Y, floor manager of the bill, and Rep William M McCullock of Ohio, senior Republican on the Judiciary Committee, insisted the bill would preserve local responsibility for law enforcement

Coal Board Blamed for Welsh Deaths

LONDON (AP) — A judicial tribunal blamed Britain's nationalized coal board today for the slide of coal mine wastes which crashed down on the Welsh village of Aberfan last October, killing 116 schoolchildren and 26 adults

The 70,000-word report accused coal board officials of "bungling ineptitude" and said the disaster "could and should have been prevented"

The Aberfan school and 18 houses around it were engulfed by a mountain of coal slag from the mines, known in Wales as a coal tip The daily addition of waste to the pile is known as tipping, and the report said a total absence of tipping policy was the basic cause of the disaster

The three-man tribunal was headed by Lord Justice Edmund Davies, son of a Welsh miner In the longest such inquiry in British industrial history, it heard testimony from 136 witnesses at 76 sessions over a 16-week period

The report will be debated in the House of Commons when Parliament reassembles this fall

Automakers Resist Idea

UAW Won't Strike For Profit Sharing

DETROIT (AP) — A top United Auto Workers bargainer says the union will not strike to get profit sharing from the nation's automakers this year

Douglas A Fraser, director of the union's Chrysler Department, said Wednesday the union had found rock-hard resistance to the idea from management and would wait until later to press its demands

Profit sharing, or "equity sharing" as UAW President Walter P Reuther called it, was a surprise demand when the union opened new contract negotiations July 10.

Reuther told Ford, Chrysler and General Motors that bargaining without including profit sharing was "primitive nonsense"

Earnings Share

He said it was impossible to predict in 1967 what a worker's fair share of a company's earnings would be over a new three-year contract

Fraser told a newsman Wednesday, however "If profit sharing were the only issue, it would not be a strikable issue"

Pressed for explanation he said the newsmen could "reasonably draw the conclusion" there would be no strike over profit sharing this year

But, he added, "it's a seed we've sown We'll be back another year"

In recent days, there has been speculation whether Detroit's rioting would make a strike less likely in the auto industry when current three-year pacts run out Sept. 6

The rioting last week left an estimated $500 million in property and related damage.

Riot Losses

A Fire Department report shows 387 buildings were destroyed. In addition, many stores were looted bare, some factories were shut down and operations were disrupted at others because of a curfew, and new car sales virtually dried up.

Thousands of auto workers lost several days pay because of the shutdowns. Service industries were hard hit as workers remained home at official urging

Several sources in the auto industry have said the rioting and its damage could affect Reuther's drive to win what he says is "the longest and most ambitious" set of demands ever made by his union They include a "substantial" wage hike, a guaranteed income and boosts in fringe benefits and working conditions

However, spokesmen within the industry shy away from discussing for publication whether the riots may affect bargaining They don't want to appear to be taking advantage of an unfortunate situation.

Presidency Campaign Opens

De-Escalation Vietnam Issue

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnam's presidential campaign officially opened today and a leading civilian candidate for vice president called for de-escalation of the war and negotiations with the Viet Cong

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, the ruling military junta's vice presidential candidate, also talked about a peace settlement but spoke in terms of the Communists giving up "someday" He said there would be no pause in the bombing of North Vietnam until the allies are sure Hanoi will respond to such a pause

Phan Quang Dan, running mate of presidential candidate

Dan

Phan Khac Suu, told a news conference "It is impossible to fight the Communists like we are now It would be better to have a shouting war rather than a shooting war"

At All Levels

He proposed negotiations with the Communists "at all levels, including the National Liberation Front" The NLF is the political arm of the Viet Cong Ky's military government has adamantly opposed any negotiations with the Viet Cong

The provisional assembly on July 18 banned peace candidate Au Truong Thanh from running in the Sept 3 election Thanh's ticket was one of three cast out for "pro-communism, neutralism or suspicion of having Viet Cong contacts" Thanh, a former interior minister under Ky, has denied the charges

Suu is president of the provisional assembly He sat alongside as Dan said their platform calls for issuing parcels of land to all peasants on an equal basis and canceling peasants' taxes until the war ends

Attractive Idea

"The Communists made these kinds of offers and the peasants prefer communism right now because they think they will own their land and not pay taxes when the war ends," he said "Why can't we make such an offer?"

Tran Van Huong 65, former mayor of Saigon who is considered the leading civilian candidate for president, also held a news conference with his running mate, Mai Tho Truyen They said the government must seek a political solution to the war but not "peace at any price"

Ky, running mate of Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, made his statements during a tour of a Catholic hospital in Ho Nai, about 20 miles from Saigon He said "something decisive" could be expected soon in the war but would not say what or when.

"I think the morale of the Communists is very low," Ky said.

Sustain War

"I don't think they can sustain the war for long"

Speaking to a crowd outside the hospital, the premier said 'Since I have been in power, I have always paid the most attention to the poor people" He told newsmen later his campaign would be aimed at the poor

He criticized other candidates "because the first thing they said is that I have the support of the American people" He called such statements shameful

Dan said he and Suu would strive to organize the people into political parties "because the choice now is communism or nothing and that is why the present pacification program is failing"

"We must also conduct mass negotiations with the peasants," he said 'We must win them over to our side"

Little Chute Police Wages Adjusted

Will Get Double Pay for Sunday, Holiday Work

LITTLE CHUTE — Police here will now get double time wages for all hours on Sundays and holidays.

The double time provision, already in effect for street department and other village employes, was approved Tuesday by the village board, upon recommendation of the police committee. It will go into effect immediately.

Officers had previously been paid on a regular overtime basis for Sunday hours, getting time and one-half on anything over eight hours.

The board also hired Thomas C. Jansen as a patrolman to replace Thomas C Cochran, who resigned several weeks ago. Jansen began his duties Wednesday.

Jansen, 29, 804 Charles St., had been a member of the police department for five years until he resigned early last summer. He is married and the father of four children

Regular Salary

Because of his previous experience, Jansen will receive regular patrolman's salary, rather than beginning salary.

The board pledged $200 to help send the Little Chute baseball team, which won the state semi-pro championship Sunday, to the national tournament at Wichita, Kan., later this month.

A request to rezone 12 lots on the west side of Taylor Street between Main and Coolidge streets from R-1 one family residence to R-2 two and multiple family residence was referred to the ordinance and licensing committee. The committee will study the matter and set a public hearing.

The request was received from G. H. Van Hoof, secretary-treasurer of Crestview of Little Chute, Inc. The area which would be affected is part of Crestview Plaza

A Class B combination liquor-fermented malt beverages license was granted to Robert Leach, 1125 Depot St.

Car Strikes Horses; Riders Hurt Slightly

Mishap Occurs on Town Road Bridge Near Black Creek

Two teen-age girls escaped with minor bumps and bruises when the horses they were riding were struck by a car on a bridge two miles northwest of Black Creek on State Road about 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Injured were Lorna Thede, 16, Manitowoc, and Shirley Hauser, 19, route 1, Black Creek. Driver of the car which struck the horses was Duane D. Wussow, 34, route 1, Black Creek, who said he got to the middle of the bridge before he saw the horses and "there was no place to go."

Wussow avoided hitting a third horse ridden by Margaret Suprise, 20, route 1, Black Creek. Outagamie County police said the front of Wussow's car was extensively damaged. Police believe at least one of the two horses would have to be destroyed.

William A Madson, 18, route 3, Kaukauna, suffered an arm injury when his car went into a ditch, then rolled over into a field at States 54 and 55, 2 miles east of Seymour, Tuesday night. Madson told county police he was northbound on 55 and did not see a stop sign at the intersection.

Stock Cars Roll Over, Drivers Hospitalized

ties said arrangements could be worked out without much of a problem for truck deliveries to the back entrances of the stores.

"I realize we have had a remonstrance from building owners and merchants against the pedestrian walk, but at the same time this council does not want to destroy the value or workability of the central business district rejuvenation plan," commented Ald. John Ayers (12th).

Ayers reminded the council paid a consulting firm $2,000 to prepare a sketch showing a pedestrian walk. He also stressed that the new Soldiers Square Ramp was designed so that a pedestrian walk could complement to the north.

"I think we have to keep in mind that there are other areas earmarked for pedestrian walks and if we change one we are in effect revising the future planning for the general area," Ayers said." The completion of one plan is contingent on the other "

The council also:

—Reaffirmed its existing street construction assessment policy.

— Gave the street-sanitation committee the go-ahead to obtain information on changing the city's refuse disposal operation, along with considering a new garbage-refuse collection program.

— Approved a study into the possible use of special containers for refuse for all commercial establishments in the city.

— Presented a municipal government service award to Edward Krueger, a former alderman from the 11th Ward and onetime board of education member.

— After some debate, authorized the director of public works and two aldermen to attend the annual National Public Works Congress at Boston; Oct. 1-5.

Court Picks Attorney In Desertion Suit

A court-appointed attorney was named Wednesday for Kenneth D. Wildt, 28, 403 Reaume Ave., Kaukauna, charged with deserting his wife, Janice, and his three young children July 28.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J Keller, after naming attorney Jerome Block, continued the case to Friday afternoon and set bond at $2,500. Wildt's children, according to the complaint, are one, four, and five years old.

Aldermen Square Off On Site Development

fiscal control board so some matters could be clarified as soon as possible.

Mayor George Buckley said he had invited the town chairmen to the meeting in hopes of having them waive the 48-hour notice and then convene the group as the fiscal control board.

"But as you can see," Buckley said, "none of the chairmen showed up." He admitted, however, the invitation had been on short notice.

Ald Alvin E. Tews (5th), finance committee chairman, said the money should be available on the part of the city and towns before the site development is undertaken.

At this point, Bethke asked what procedure had been followed in the past and questioned whether "delaying tactics" were being used.

"In the past we have always been able to proceed but in this case it is difficult because the fiscal control board apparently wants things just so," Pointer replied.

Criticizes Newspaper

Bethke then became angered and said he was critical of The Post-Crescent but did not say what for.

"This site thing has become a special case, and in my four years of covering city council meetings (Bethke is news director for Radio Station WHBY and covered Wednesday night's meeting) I have never seen one item picked apart as much as this one," Bethke declared, adding he was at a loss why it was happening.

He accused the land acquisition committee and other city officials of "fiddling around" and said it was "a darn crying shame because it is hurting the school kids."

Pointer replied that it would have taken but $17,000 to put streets and utilities in to the Hoover Park site, and indicated there would not have to be any delay.

Alluding again to the Mielke site, Pointer said, "This is the site he (Bethke) chose and he knew how long it would take to develop the site."

Pointer also said he intended to reply to a letter Bethke wrote during the height of the school site controversy. "It contained a lot of discrepancies that I intend to clear up," Pointer declared.

Bethke retorted that all details concerning the streets and utilities, along with the purchase price should have been worked out by the land acquisition committee before the matter came to the council for a vote He placed all blame on the committee.

Also Blames Committee

Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th) also said he blamed the committee for the council's problems.

However, Mayor Buckley defended the land acquisition group and said it consisted of "highly qualified men "

Tews also said he felt some of the questions Pointer raised were valid and that it was proper for them to be resolved immediately.

"I don't believe anyone kicked this thing around as has been claimed by some," Tews added

And Ald. John MacDonald (7th), council president, asked that the city attorney prepare a list of legal and fiscal problems concerning the Mielke site purchase and development. "In my mind, I am confused as some others must be," MacDonald said.

Pointer, noting that there was not $38,000 in the street-sanitation budget for Mielke site development, said funds would have to be provided; the council would have to decide if it wanted to start before the land is purchased; and a determination should be made on whether the towns should put their share of the cost in escrow.

"Many of these problems were pointed out a couple of meetings ago," Pointer added.

Town of Holland Electors Support Chairman of Board

ASKEATON — Electors of the Town of Holland gave Chairman John Hart a vote of confidence Monday night at a special meeting at the town hall when they rejected a proposal to seek a state audit of the town books.

The special meeting was called following the receipt of a petition from a resident, Warren Gerend, who asked for the meeting to discuss alleged irregularities in the conduct of annual town meetings and town finances.

A crowd which packed the town hall and overflowed to the yard outside witnessed a verbal duel between Hart and Gerend, with the majority of those present finally registering their support in favor of the chairman.

Breed said that after authorities arrived at Ludwig's, he heard some youths shout, "it's a raid," then saw two youths dive under a pinball machine. He said he dove after them and caught one, but the second youth got away.

Identified Himself

Seeman, in explaining the procedure used, testified that immediately upon entering the tavern, he identified himself and said an "age check" would be made.

He testified that youths under the age of 18 were asked for names, ages, and addresses, then were ordered to the sheriff's department next day with their parents. The four agents interviewed the youths and obtained statements Jan 28

On a question by Esler, Seeman said that his men made the investigation at Ludwig's after having received "several complaints." He did not say who filed the complaints.

Seeman testified that when he identified himself the night of Jan. 27, he was told that "Joe Ludwig was the man in charge."

The only testimony from youths allegedly in the tavern Jan. 27 came from Ardyce Kamke, who said late Wednesday that she had to pay 50 cents to get into the barroom portion of Ludwig's. She said she turned 18 years old Feb. 2. Miss Kamke is from route 1, Kaukauna.

Conventioners Have Nothing To Do but Actually Convene

DETROIT — "NACO" has a new meaning to delegates here to attend the annual conference of the National Association of Counties.

Delegates, used to more "wide-open" convention cities, now claim that NACO stands for "no alcohol, coffee only."

Things were getting better, however, in this city which is slowly returning to normal after nearly a week of devastating riots.

Ban Lifted

On Sunday, no drinks were available because of Gov. George Romney's complete ban on the sale of alcoholic beverages. In addition, there was a strictly-enforced curfew which meant the streets had to be cleared by 11 p.m.

The ban on alcohol was lifted on Monday, but a curfew stayed in force, although it was an hour later, at midnight. Nightclubs and bars were closing early, however, around 10:30 p.m. or 11 p.m. to allow their employes to be home and off the streets by the time the midnight curfew went into effect.

National Guard units were patrolling the city, including the downtown area surrounding Washington Boulevard, in jeeps. Troopers were carrying loaded rifles.

"This is one time," one delegate said, "when I'll be able to go home and tell my wife I spent the night in the hotel room watching television and really mean it."

Danger of Failure Is Great, Task Force Told

Many Study Committees Have Not Brought About Legislative Action, Hollander Says

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Tarr task force to recut the state's pie of shared taxes was sternly warned Wednesday that it might completely fail, as have most of the other seven study committees examining state financing problems during the past two decades.

State Sen. Walter Hollander (R-Rosendale) told the special task force headed by Lawrence University President Curtis W. Tarr of Appleton that "there is a reluctance in the legislature to make changes, reflecting the attitudes of the people back home."

The Tarr task force, comprised of citizens appointed by the governor and legislative representatives, is examining possible needs and means of reshuffling the state's shared tax system to aid financially-pressed municipalities, and the companion cause of local government reorganization.

'No Cold Water'

"I don't want to throw any cold water on the actions of the committee but I want to point out the great difficulty . . . of getting any recommendations enacted into law," said Hollander, reviewing past state tax revision efforts through the task force approach.

The 13 member task force had just received a report from state Secretary of Revenue James R. Morgan reviewing earlier state efforts since 1950. Of the seven committes studying problems of tax revision, revenue resources and medical assistance needs, only two were able to carry out their programs through subsequent passage of legislation.

One of those was due to the federal pressures of Medicare legislation, he said.

Revision Needs

The 1960 Blue Ribbon Tax Committee also proved successful, Hollander and fellow legislator, Assemblyman J. Curtis McKay, R-Cedarburg, recalled, because of pressing revision needs in state tax policy, broad-based public support, and the support of both then-Gov. Gaylord Nelson and the state legislature.

But the following 1965 "Gold Ribbon" committee failed to carry out its recommendations, in part due to the failure to win the cooperation of its legislative members, Hollander said.

Meeting for the third time, the Tarr task force received reports from Morgan outlining state shared tax policies at present and the history of the growth of the state shared tax programs.

Accompanying each presentation was a compilation of the arguments of supporters of each policy, and of opponents.

Morgan also delivered to the task force a report on taxes collected, state aids and shared taxes in all Wisconsin municipalities in 1966.

Car Stolen, Then Recovered With $60 Missing

SEYMOUR — About $60 in cash was reported missing by the owner of a stolen car which was recovered about five minutes after it was reported missing Wednesday.

The 1958 auto was reported stolen by Claude Fannin, Green Bay, who had parked the vehicle near Norb's Shell Station on Depot Street. The car was recovered about four blocks away, near the laundromat on N. Main Street.

Fannin said that the money was taken from an attache case which was on the rear seat. About $240 in checks were left in the car, according to Police Chief William Hietpas.

Lots Rezoned In Kaukauna

Methodist Church Property Now in Business District

KAUKAUNA — An ordinance rezoning four lots of Methodist Church property with frontage on Catherine Street from Class B residential to central business district was passed Tuesday night in a brief 35-minute session of the city council.

The Methodist Church had requested the change because it plans to sell the land. The classification as central business will make the property more desirable since it already borders the central business-zoned area.

A public hearing was set for 7 p.m. Aug. 15 on rezoning of land bordered by Desnoyer and Lawe Streets from Wisconsin Avenue to Taylor Street from Class B residential to central business.

Low bid of $234.50 was accepted from Anton Berkers & Son General Casualty Co. for insurance on city equipment. High bid of the four received was $731.

The council also decided to vacate a section of land along Orchard Drive west of lot 26 of the George E. Luebke property on recommendation of the plan commission because it is too low to be serviced by existing sanitary sewers.

A letter was read by Mayor Gilbert Anderson noting the progress on Kaukauna's riverbank beautification project and stating that help from organizations and individuals would be appreciated.

Utility Seeks Permit For $12 Million Bond

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Wisconsin Michigan Power Company of Appleton, serving northeastern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan communities, has asked the state Public Service Commission for approval of a $12,000,000 mortgage bond issue. The proceeds of the bonds, due in 1997, would be used to pay for additions to utility plant and to retire temporary bank loans made for expansion purposes, the company explained.

Nails Hamper Pair's Journey

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The first nail sent Mr. and Mrs. Douglas P. Johnson to the hospital Wednesday and the second almost kept them from reaching their destination.

They were riding their motorcycle on Interstate 15 when a nail punctured the rear tire and spun the motorcycle out of control into a borrow pit.

Minutes later the ambulance rushing the couple to a hospital also picked up a nail in a tire but was able to get to the hospital before the tire went flat.

Utah highway patrolmen said someone apparently spilled some nails in the area.

Johnson, 20 and Mrs. Johnson, 21, were reported in fair condition in a hospital.

New London Rawhide Camp Gets Ready for 80 Boys

NEW LONDON — Work is at a feverish pitch at Rawhide this week with the 25 staff boys frantically making last minute preparations for the first of 80 campers to arrive this Sunday. Representing over 23 Wisconsin counties, the teen-age boys from disadvantaged backgrounds have largely been referred from welfare agencies and juvenile judges. The Wisconsin Law Enforcement Officers Association is sponsoring 25 boys from all over the state.

According to Herb Friedrich, Rawhide Camp director, applications have been beyond expectation and additional summer staff had to be hired. All head counselors have a bachelors or masters degree in social work or education. Junior counselors are in their third or fourth year of college, studying in a social service field. Each counselor must have a practical Christian faith, providing a daily example to the campers.

Groups of eight boys and two counselors live in rustic outposts on the 714-acre Rawhide Camp grounds. Each group does its own cooking over an old wood cook stove as well as plans its own activities.

While at camp, campers will be taught such things as fire fighting, trapshooting, boat racing, horsemanship and bulldozer operation, in addition to regular sports activities.

Parcel Post Deliveries for Appleton Expanded to 6 Days

Parcel post deliveries in Appleton have been expanded from five to six days a week as of Monday, Postmaster Francis H. Sumnicht announced today.

This is in line with a recent directive from Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien following the signing of the Post Office Department appropriation bill by President Johnson.

The legislation contains an $8.5 million item for restoration of the six-day a week delivery which had been cut back in May 1964 as an economy measure.

Nearly 5,000 cities are affected, including Menasha and Neenah, Sumnicht said.

He noted that the improved service will remove an inequity for many business and residential routes.

Postal customers served by the 24 "motorized" letter carriers have been receiving six-day deliveries all along. They were not covered by the 1964 cutback inasmuch as carriers on vehicles can deliver parcels of any size. Customers living on the 24-routes serviced by foot carriers have received larger parcels from a five-day a week parcel post route covered by a truck. Carriers on foot only deliver small packages.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Fit Pieces End-to-End To Make a Leaf-Profile

BY CAPPY DICK

Carefully-selected twigs can be used to make a picture like that in Figure 2. The man's hair is made of small artificial leaves.

Use a piece of white poster board of a size you prefer. Apply colored mending tape around the edges to represent a frame.

Decide upon the picture you will form and sketch it very lightly on the poster board with pencil. The outline should be quite simple, for it is to be a guide to follow in assembling the twigs. You may color the face and the area around it with your poster paints.

The twigs should all be of the same diameter. A thickness of a quarter-inch will be satisfactory. Cut the ends square or, when necessary to form a connection, on an angle as in Figure 1.

Attach the twigs to the poster board with glue. Use the glue sparingly to avoid smearing the cardboard.

The little plastic leaves should also be glued in place.

If you take care in preparing the profile it is possible to produce a fairly good likeness of your favorite movie star. Display the completed picture in your room.

Classic Newspaper Drama Broadway Hit in 1928; Opens Friday for Weekend

The drama that captured — or invented — the image of the hard-driving fast-living newspaperman of old will be revived this weekend at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center.

"The Front Page," by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, will roll off the press at 8:15 nightly Friday through Sunday in the Center Fine Arts Theater. It is the Center's first summer production, and tickets will be available at the door or may be reserved by phoning the Center.

Action of the comedy takes place in the press room of Chicago's Criminal Courts Building, where reporters have gathered to cover the hanging of accused murderer Earl Williams. When Williams escapes, the reporters scramble wildly in breakneck pursuit of a "scoop."

Their mad chase for the big story leads to uproarious complications with a bumbling sheriff, an anxious mayor and a fuming mother-in-law.

Charles Ertl in Lead

Starring in the lead role of Hildy Johnson, ace reporter for the "Herald Examiner," will be Charles Ertl of Appleton. Ertl, who will be a senior at the UW Madison campus this fall, completed his freshman and sophomore years at the Center. He performed in the 1965 Center production of "Under Milkwood."

Co-starring as Hildy's conniving managing editor, Walter Burns, will be Fred Hrubecky, Neenah. Hrubecky has a long list of Fox Valley area dramatic credits, including the lead role of Harold Hill in the Riverside Players' production of "The Music Man." He appeared last winter in the Center version of "John Brown's Body."

Pat Moriarty of Appleton will make her acting debut as Hildy's fiancee, Peggy Grant. Miss Moriarty, who completed two years at the Center, will be a junior at the Madison campus this fall.

Alan Bussel, Center public relations director, last seen in the production of "Threepenny Opera," will portray the escaped murderer, Williams. Making her dramatic debut as Molly Maloy, the demimondaine who befriends Williams, will be Carole Pecor, Menasha. Miss Pecor, who attended the Center, will be a junior at Madison.

Director Ken Anderson will double as Sheriff Hartman, the inept lawman whose fumbling permits Williams' escape. Jim E. Danielson, FVC speech instructor, will play the role of the politically panic-stricken mayor.

Making his acting debut as Bensinger of the "Tribune" will be William Laatsch, Center geography instructor. Playing the parts of other reporters will be Dan Rudebeck, Menasha; Stan Bye, Neenah; Jack Niemuth, Fremont; Bob Salm, Appleton; Tom Dick, Neenah, and Jim Krautkramer, Neenah.

John McKellips, Neenah will portray policeman "Woodenshoes" Eichorn, and Max Tungate, Neenah, will play Diamond Louis, a ruffian employed by the newspaper. Ralph Hoffman, Neenah, will act the part of Mr. Pincus, a messenger.

Former Miss Appleton Luane Briske, of Menasha, will play the role of the harassed Mrs. Grant, Peggy's mother. Pat Wolfinger, Appleton, will play Jennie the cleaning woman, and Sue Porter, Appleton, will portray Mrs. Schlosser, wife of an errant reporter.

Sheriff's deputies will be played by Mike James and Scott Sperka, both of Neenah. Walter Bay, Neenah, will play Tony, a hoodlum. Prompter-understudy is Jeannie Schmidt, Kaukauna. Maureen Howe, Neenah, is assistant director.

"The Front Page" was first produced in 1928 on Broadway. Members of the local press have been invited to attend the Sunday evening performance and a Press Appreciation Party afterwards at Sabre Lanes.

The Center production is being staged as part of Director Anderson's theater practicum course. "The Front Page" is not recommended for children.

Boone's Son Rescues Old Indian

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7:30 (Channels 4-5) — "The Old Man and the Cave" on Daniel Boone features cute little Darby Hinton, who finds an old Indian (Cyril Delevanti) awaiting death in a burial cave and "rescues" him. This angers the man's tribe, humiliates the old Indian, and endangers Daniel (Fess Parker), who is to be sacrificed if the old man is not returned to his tribe. (C-R)

7-7:30 (Channels 11-6-9) — Larry Storch gets to play two roles in another nutty F Troop; his usual bewildered, well-meaning Agarn and a dashing Russian colonel, who happens to be Agarn's cousin. Will Wrangler Jane desert her beloved Capt. Parmenter (Ken Berry) for the Russian? (C-R)

7:30-8 (Channels 2-7-12) — Robbie (Don Grady) learns the real meaning of courage on My Three Sons. When his current young lady becomes smitten with a handsome bullfighter visiting Bryant Park, Robbie decides he too has toe courage to face a bull. He faces him all right, but the minute the bull moves towards him, Robbie turns and runs. (C-R)

7:30-8:30 (Channels 4-5) — Viewers will find many modern-day parallels in "Balance of Terror" on Star Trek. The weight of command lies heavy on Capt. Kirk (William Shatner) when he must decide whether or not to invade a neutral zone to fight a sometimes visible-sometimes invisible hostile space craft which has already destroyed some earth outposts. (C-R)

8-10:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — The Thursday Night Movie is "Genghis Khan," one of those spectacular potboilers which takes a look at history with a jaundiced eye. Omar Sharif plays the 13th century Mongolian chief and Stephen Boyd is his worst enemy. James Mason is around as a Chinese philosopher. And before it's over, there is blood everywhere. (C-R)

8:30-9 (Channels 11-6-9) — Love on a Rooftop has some good-natured contrivances as our poor newlyweds think they have a way of getting great wedding pictures without it costing them anything, only to have the photographer think husband Dave doesn't quite fit the role of groom. (C-R)

8:30-9 (Channels 4-5) — Dragnet 1967 has more of a mood piece than usual, with Jack Webb getting emotionally involved in the case: the sex murder of a Japanese widow. (C-R)

9-10 (Channels 4-5) — Carol Lawrence has her best production number so far on The Dean Martin Summer Show Starring Your Host Vic Damone. In "Big Spender," she starts out as a frumpy waitress in a truck driver's diner. But in the eye of the drivers, she suddenly becomes a sexy female. Sandy Baron, a returning guest, is both teacher and students getting awards in a school graduation bit. (C)

To Your Good Health

Does Your Stomach Gurgle After Eating?

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: For about four months, every time I put solid food in my stomach, it sounds like a small war going on. I am a secretary and you can imagine how awful it is taking dictation and all of a sudden this gurgling starts. It is by no means a small sound, but one everyone can hear.

This happens every time I eat a meal, be it small or large.

I am very active, have two children who keep me busy in addition to working from 8:30 to 5. I have had checkups but nothing has been found except that I am healthy.—Mrs. R.T.

Welcome to the club — a large one, I assure you — of people with the gastric gurgles.

Principal causes (assuming that there is no genuine intestinal fault) are: (1) rapid eating; (2) unconscious air-swallowing; (3) excessive motility, or movement, of the intestinal tract, usually a result of tension.

Since you have noticed this for only the last four months, I suggest that first of all you review any activities or problems that may have subjected you to added emotional tension. After all, you have a pretty busy life, and some added tensional burden could be the straw that made the gurgles start.

Tension can affect all three of the factors listed above. Try, deliberately, to allow an extra 10 or 15 minutes for breakfast. Take time to chew food. Don't gulp — because the hurried gulper often falls into the habit of swallowing air.

If these measures start making even partial progress, you may then find that you relax, and the mere relaxing puts an end to the over-motility.

If you continue to have trouble as severe as you describe, it warrants a visit to your doctor to see whether gall bladder or other trouble may be incipient. Or you may find that a short course of tranquilizers may relax your nerves.

I've noticed that if people, in the absence of any pathological condition, begin worrying over the racket in the digestive tract, the worry over waiting for the next gurgle is sometimes enough to keep them in a constant state of tension (and noises). Breaking the tension pattern for a few days sometimes puts an end to the whole episode.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you explain what kinds of foods one can eat on a "gall bladder diet"? Do you have to be on this for the rest of your life?—Mrs. J.B.

Generally speaking, too much fat at any one time, and some coarse vegetables (cabbage and similar) may have to be avoided, but other than that, no particular diet is necessary in most cases. The amount of food at a single sitting can be important, for heavy eaters. For many individuals, no change at all in normal eating habits is needed. If you don't understand why this is so, I suggest that you read my new booklet on gall bladder trouble. Send 25 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for a copy.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that birth control pills of different brands must be switched every year or so to prevent pregnancy? I have heard of two people becoming pregnant although taking the pill. — Mrs. R.S.

No, it is not necessary to change brands. There are cases of pregnancies when people are using "the pill," but the assumption is that in some way the prescribed schedule has been disrupted, a pill has been missed one day, for example. The schedule of use has to be followed exactly to be effective.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent for your copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Yeart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Lady Bird Leads Baby Lyn on Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Patrick Lyn Nugent was given a personal tour of the White House grounds Wednesday by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson. He slept through much of it.

Mrs. Johnson, baby-sitting while her daughter Luci and son-in-law Pat Nugent vacation, pushed her six-week-old grandson around in an old-fashioned English perambulator.

"I haven't pushed a baby carriage since I pushed Luci," Mrs. Johnson said smiling. "That's 19-plus years."

Grabowski Likely to Miss All-Star Game

Ben Wilson Expected to Start at Fullback; Talent Scout Lauds Packer-to-be Bob Hyland

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The Packers are likely to be without the services of sophomore fullback Jim Grabowski when they meet the College All-Stars in Chicago's Soldier Field Friday night.

Grabowski, who recently completed a 4½ month service hitch at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., was called to duty with his Wisconsin National Guard unit Wednesday afternoon to assist in patrolling Milwaukee's riot-ridden Negro district, Coach Vince Lombardi announced.

Lombardi said he had "no idea" when the former University of Illinois luminary might rejoin the team. Presumably, it will not be until the Milwaukee racial situation has eased sufficiently to permit the National Guard's withdrawal.

The Packer head coach indicated that he had planned to start Grabowski, reported here only July 25 after completing his service stint, at fullback against the All-Stars.

Wilson Named

Ben Wilson, acquired from the Los Angeles Rams, is expected to replace him in the opening offensive lineup.

Memo to all Packer fanatics: Keep a sharp eye out for No. 60, who will be seen in All-Star silks, in tomorrow night's game.

Admittedly, determining the whereabouts of 56 assorted Packers — all, hopefully, will have an opportunity to participate — via the tube is likely to provide a busy evening in itself.

But, if your attention occasionally can be permitted to dwell upon the All Stars' mountainous Bob Hyland, it promises to be rewarding.

At least it should be, based upon the testimony of Lou Anderson, the knowledgeable Washingtonian who serves as eastern talent scout for the Packers.

"I've been scouting Hyland for two years," Anderson confided while viewing the Packers' final home field tuneup for the All-Stars here Wednesday, "and he was the finest football player I saw all last season."

Anderson, whose expressive features light up at mention of the huge Boston College alumnus, added, "I think he's too tall (6-5½) to play guard (he is listed at both center and guard on the Packer roster)."

"But I've seen him play there," Lou grinned, shaking his head as he spoke, "and he's perfect."

Hyland, of course, is not the only future Packer who will be with the enemy in tomorrow night's match.

Flanigan to Play

Linebacker Jim Flanigan, of Pittsburgh, the Pack's "second" No. 2 choice in the first common draft last March, also is

Bubba Smith Will Be Opposite Kramer In Feature Matchup

CHICAGO (AP) — The Green Bay Packers' offensive unit can't be blamed too much Friday night if they think they are participating in a replay of last year's 10-10 tie between Notre Dame and Michigan State.

The defensive line-up for the collegians in the 34th College All-Star football game at Soldier Field is crammed with former Irish and Spartan stars.

The front four—football parlance which means one ton of speed and toughness oncentrating on the sudden immobilization of the man with the ball—is made up of Bubba Smith of Michigan State. Pete Duranko and Alan Page of Notre Dame and Nebrask's Carel Stith.

The linebacking corps is headed by State's George Webster and the Irish's Jim Lynch. Lynch is also the defensive signal-caller for the All-Stars, a job he handled at Notre Dame while leading the 1966 Irish to their first undefeated season in 13 years.

No. 1 Draft Choice

Smith, 6-foot-7 and 285 pounds, played defensive end in such a fashion at Michigan State that Baltimore selected him as No. 1 draft choice in the professional football draft.

Coach John Sauer has shifted Bubba to defensive tackle for the encounter with Green Bay and this move matches Smith with the formidable Jerry

Helps Patrol Milwaukee As Soldier

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Green Bay Packer fullback Jim Grabowski is supposed to be playing football in Chicago's Soldier Field Friday night, but more likely he will be soldiering in Milwaukee instead.

Grabowski's double life—guardsman and fullback—found him wearing a different type of helmet early today. He was stationed on a deserted street in the Negro district, helping police and fellow National Guardsmen enforce a city-wide curfew to quell racial disturbances in Milwaukee.

The curfew was lifted at 5:30 a.m today, but will be clamped on again at 9 p.m.

There seemed little chance that the guardsmen—here from throughout the state—would be sent home in time for Grabowski to switch helmets for the National Football League champion Packers' exhibition game against the College All-Stars.

Grabowski's unit, stationed at Oshkosh, returned home last Saturday from two weeks of summer training at Camp Ripley, Minn. The unit was mobilized and sent to Milwaukee Sunday night—"before we could even get our uniforms cleaned," as a Colonel put it.

The second-year bonus baby, an All America from Illinois who is trying to get a shot at the starting slot left vacant by the departure for New Orleans of the great Jimmy Taylor, had managed to return to Green Bay a few days earlier.

He had time to switch uniforms for the annual intrasquad game last Thursday.

But, despite his recent training and good physical condition, he was short on football timing and practice and picked up only eight yards in just five carries.

When Grabowski was finally tracked down here early Thursday, he was sleeping in a pup tent at a bivouac area after having been on guard all night on a street.

Awakened by newsmen and asked if he cared to comment he said: "You've got to be kidding. Go home and go to bed."

Foxes' Loop Lead Melts to Half Game After 2-0 Loss

Hollrah Allows Only 3 Hits but Drops Duel to Cardinals' Ruess

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia. — The Appleton Foxes saw their lead in the Midwest League dwindle to a half game Wednesday night when rookie southpaw Jerry Ruess scattered six hits for a 2-0 Cedar Rapids victory.

The win was only the Cardinals' second in 10 games with the Foxes this season. Runnerup Decatur beat Burlington, 5-2, last night.

Ruess, St. Louis' second choice in the recent player draft, struck out eight batters and walked two in besting Appleton's Orville Hollrah. Hollrah allowed just three safeties, but two of them came back-to-back in the fourth inning to give the Redbirds their two runs.

Hollrah set down the first 11 Cardinal hitters without any trouble, but then a 2-out walk to left fielder Rogers Robinson opened the door in the fourth. Catcher Ted Simmons, who was the Cards' top draft choice, followed with a ringing double to right-center field to bring Robinson home.

Freeman Singles

Third-baseman Duane Freeman promptly plated Simmons with a single to center and raced all the way to third when the Foxes' Jose Ortiz threw wild into the infield. Art Kusnyer made a great catch of Bob Schaefer's liner in right to end the rally.

Freeman got the only other hit off Hollrah in the seventh on roller to deep short. The Appleton right-hander, who suffered only his second loss in nine decisions, retired 12 of the last 13 batters he faced.

Appleton, meanwhile, had sufficient opportunities to score but Ruess wowed tough with runners on base. The Foxes left two men on in each of the first two innings and nine for the game.

Joe Monty led off the fourth with a single, went to second on a wild pitch, but couldn't get any further. Player-coach Deacon Jones rapped a single to begin the fifth. Roy Radmaker followed with a low line drive to right but Jones was forced at second when Robinson trapped the ball.

Monty gave the Foxes their final threat in the ninth when he doubled to start the ninth. However, Ruess struck out Chuck Brinkman and Karl Simon and Monty was tagged out on pinch-hitter Al Fitzmorris' roller to short.

Reds Drub Fading Braves

Cardinals Stun Chicago With Double Loss, Pad NL Lead to 5½ Games

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lou Brock and Curt Flood turned off the electricity in Chicago while Pete Rose was switching on the power in Cincinnati.

Brock and Flood clicked for 11 hits between them as the St Louis Cardinals dimmed Chicago pennant hopes Wednesday with a 4-2, 7-1 doubleheader sweep over the second-place Cubs.

The two victories mushroomed the Cards' National League lead to 5½ games the biggest spread of the season.

Rose, meanwhile, became the eighth player in NL history to hit home runs from each side of the plate in a game as Cincinnati drubbed the fading Atlanta Braves 7-3.

10 Games Off

The Reds' triumph lifted them within 2½ games of the Cubs while the Braves' fifth loss in their last six starts dropped them 10 games off St. Louis' pennant pace.

Willie Mays drove in three runs with a double and his 15th homer, leading fourth-place San Francisco past Pittsburgh 7-2; Houston downed the New York Mets 5-2 and Philadelphia shaded Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings in other NL games.

Brock slapped out six hits in the Cards' twin-bill sweep—four of them in the nightcap—and lifted his batting average to .291. Flood, who has 14 hits in 28 at bats since coming off the disabled list last Friday, contributed three singles in the opener and two more in the second game, bringing his average to .321.

Complete Games

Right-hander Dick Hughes and southpaw Steve Carlton put together successive complete games for the league leaders, scattering seven hits apiece and brought their season marks to 10-3 and 10-6, respectively.

Brock drove in two runs with a second inning single in the opener, then doubled and scored the deciding run in the sixth.

In the third inning of the nightcap Brock and Flood beat out successive bunt singles, triggering a four-run burst.

North Makes Cutoff in National Junior Golf Test

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Andy North of Madison, Wis., was one of six entries tied for No. 27 position in the 36-hole qualifying round Wednesday of the annual National Junior Golf Championships.

North carded an 80-74—154. The leader was Allen Brooks of Medford, Ore., with 69-71—141. The cutoff was 158.

Red Sox Obtain Elston Howard From Yankees

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox obtained veteran catcher Elston Howard from the New York Yankees today for an undisclosed amount of cash and two players to be named later.

The 38-year-old Howard has been with the Yankees since 1955. He has seen limited action this year and is batting .197 with three homers and 17 runs batted in.

Howard was named the American League Most Valuable Player in 1963 after collecting 28 homers and 85 RBI and producing a .287 batting average.

A native of St. Louis and a resident of Teaneck, N.J., Howard's best big league season was in 1961 when he batted .348 in 129 games and hammered 21 homers. He hit better than .300 in two other seasons.

However, after batting .313 in 1964, Howard underwent right elbow surgery for the removal of bone chips the following year and missed six weeks of the campaign He wound up with a .233 average.

Before the start of this season, Howard, pitcher Whitey Ford and first baseman Mickey Mantle were the only Yankees left from Manager Casey Stengel's fabulously successful era which ended in 1960. Ford retired last month. Howard's annual salary is estimated around $50,000.

Griffith Seeks Milwaukee for AL, Paper Says

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Cal Griffith, Minnesota Twins owner, was shaping up a suggestion today that the American League include Milwaukee in baseball plans, the Milwaukee Sentinel reported.

The Sentinel said the California Angels were backing Griffith's proposal, and that league president Joe Cronin favored the franchise idea.

The American and National leagues are having annual summer meetings in Chicago where, the Sentinel said, commissioner William Eckert said Oakland, Dallas, San Diego, New Orleans and Milwaukee were offered for franchise consideration.

Bing Crosby Tourney Moved Ahead 1 Week

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — The 27th annual Bing Crosby pro-amateur golf tournament will be played Jan 11-14, 1968.

In announcing the dates, a week earlier than in the past, PGA tournament director Jack Tuthill said the earlier dates were set to avoid conflict with pro football playoffs.

Fleming and Thurston Still Nurse Injuries

GREEN BAY (AP) — There was some doubt Wednesday whether two veteran members of the Green Bay Packers, tight end Marv Fleming and guard Fuzzy Thurston, will be among the pro football champions playing Friday in Chicago against the College All-Stars.

Both were nursing injuries--Thurston a knee and Fleming a shoulder

The Packers' announced Wednesday that rookie defensive back Richard Tate of Utah, whom they had recently placed on waivers, was recalled and traded to the Cleveland Browns for an undisclosed future draft choice.

Tournament Moved From Milwaukee to Pulaski

Appleton Opens State LL Play Friday

BY TIM PETERMANN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"We'll take the games one at a time," said manager Don Biesterveld when questioned about Appleton McKinley's chances of bringing home the state Little League championship.

The single - elimination state tourney was scheduled to get underway Friday at Gear Field in Milwaukee, but because of the riots, it had to be moved to Pulaski.

Appleton will play at 6 p.m. Friday in Pulaski against the winner of tonight's Milwaukee-Madison game at West Bend. Northern Michigan's winner and Wausau will clash at Wausau Friday night.

The Pulaski and Wausau game winners will meet at 2 p.m. Saturday at Pulaski for the state crown.

The Appleton team, comprised of 14 players from four LL teams in the McKinley Division, is the first Appleton unit ever to reach the state tourney. In the 9-year history of the Appleton Little League, no Appleton team has managed even to survive area play.

The McKinley squad downed Menasha North, 4-3, and Appleton Roosevelt, 2-0, to capture the Area 4 title. Then it tipped Crandon, 1-0, and Shawano, 6-5, for the District 2 crown.

The squad's biggest asset is its good fielding ability, says Biesterveld, who receives coaching assistance from Archie Richmond.

The team also possesses an excellent pitching corps. A trio of righthanders — Dan Heinritz, Curtis Anderson and Don Merkl — has come up with a 2-hitter 3-hitter, 1-hitter and 7-hitter en route to the state berth.

Biesterveld expects to open with the fireballing Heinritz.

The abilities of the three moundsmen are not limited to pitching, and Biesterveld expects to utilize their services at all times. When one is pitching, the other two are in the lineup elsewhere.

In the hitting department Biesterveld says that the team is relatively weak, but added that they came through in the tourney, averaging around 333.

Other players include Mike Riemer, infielder; Kerry Frank, center fielder; Steve Peterson, catcher; Russ Anderson, catcher; and Jim Vandenberg, first baseman.

Hanke is the only left hander on the team and Sommers, Riemer and Russ Anderson are the only 11-year-olds.

The Wisconsin state champion will enter the national regionals at Iowa, and the winners there will go to the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa.

Tigers Split With Orioles

First-Place White Sox And Runnerup Boston Both Suffer Defeats

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Relief pitchers Casey Cox and Moe Drabowsky reaped the rewards of their profession, noted for its ups and downs. Fred Gladding, another bullpen specialist, couldn't stand the heat.

Cox pitched the top of the 11th inning against Minnesota Wednesday night and won his fifth game in six decisions when Washington broke a tie for a 5-4 victory in the bottom of the inning.

Drabowsky worked the ninth, with Baltimore trailing the Detroit Tigers 1-0 and notched his seventh victory against one loss when Brooks Robinson homered in the Oriole half of the inning for a 2-1 triumph and a doubleheader split. Detroit won the opener 4-2.

Gladding, 3-4 in relief, made his first start of the season for Detroit in the nightcap and was working on a five-hitter and a 1-0 lead through five innings.

But then he tired in the heat, the curse of many starting the pitching chores to Pat Dobpitchers, and had to turn over the pitching chores to Pat Dobson. The rookie held the lead until Robinson's homer made him a loser and relegated Gladding's starting stint to the experience-only category.

Cleveland Wins

Cleveland beat the Chicago White Sox 5-1, Kansas City outslugged Boston 8-6 and California edged New York 5-4 in other American League action.

Hank Allen's two-out single sent home Ed Stroud, who had singled and stolen second, with the winning run for Washington which had blown a 4-0 lead.

Minnesota tied the game in the eighth when Rod Carew drove in a run with an infield hit, Tony Oliva one with a sacrifice fly, and Harmon Killebrew two with a single

Al Worthington, who came out of the Minnesota bullpen, in the 11th inning, was tagged with the loss

Consecutive homers by Al Kaline and Norm Cash — Kaline's coming with a man on — in the first inning sparked Detroit to its first-game victory.

In the nightcap, consecutive singles by Jim Northrup, Mickey Stanley and Jim Price gave the Tigers a 1-0 lead in the second inning, and the run stood up until Frank Robinson walked to open the ninth and Brooks followed with his homer.

Allows 7 Hits

Steve Hargan set down the league-leading White Sox on seven hits. He got all the offensive help he needed in the first inning when three singles and a throwing error produced two Indians runs.

Tony Horton collected four singles and Leon Wagner hit his 15th homer for the Tribe.

Mike Hershberger's double, Ted Kubiak's triple and Tim Talton's pinch single snapped a 6-6 tie in the eighth inning and gave Kansas City its victory. Boston had tied the score on Tony Conigliaro's sacrifice fly in the seventh.

Ken Harrelson homered and doubled in two runs for the Athletics. Mike Andrews hit a two-run homer for Boston.

New York took a 4-3 lead with two runs in the seventh, but the Angels pulled it out with two in the ninth on pinch hitter Roger Repoz' leadoff single, Jose Cardenal's triple and Woody Held's single.

New Orleans Saint end Jerry Simmons (25) finds a bit of running room after taking a pass against the Los Angeles Rams in an exhibition game in Anaheim, Calif., Wednesday night The Rams beat the NFL's newest addition, 16-7. (AP Wirephoto) No. 89 is Kent Kramer.

Ex-MSU, ND Standouts Fill All-Star Lineup

Kramer, the All-Pro Green Bay guard who has been moving big men around for the better part of 10 seasons.

"It's quite a matchup," says Galen Fiss, one of Sauer's defensive aids "Kramer is their biggest, strongest interior blocker and Bubba's our biggest and strongest rush man"

Page, who anchored Notre Dame's line, will take his familiar right end position, but his college teammate Duranko switches from tackle to Bubba's spot at end.

All-America Notice

Duranko should have little trouble adjusting to the position. He began his Notre Dame career as a fullback, moved to linebacker and finished his days at defensive tackle where he drew All-America notice.

Smith, a 6-foot-5 and 260 pounds, fills out the front four.

Fiss says the success of the All-Stars defensive plans "depends upon what kind of a pass rush we can get."

Lined up behind Smith will be Lynch, the 225-pound Maxwell Trophy winner and the second draft choice of the Kansas City Chiefs.

Standing behind Duranko will be Webster, whose size and speed made him the ideal "monster" back in college football. Webster is a vicious and sure tackler and an exceptional pass denfender who will be counted on to help the deep backs thwart the Packer aerial attack.

Sauer has several men on the squad to fill the other corner linebacking position including Bob Matheson of Duke, Cleveland's top draft choice; Jim Flanigan of Pittsburgh and Paul Naumoff of Tennessee.

Taylor Drops TD Pass

Rams Tip Saints, 16-7, Behind Gossett's Toe

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Bruce Gossett kicked three field goals as the Los Angeles Rams spoiled the debut of the New Orleans Saints into the National Football League with a 16-7 exhibition game victory Wednesday night at Anaheim Stadium.

Gossett hit on placements from 14, 9, and 45 yards out to provide the difference as each team had a touchdown in the league's pre-season opener before 26,364.

Although the Rams dominated the first half and built a 10-0 lead, the new Saints marched back with a stronger showing in the final period.

Los Angeles fullback Les Josephson scored on a 2-yard run capping a 54-yard advance in the second quarter for the opening tally and Gossett kicked his first field goal before the intermission.

New Orleans quarterback Bill Kilmer, who took over for starter Gary Cuozzo, engineered the Saints' touchdown drive in the third period as he hit 10 passes for 58 yards, the finale a 9-yard throw to Les Kelley. Chuck Durkee converted.

Moments later Ed Meador intercepted a Kilmer pass and returned 36 yards to the Saints' 13, setting up Gossett's second field goal.

New Orleans Coach Tom Fears sent Gary Wood in to run the offense and on a rollout he hit Jim Hester on a 38-yard gainer to the Rams' seven. A pass interference penalty gave the Saints a first down on the two. Former star Green Bay fullback Jim Taylor dropped a Wood pass, apparently destined for a touchdown and the Rams held on three more plays.

Gossett's 45-yard field goal capped the next Ram series.

New Orleans threatened to take the lead in the final period only to have the veteran Jim Taylor drop a pair of crucial passes.

Gary Wood, the third New Orleans quarterback, had hit Jim Hester with a pass good for 38 yards. After an interference penalty, the Saints had a first down at the Rams' two while trailing 13-7.

Wood found Taylor in the clear only to have the former Green Bay star drop the ball. On fourth down, still at the two, another pass popped out of Taylor's hands.

New Orleans Coach Tom Fears said Taylor "could have caught both. But I'm not worried about him. He comes along real slow."

New Orleans gained just one yard rushing but 178 through the air while the Rams had 159 on the ground and 88 through the air.

Paul Brown to Join Grid Hall of Fame

Layne, Tunnell Also Among Eight To be Inducted at Exhibition Tilt

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Paul Brown will take a break this weekend to be inducted into Pro Football's Hall of Fame. He's busy getting ready for a possible second start in the pros.

The former Cleveland Browns coach will be among eight inductees who will be enshrined Saturday afternoon bringing the total number to 47 in five years.

The two-day festivities will end Saturday night with a National Football League exhibition game between the Philadelphia Eagles and the Browns at Fawcett Stadium.

Brown may become coach and part owner of the Cincinnati franchise in the American Football League. The franchise has been given Cincinnati but the owners have not been announced. It would be his sixth coaching job.

Induct Playing Stars

Also being inducted are former playing stars Chuck Bednarik, Bobby Layne, Ken Strong, Joe Stydahar and Emlen Tunnell, owner Dan Reeves of the Los Angeles Rams and the late Charles Bidwill, who owned the Chicago Cardinals.

Brown is no stranger to the Canton area.

Otto Graham, who was Brown's quarterback at Cleveland and is now coach of the Washington Redskins, will present Brown at the enshrinement ceremony. Brown did the honors when Graham was inducted two years ago.

Other presenters will be Pittsburgh Steelers owner Art Rooney for Bidwill, Bob Waterfield for Reeves, Dr Dan Fortmann for Stydahar, Earl "Greasy" Neale for Bednarik, the Rev. Benedict Dudley for Tunnell, Chick Meehan for Strong and Buddy Parker for Layne.

Bought Cardinals

Bidwell bought the Chicago Cardinals in 1933 and in 1947 put together the backfield of Charley Trippi, Pat Harder, Marshall Goldberg and Paul Christman. The Cards won the NFL title that season, but Bidwill died April 19, 1947, and never saw his great backfield in action. The Cardinals moved to St. Louis in 1960.

Stydahar, 55, a tackle, played with the Chicago Bears from 1936-39 and later coached the Los Angeles Rams and Chicago Cardinals. He was an all-pro choice four times, a member of six division and three NFL title teams His 1951 Rams won the NFL title.

Top Choice in '48

Bednarik, 42, played 14 seasons with the Philadelphia Eagles before retiring. He was their top draft choice in 1948, an all-pro lineman nine times and missed only three of 161 games.

Brown

Layne, 41, led the Detroit Lions to four division championships as quarterback, plus the 1952 title game victory over Cleveland He joined the Lions in 1950. He went from the Lions to Pittsburgh and retired after the 1962 season. His lifetime passing record is 1,814 completions in 3,700 attempts for nearly 27,000 yards

Strong, 60, back for the New York Giants, played on four world championship teams and led the NFL in scoring three times. As a kicker, Strong booted 147 conversions, including 67 straight at one time. He played eight seasons.

Tunnell came to the Giants as a free agent and was an all-pro selection four times He was the leader of the umbrella pass defense devised by Coach Steve Owen. Tunnell played with the Giants from 1948-58 and finished with Green Bay from 1959-61. He owns two NFL interception records—most in a lifetime, 79, and most yardage gained, 1,282.

Scouts to Entertain At Bishop's Game

The Madison Scouts Drum and Bugle Corps will entertain at halftime of the Aug. 12 Bishop's Charities football game between the Packers and the Pittsburgh Steelers in Green Bay.

Runnerup was Jake VanLeuer with a 78.

Bob Martin, last year's winner, won the A flight trophy; Tom Schiltz, B flight; George Wales, C flight; and LeRoy Sommers, D flight.

Cady's name will be inscribed on a permanent trophy at the Elks Club. The tournament was started last year in memory of the late Dan Steinberg, Jr., who was active in golfing circles and long time secretary of the Northeastern Wisconsin Golf Association.

A dinner was held at the Elks Club, where the trophies and other awards were presented.

Schumacher Wins KK Feature

Kempen, Wallace Hurt In Stock Car Races

KAUKAUNA — Bob Kempen, Hilbert, and Dick Wallace, Kimberly, were taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital after accidents in the half-mile stock car races at KK Sports Arena Wednesday.

The pair were injured in two of the more serious mishaps in the accident-marred night that saw all races restarted at least once. Both remain in the hospital for observation.

Kempen was in a 3-car collision with Jerry Smith, Medina, and M. J. McBride, Shawano, in the first lap of the third heat. The three cars hit the guard rail on the drag strip

In the fourth lap of the semi-feature event, Wallace rolled over at least three times with his engine being torn out and landing more than 50 feet away in the center of the half mile track.

"Cubby" Lamberies, Shawano, lost his right front wheel when he slammed into the wall halfway through the feature race and the wheel bounded over a fence and into the crowd. The freak accident sent the fans scattering but did not injure anyone.

Clyde Schumacher, Kimberly, won the 20-lap feature race, beating out Shawano's Ted Peters and Earl Ness.

A pair of Shawano drivers, Bob Maas and Gail Bertsbagen, placed one-two respectively, in the semi-feature event with Randy Whitney, Pickett, taking third.

The heat winners include Dave DeGroot, De Pere, first heat; Maas, second heat; Schumacher, third heat; and Ray Trudell, Appleton, fourth heat.

Second and third places were captured by Joe Hinkens, Appleton, and Wallace, first heat; Lamberies and Milo Van Oudenhoven, Appleton, second heat; Peters and McBride, third heat, and George Giesens, Menasha, and Ken Englebretsen, Green Bay, fourth heat.

Peters raced around the half mile oval in 28.33 seconds for the fastest lap time of the night.

Dennis Coonen, Darboy, knocked out Dan Van Derea, Kaukauna, to win the demolition event.

'A Matter of Pride'

14 Packers Will Make Fourth Appearances Against 'Stars Friday

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Invading Chicago to face an array of College All-Stars is becoming something akin to old home week for the Packers, prolific producers of National Football League championships.

But it is not, they assure, getting to be old hat.

Take, for example, articulate Willie Davis, one of 14 members of the current Packer cast who Friday night will be making their fourth Soldier Field appearance within a 6-year span.

Earnestly assessing his reaction to the imminent assignment, the Pack's defensive captain declared, "I think it's mainly a pride game . . . it's a matter of pride because it is taken very seriously by the public. This places a burden on you, because they pay your freight, and it influences your performance."

"It something inside to make you go out and play when you're on display like this."

His fellow veterans, Bob Skoronski, Bart Starr, Forrest Gregg, Max McGee, Boyd Dowler, Fred Thurston and Elijah Pitts of the offense and Ray Nitschke, Henry Jordan, Willie Wood, Herb Adderly and Ron Kostelnik of the defense, all of whom also appeared in the 1962, '63 and '66 classics, express similar sentiments.

Skoronski dryly observed, "because of the fact that we lost to the All-Stars a couple of years ago (by 20-17 in '63), I can never lose my zest for the game . . . It's as big a game from a pride standpoint as any, exclusive of championship games."

"You live with your losses in this league, and we'd rather not if. we had our 'rathers'. We want to win.

Fifth Appearance

Genial, balding Jordan, who like several of his colleagues will be making his fifth All-Star appearance (he played for the collegians in 1957), says, "this game is a challenge — first of all, because the All-Stars have some really outstanding boys this year . . . they've got youth, they've got size and they've got speed . . . their coaches also have a pro background, so they know what they're doing.

"And we're going into it blind," Henry, cheerful possessor of the highest forehead on the world champions' roster now that Red Mack has departed, points out. "We don't know what kind of system they're going to have, but they know what they expect from us. They can look at us on film, but we don't have any films of them, of course."

Starr, who established an All-Star record by pitching five touchdown passes in the Pack's 42-20 victory in the '62 production, rates Friday night's contest even higher on the emotional barometer than that memorable affair.

"I get a big kick out of playing in it," the sage field general asserted, noting, "I never made it as a collegian. . . it's a bigger thrill each time. Another reason is, of course, because of the loss we suffered in '63, which was rather humiliating."

Other reactions from this somewhat exclusive .fraternity: Adderley — "I think it's a great privilege to represent the NFL in the game. . .This will be my fifth time—I played with the All-Stars the first time. There are guys who have been in the league 10 or 12 years who haven't played in it once, so I feel very fortunate."

Wood — "It's sort of a symbol type of thing. To be in the game means that you have won the championship—they sort of go hand in hand. . .It gives you something to look forward to early in the season—It gives you a reason to condition yourself."

McGee—"It's good to kick off your season on national television, something that gives you a lot of national publicity, so it's better than just an ordinary exhibition game. It has more significance. . .And it's a good opportunity (chuckle) to make the ball club."

Beat Lions

Kramer—"It's a special game—there are a lot of things connected with it. It's not quite the same as the first time, of course, but I know how they feel. I played with the All-Stars the year they beat the Detroit Lions, 35-17. Coming from Idaho, I was filled with awe at playing against the Lions. . .I guess this year's stars don't feel that way, though, judging from what I hear. I heard they have seven or eight fights in their scrimmage with the Bears last week and that they started all of them."

Dowler—"It's a great honor to play in the game—we have a lot to uphold for the league, for both leagues this year. And, after losing in '63, I don't think we're likely to be too blase."

Thurston—"I don't care what age you are—I'm 33—this is a big game, an exciting game, and every football player enjoys playing in."

Pitts—"The biggest thing about the game is having won the championship—you kind of look forward to it. . .the fact that you're representing professional football is always a thrill."

Kostelnik—"I always enjoy playing in it because I never played in it as a collegian. . . and anything that's on national television adds a little emphasis."

Nitschke—"It's an honor to play in it, and I look forward to this one, as I have to all the others."

Gregg—"I still enjoy playing in the game—it's the first big one of the regular season, and it's nationally televised. . .There also is a lot of pressure on the Green Bay Packers to win the game. And I look forward to playing against the young ball players you've heard about—you're anxious to play against them."

Vote on Player Limits, Lighting

Major League Club Owners to Resolve Demands of Players

CHICAGO (AP) — The American and National League baseball club owners will meet separately today to vote on team player limits and lighting standards at spring training parks but the main topic of conversation will be resolving demands of the Players Association.

All 20 clubs were represented Wednesday at joint summer meetings presided over by Commissioner William D. Eckert.

Eckert told newsmen after the meetings that the players' demands, presented to the team owners in a letter last week, were discussed at the conferences but he could not disclose the owners' decisions.

The commissioner said there were no votes taken on any subject Wednesday but he expected the leagues to vote separately today on several topics, including reducing the player roster from 28 to 25 at the start of the season instead of May 15, and the minimum lighting standards of parks where spring training is conducted.

Eckert did talk about one of the players' demands, an increase in the minimum annual salary from $7,000 to 12,000.

Eckert said the club owners attitude was for a fair adjustment of salaries but a National League official said, "We don't consider $12,000 a fair salary."

Eckert said that expansion, inter-league schedules and divisional play within a league were on the agenda Wednesday.

"There is no sentiment for expansion at this time," he said. He added that the availability of player talent and the drain on athletes created by the Vietnam situation would make it unfair to place ball clubs in new cities.

He said the club owners expressed interest in setting up a divisional schedule whereby each league would be split into two five-team divisions with the respective winners meeting in a playoff to determine a league champion.

Eckert said the leagues would discuss this further at their separate meetings. He said it would be impossible for one league to adopt this plan without the other league following suit, but the coordination of schedules, especially in two-team cities, made this a doubtful possibility.

There was no more interest expressed in inter-league than the last time the subject was mentioned," Eckert said.

Winnebago Fishing Good, Reports CD

MADISON (AP) — Fishing was excellent last week in Dunn and Door counties, and in Lake Winnebago, the State Conservation Department reported Wednesday.

Bass angling was reported good in 23 counties, and smallmouths were active. Walleyes were hitting in 16 counties, and Northern pike in six. A Trempealeau County walleye topped 10 pounds.

Vilas County produced a 41-pound muskellunge, but fishing for that prize was generally not tops. Trout was reported good in Bayfield, Door and Iron counties.

Lemaster, then connected from the left side against reliever Cecil Upshaw in the eighth. Lee May's three-run homer was the big blow in the third-inning uprising.

Mickey Mantle is the all-time switch homer king, having connected from each side 10 times for the New York Yankees.

Second in 2 Games

Mays hit his second homer in two games — after a month-long drought—following a first-inning single by Jesus Alou and drilled a run-scoring double after another Alou single in the Giants' five-run third.

Given the early lead, Gaylord Perry breezed to his eighth victory in 20 decisions. He allowed nine hits, but was backed by five double plays — one short of the league mark for a nine-inning game.

Ron Davis' RBI double snapped a 2-2 tie in the eighth at Houston and keyed a three-run explosion that carried the Astros to their eighth victory in nine games. Davis also singled in the sixth, moved to third on a wild pitch and ground out, then scored the tying run on a passed ball.

Left-hander Mike Cuellar went the route for Houston and stopped the Mets on six hits for his 11th triumph against six losses.

The Phillies got by Los Angeles on a run-scoring single in the 10th by Rich Allen, whose ninth inning throwing error had enabled the Dodgers to tally the tying run.

Jim Bunning recorded his 11th victory, although tagged for 11 hits before giving way to Dick Farrell in the 10th

expected to see action for Coach John Sauer's handpicked forces

Both Hyland and Flanigan (No. 43) will join the world champions Friday night, immediately following the charity classic, and return to Green Bay with the squad Saturday morning.

Their addition will formally increase the club's roster to 58, or nine above the figure to be reached by the first National Football League cutdown date, Aug. 28.

In addition to this pair, Green Bay's faithful also will be keeping a lookout for Jack Clancy, the former St. Matthew's (Allouez) school student who figures to be a prime target for the passes of All-Star quarterbacks Bob Griese and Steve Spurrier. He will be wearing No. 24.

Clancy, who won All-Detroit, All-Big Ten and All-America honors after leaving Green Bay, set a Western Conference record for pass receptions last season while starring for the University of Michigan's Wolverines.

The accent was on offense in Wednesday's final pre-game session on South Oneida Street. It was climaxed by a review of goal-line maneuvers, launched from the 10-yard-line in each case, and a 2-minute drill. The attackers "scored" in each of their first three attempts in the former, Bart Starr pitching a strike to Allen Brown for one TD and Donny Anderson and Elijah Pitts exploding off tackle on successive plays for the other two. . .Boyd Dowler later also made a deft, diving catch of a starr pass as he hurled across the goal for yet another score.

Starr and Zeke Bratkowski hurled scoring passes to Carroll Dale and Bob Long during the 2-minute practice, which saw them race the clock under simulated game conditions. The team left from Austin Straubel field at noon today for Chicago, where it will headquarter at the Drake Hotel. A "get - acquainted" practice will be held in Soldier Field at 8:30 p.m. today. Friday night's kickoff is set for 8:30 p.m. (Channel 11).

Berry Starts 13th Season for Colts; Unitas Still Out

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — End Raymond Berry, who holds National Football League records for number of receptions and yardage gained from those receptions, signed Wednesday for his 13th year with the Baltimore Colts.

Berry has 620 career receptions, good for 9,108 yards.

Receivers Jimmy Orr and Willie Richardson, linebacker Dennis Gaubatz and quarterback John Unitas are still unsigned.

'Gold' Total Hits 96

U.S. Trackmen Fly to Records

WINNIPEG (AP) — As a bystander heard "The Star-Spangled Banner" played once more at the University of Manitoba's track and field stadium, he said to Stan Wright: "Aren't you getting tired of this?"

"No, sir," replied the assistant U.S. track coach from Texas Southern University. "I can hear that played all day. You haven't seen or heard anything yet."

Whereupon the Yankee track and fieldsters won five more of the six finals Wednesday to run their total of gold medals to 20 in 22 events.

Then the U.S. forces swept two golds and two silvers in the yachting windup, delayed five hours by gusty winds and two thunderstorms, and another gold for the women's team foil fencing.

Since the young swimming and diving marvels of the United States captured 28 of the 33 golds in the record-breaking meet that ended Tuesday night, you really couldn't blame some of the non-Yanks from getting bored with it all.

On the medal scoreboard the United States has a huge bag of 96 golds, 53 silvers and 34 bronzes. Brazil is a far-trailing second in golds with nine (9-6-3) while host Canada is third in gold with eight and second in total medals with 70 (8-28-34).

The track and fielders take today off.

The big moment of the program will come in the evening when Harvard's undefeated eight-oared crew takes on Canada's unbeaten British Columbia eight and Argentina in one of the heats of the rowing program on Winnipeg's Red River Floodway.

Wins 5,000 Meter

Paraguay, Mexico and Cuba will compete in the other heat. The winners of each heat will qualify for Saturday's five-boat final. But the losers will meet in a repechage—second chance for losers—Friday with the first three also gaining the finals.

Pan-American records were broken in five of the six finals Wednesday but one of them — Wyomia Tyus' :23.7 time in the women's 200-meter dash — was not allowed because of an aiding wind. Miss Tyus, of Griffin, Ga., nipped 100-meter winner Barbara Ferrell of Los Angeles.

Van Nelson of Minneapolis became the first double gold medal winner in track by taking the 5,000-meter run in 13:47.4. He had won the 10,000 previously.

Bill Toomey of Laguna Beach, Calif., captured the decathlon with 8,044 points; John Carlos, a New York native who runs for East Texas State, edged Jerry Bright of Oakland in the 200-meter sprint in :20.5; and fast-rising Wade Bell of Ogden, Utah, came up with a final burst to whip Bill Crothers, Canada's Olympic silver medalist, in the 800-meter nonrecord time of 1:49.2. Crothers was clocked in 1:49.9.

Cuba's Irene Martinez Tartabull broke the U.S.A. monopoly by winning the long jump with 20 feet, 9 inches, breaking the Pan-Am mark of 20-2 set by Willye White of Chicago in 1963 Willye also bettered her mark but had to settle for third with 20-3.

U. S. Combat Losses Dip to 114 Last Week

Lowest Total in 6 Months Reflects Lull in Ground War

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. combat casualties in the Vietnam war dropped to their lowest level in six months last week with 114 Americans killed, 893 wounded and five missing, the U.S. Command announced today.

But the sharpest decline last week was in the number of South Vietnamese troops reported killed in action— 76 compared with 183 the week before.

The number of Communists killed dropped to 1,399, the lowest since the week that ended June 10, the U.S. Command said. But U.S. headquarters said the kill ratio of 6.8 to 1 for the allies last week was the highest this year and possibly one of the highest of the war.

Relative Lull

The low casualty figures reflected another relative lull in the ground war and did not include the casualties in the disastrous fire aboard the carrier Forrestal Saturday.

A U.S. spokesman explained that it was not known yet whether these would be classified as combat or operational casualties since the fire and explosions began with an accident as the carrier was preparing to launch strikes against North Vietnam.

The U.S. Command announced three new operations of battalion size but reported significant contact in only one of them.

U.S. pilots flew 161 missions against North Vietnam Wednesday, their biggest day since July 13, when 170 missions were flown, and a Viet Cong bombardment wounded 27 Americans— nine of them seriously—and set some fuel stores on fire at the U.S. Navy base and petroleum storage area at Nha Be, 10 miles southeast of Saigon.

Pilot Rescued

One U.S. jet attacking the Red gun positions crashed due to mechanical trouble but the pilot was rescued.

The raids on North Vietnam also cost the United States another plane, an Air Force reconnaissance jet downed by ground fire. The two crewmen were listed as missing in action. It was the 630th American warplane announced lost in combat over North Vietnam.

The U.S. Marines reported 77 Communist troops killed in one of the three new ground operations announced today.

Tight Curfew Remains

'Bombing' Negro Student Slain by Milwaukee Police

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Police shot and killed a Negro youth during a bomb incident Wednesday night and spent a busy evening chasing down sniper reports.

But for the most part Mayor Henry Maier's stringent curfew appeared to have clamped a lid on the racially troubled city.

National Guardsmen massed at dark, deserted intersections. Shotgun-slinging police sat in doorways along Third Street in the five-square-mile inner core, where most of Milwaukee's 86,000 Negroes live.

Two vacant houses burned down during the night, the most serious of 34 confirmed fires reported by midnight. A total of 523 persons have been arrested in the four nights since Sunday, when disorders broke out. But most streets were hushed.

College Student

An 18-year-old Negro college student was shot to death outside a paint store. Det. Capt. John Lavin said four policemen saw four Negro teen-agers carrying a firebomb that was hurled at the store. He said police shots were fired when the youths disobeyed a command not to run.

The gunfire killed Clifford McKissick, 18, a sophomore at Wisconsin State University Whitewater.

His 19-year-old brother was charged with attempted arson, and two 17-year-old companions were taken into custody as juveniles.

Three persons died earlier in the week, two of them in a building that burned during a sniper battle, and the third of a heart attack.

Sniper reports crackled over police radio frequencies. But there was little solid evidence of shooting by the time police arrived, and no sniper suspects were arrested.

Police seized arms plus 20,000 rounds of ammunition Wednesday in a Third Street apartment near the center of Tuesday night sniping. The arms included three revolvers and five rifles, one equipped with a telescopic sight. A 75-year-old man told detectives it was a hobby collection.

Curfew at 9 p.m.

Maier, whose curfew had been in effect over the entire city from 7 p.m. to 5:30 a.m. for two nights, said it would not be restored today until 9 p.m. Sales of firearms, gasoline in containers and liquor at any time remained prohibited.

Meanwhile, Wisconsin Gov. Warren P. Knowles reported that he had rejected a request by New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who had telephoned Wednesday afternoon to ask a special meeting of governors of states hit by rioting and civil disturbance this summer.

"I told him I had to stay home and was not about to leave the state until we had everything under control," Knowles said.

Maj. Gen. John A. Dunlap, state National Guard commander, predicted his Guardsmen would remain on duty over the weekend. His second in command, Brig. Gen. Joseph Stehling, said the men could demobilize in half a day when given the order.

Stehling said the men were in excellent spirits—partly because a mail call has been instituted.

He said other conveniences included installation of showers, sanitation facilities and a mobile post exchange, expected to arrive today from Ft. Sheridan, Ill., north of Chicago.

LBJ Asks Money for More Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson ordered today an accelerated buildup of U.S. forces in Vietnam and called on Congress to adopt a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes to help pay for it.

The President, in a budget and tax message to Congress, said American troops strength in Vietnam will be increased by 45,000 men, raising the total by the end of the current fiscal year next June 30 to 525,000. In a briefing outside the message itself he made the increase figure 45,000 to 50,000.

His figure on forces was higher than the sum of the latest count from Saigon—461,000—plus the increment of 45,000 to 50,000. But Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has said 480,000 are authorized, a figure that would account for Johnson's total.

Thus the actual buildup by the end of the year would be above 60,000.

Johnson said the extra taxes, which would produce $6.3 billion extra revenue in fiscal 1968, should become effective on corporations retroactive to July 1 and on individual incomes next Oct.1

Johnson said the proposed tax increases would expire June 30, 1969 "or continue for so long as the unusual expenditures associated with our efforts in Vietnam require higher revenues."

"I have concluded, after considering the recommendations of Secretary McNamara, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Gen. Westmoreland that I should authorize an increase of at least 45,000 in the number of men to be sent to Vietnam this year," Johnson said.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander in Vietnam, had been reported previously as making a proposal for that increase in his forces during the recent visit to Vietnam by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

"This nation has taken a solemn pledge— that its sons and brothers engaged in the conflict there shall never lack all the help, all the arms, and all the equipment essential for their mission and for their very lives," Jonson said.

"America must—and will—honor that pledge. It is for this reason that expenditures for Vietnam—subject as they are to the variable damands of mili-

Major Policy Speech

Humphrey Warns Of 'Jungle Rule' In Cities of U.S.

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

DETROIT — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey laid down what he termed "A Marshall Plan for impoverished America" during a major policy speech given here Wednesday night and warned, at the same time, that "The rule of jungle will not prevail in America."

Speaking at the closing banquet of the National Association of Counties (NACO), Humphrey urged his countrymen not to "fall victim to the demogagues and agitators who would tear down what men of peace built with their life's blood over generations."

Instead, the vice president pleaded, now is the time for reconciliation and cooperation, not hate and revenge."

Speaking in the nation's fifth-largest city which is just starting to recover from a weak of wanton and destructive rioting, Humphrey asked:

"Do they really believe that violence and hatred can lead to anything but more violence and hatred?

"Do they think for one minute that injustice can be remedied by injustice?

"Do they think gunfire — the burning of schools and buildings — the literal destruction of neighborhoods can bring any change but change for the worse?"

'Enemies of Freedom'

The vice president said he had a "message for those who would turn Americans against Americans.

"We recognize you for what you are — destroyers, haters and enemies of freedom."

Calling himself "an optimist, Humphrey said he's confident America will make it through its crisis.

"The whole story of America," he stated, "has been the story of a people who have always overcome all obstacles in their search for a more just and perfect union. There have been dark moments, but we've always prevailed."

Rather than "hate and revenge," Humphrey said, "it is a time for reconciliation and cooperation.

"Our commitment to the building of free, safe and just communities must be no less than the commitment we have made in the past to military defense of the country — to the exploration of outer space — to the rebuilding of a devasted western Europe after World War II."

Outlining needs for Americans "trapped in the ghettos,"

No Joke for Police, Guards

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE — The Milwaukee policeman was jokingly asked when the morning newspaper would be delivered so the enquiring National Guardsman on duty could break his tedium.

"Hell, man," said the cop, "you don't have to read about the news. You are the news."

The time was about 2 or 3 a.m. Wednesday and the place was the corner of Capitol Drive and Green Bay Road (State 57). There was little else for the two law enforcers to talk about, especially since the site of their brief conversation was more than a mile from the center of action in Milwaukee's third day of racial strife. So each cracked a joke.

But it was no joke. The policeman and the Guardsman each knew that what had once been a policing action was now much more.

There was evidence of that from the moments Monday afternoon when the Fox Cities' 1st Battalion, 127th Infantry paraded down U. S. 41, along State 100 and onto U. S. 45 on its way to State Fair Park. No curfew had been ordered yet, so other traffic was everywhere.

But along both sides of the roadways were people, mostly children, who will gather at any pretense of a parade, but also their parents, who waved at the Guardsmen. It was easy to believe that these people thought the Guard had come to save their city. Many of them did, for it is not often in today's America that armed soldiers will enter a large metropolis with the intent of taking it over.

Post-Crescent Wire Editor Mike Walter was a member of Headquarters and Headquarters Co., 1st Bn., 127th Inf., based at Appleton, when the order to mobilize was received. This story was written as a Guard's impressions of happenings in Milwaukee.

And the sight continued. When the 32nd Division left its base camps at three Milwaukee area locations later that evening, people again lined the freeway. "You better believe they're glad we're here," said one GI.

They had every reason to be glad. Rioting in the city's Inner Core had claimed two lives already and was threatening to blow up into what had been promised all winter and spring — another Watts.

What the National Guard did when it entered Milwaukee was clamp down tightly on everything. People were no longer allowed to walk the streets. Cars disappeared. Businesses closed down for lack of people to man them.

On the first night the forbidden area was a 105-block sector from State Street on the south (just off Wisconsin Avenue, the main downtown street) to Burleigh Street on the north, and from First Street on the east to Fifth Street. But by the following evening the area had increased eight-fold. The State Street and First Street bases remained the same, but Burleigh was stretched to Capitol Drive on the edge of the northern suburbs and Fifth Street to 27th Street. Eight hundred forty blocks were now covered.

"You guys know that nobody can come through, don't you?" said a city policeman to the Guardsmen at Capitol and Green Bay, "Nobody. Even if they have those slips which give them permission. Nobody."

The statement had come about 3:15 a.m. Wednesday, well after the sentinels on duty at the large, well-lighted intersection had turned away their first would-be intruder. The orders of the Guard were

Knowles Raps Democrats

Safety Bill Won't Return Until Fall

MADISON (AP) — Gov Warren P. Knowles indicated Wednesday he would renew his drive for traffic safety when lawmakers return in the fall rather than summon them back into special session to try to revive his shattered bill.

Knowles said: "There's probably very little use in thinking about a special session without some willingness on the part of the Democrats to reassess their position."

Democrats voted solidly against Knowles' package as the Assembly killed it 46-45 last Friday just before the Legislature adjourned until Oct. 17.

Knowles said: "If we haven't sold the package sufficiently so that the legislature is aware of the critical nature of the problem, maybe we've got some more spadework to do."

The Republican governor, asked if he would rewrite the safety package to try to make it more acceptable to Assembly opponents, said: "I don't think anybody should pass a highway safety package just to give lip service to the whole problem."

Repeats Position

He repeated his support for annual automobile inspections and compulsory intoxication tests for drunken driving suspects—two proposals fought by Democrats.

Knowles also called once again for a uniform minimum age for drinking beer, a proposal stricken from his safety package by a Senate-Assembly committee set up to try to forge a compromise after the lawmakers deadlocked in June.

Increase in Benefits

Initial Approval Given To Social Security Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $3.2 billion increase in Social Security benefits—about $1.2 billion less than President Johnson proposed—is headed for House consideration.

The House Ways and Means Committee, after five months of hearings and deliberations, approved Wednesday its version of a complex measure that would:

- Provide at least a 12½ per cent increase in benefits for Social Security recipients, effective the second month after enactment.
- Raise Social Security taxes, beginning with a maximum $44 hike next year, to pay the cost of the increases and try to keep pace with still soaring hospital and medical costs.
- Make a number of changes in the conditions for federal participation in state welfare and medicaid programs, generally in the direction of limiting the extension of medicaid eligibility and of encouragng work training and job requirements for some categories of welfare recipients.

Medicaid—a different program from medicare—is aimed at providing medical and hospital care for the poor.

Sponsors aimed at House consideration of the bill within two weeks.

On the Social Security benefit side, the bill would provide the general raise—less than the 15 per cent Johnson proposed—and the special raises for those receiving minimum amounts.

The minimum benefit under the regular old-age program would be increased from $44 to $50 a month, compared with the administration recommendation of $70.

The special benefit paid certain persons 72 and older with insufficient coverage for the regular program would be increased from $35 to $40 a month for a single person, from $52.50 to $60 a month for a couple.

Exceed Quota Of Passengers At Clintonville

Air Commuter Sets Flights to Chicago, Ashland

CLINTONVILLE — Ald. Fred Hangartner, airport committee chairman, reported to the council Tuesday night that the city exceeded its passenger quota in July for scheduled airline flights.

There were 67 passengers and 6,751 pounds of freight. The freight weight is equivalent to 29 passengers for a total of 96 passengers and the quota is 78, Hangartner stated.

Midstate Air Commuter has scheduled airline service from Clintonville Municipal airport to Chicago, Sunday through Friday, with no Saturday flights. The southbound flight leaves here at 3:35 p.m. and arrives in Chicago at 5:10 p.m., leaves there at 6 p.m. and arrives here at 7:40 p.m. The flight leaves here at 7:50 p.m. northbound and arrives at Ashland at 9 p.m. It arrives back in Clintonville at 3:25 p.m.

Operation Moved

Operation of the scheduled service has been moved over to the city-owned hangar and Ron Otto is handling it. Two other men were done July 20 at the airport, which will be a saving of approximately $2400 a year for salary plus the amount being paid for rent at the other hangar.

The "homer" will also be moved over to the city-owned hangar and the aerial will be moved.

The airport commission was granted authority to advertise for bids for construction of five T-hangars at the airport.

NACO Delegates Show Favor In Local Crime Prevention

Group Also Shows Disfavor Of Industrial Revenue Bonds

BY DICK LYNEIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

DETROIT — Reacting to a summer of civil disorder and racial rioting, the National Association of Counties (NACO) went on record Wednesday favoring strong local crime prevention programs.

Another major resolution to pass the morning's general session took a stand strongly supported by the Wisconsin delegation on the controversial subject of industrial revenue bonds

Although there was a large chorus of 'no's', especially from southerners, the resolution reiterated NACO's opposition to the issuance of industrial revenue bonds, despite the fact that they are permitted in 35 states.

In the six page resolution on crime, the 1,900 county officials were told they must become "increasingly aware of their role in the area of crime prevention by making every effort to eliminate the social conditions closely associated with crime, by improving the ability of the local criminal justice system to detect, apprehend, judge and re-integrate into their communities those who have committed crimes. The resolution dealt with problems of juvenile delinquency, police training, police manpower, the courts, organized crime, corrections, drunkenness and firearms control. One of the stronger portions of the resolution had to do with police manpower problems.

NACO recognizes, the resolution said "that widespread improvement in the strength and caliber of police manpower, supported by a revision of personnel practices, is a basic essential for achieving more effective law enforcement."

It went on to urge that educational requirements for most police recruits be raised to college levels and that training programs be improved.

County and local police were also urged to improve relations with the poor, minority groups and juveniles. Pooling and consolidation of law enforcement services within counties was recommended. "To bring about more satisfactory service and protection at the lowest possible cost."

In the resolution pertaining to industrial revenue bonds, NACO urged establishment of safeguards by counties which continue the practice.

(Outagamie County recently set up an industrial development corporation which would have issued business loans at low municipal rates, but the practice was ruled illegal.)

Enactment of federal legislation was urged to provide nationwide standards in industrial aid financing.

The portion of the resolution most unacceptable to southern delegates had to do with tax competition.

Baneful Effects

"The practice of making special tax concessions to new industry," it read, "can have baneful effect on our state on local revenue system by setting in motion a self-defeating cycle of competitive tax undercutting and national discriminations among business firms

"While local governments must have latitude in charting their economic and fiscal development policies," it said, "there is a constant danger that interlocal competition for new industry will undermine the integrity of the property tax assessment process"

State and county governments were urged, instead, to deemphasize the personal property tax, especially on business inventories as "the most significant step" toward improving the business tax climate.

At the same time, another resolution stated that the personal income tax "is the only major tax with a capability to produce at an exhilerating rate as the economy grows." States without personal income taxes were urged to spark the practice and those with the system were urged to strengthen it.

On highway safety, particularly interesting to Wisconsin delegates because of the problems which have confronted Gov. Knowles' safety program, the nation's governors were urged to give strong leadership toward the development of statewide safety programs in full consultation and cooperation with local governments.

10-Year-Old Girl Hurt When Car, Bicycle Collide

WAUPACA — A 10-year-old Waupaca girl suffered minor injuries about 1 p.m. Wednesday when the bicycle she was riding collided with a car at the intersection of Mill and N. State streets.

Kim M. Kozlovsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Kozlovsky, 613 Mill St., Waupaca, was taken to Riverside Hospital where she was treated for a minor knee injury and released.

According to Waupaca police, the girl was riding west of Mill Street and turning left onto N. State Street, and the car, driven by Mrs. Lewis Schroeder, King, was traveling north on State Street and making a left turn onto Mill Street, when the two collided.

Land on Chain O' Lake Rezoned to Commercial

Location on West Shore Will be Used For Parking Lot, Boat Storage Area

WAUPACA — Rezoning of a parcel of land on the west shore of Limekiln Lake from residential to commercial was approved by the Town of Farmington board at a recent meeting.

The seven-acre site, owned by Gordon Doerfler, is across the lake from Ding's Dock, which is owned and operated by Doerfler, who said he plans to use the property for a parking lot and storage area for his boats.

George Jensen, Town Board chairman, said the board reached the decision because it is in a commercial area and is not suited for homes or cottages. Objections to the rezoning were raised by members of the Chain O' Lakes Protective Association at a recent public hearing on grounds that the lakes were over-commercialized now and any new development would only lead to further lake pollution.

A representative of the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission attended the hearing and voiced his opinion against the construction of a parking lot and storage building, but did indicate it would be a favorable location for a motel or supper club.

Because it is in a commercial area and because the preliminary zoning plans, being prepared by the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission recommend the property be commercial, the zoning change was granted. Jensen said. He added, however, that it would not be a good place for a motel since one was started nearby and it was never successful because of the noise from the surrounding area. "As for a high class supper club, the season is too short," he said

Clintonville Council Orders Estimates on Cost of Sewers

Waupaca Board Sets Meeting to Formulate Plans for High School

Land on Clark Street Chosen As Site for Proposed Building

WAUPACA — The type of high school to be built here and its completion date will be among the topics of discussion when the board of education meets tonight in special session.

At the regular meeting in July, it was decided that action on constructing a new school was to "begin at once" and tonight's meeting was scheduled to start preliminary planning.

In June the board purchased a 55-acre site, south of Clark Street on the eastern edge of the city and at that time designated the site for the high school. At the July meeting of the board, a 30-acre site at King was purchased for a future elementary school. Purchase price of the King site was $20,000.

Decisions Sought

Board president Raymond Martin said important decisions must be made in the immediate future which necessitate study, work and thought. There will be advantages and disadvantages to be discussed regardless of the course taken, he added.

First item on the agenda will be to decide what type of school should be constructed, a three- or four-year high school, a junior high or some other type school. At the present time Waupaca has a four-year high school system and when merger talks were underway with Weyauwega a three-year high school was favored.

Create Committee

The board will also discuss creating a building committee. The committee will be made up of members of the board, school administrators, faculty members, and citizens of the district. It is expected that the board will decide tonight on the size of the committee and will represent each of the groups listed.

A time schedule also will be established for the completion of the new facility, along with preliminary discussions on a bonding referendum which will be required before construction can start. The needs of the new school and also a method of determining which architect will be hired to design the building are also slated for discussion at the meeting, which will get underway at 7:30 p.m. in the board room of the high school.

Popcorn Popper Burns In Waupaca Theater

WAUPACA — Patrons at the Rosa Theater were evacuated Wednesday evening when a fire broke out in the popcorn machine in the lobby.

Waupaca firemen were called to the theater shortly before 8 p.m. The fire was brought under control and firemen used smoke ejectors to clear the building before the movie was resumed.

Taxpayers Object to Action; Land Trade Request Referred To Works Board for Study

CLINTONVILLE — Cost estimates for controversial sewer and water main installation on Seventh and Pershing streets were ordered by the city council Tuesday night.

Director of Public Works Basil Arvey will prepare the estimates for Seventh Street from Maize Street to the city limits and on Pershing Street from Seventh Street approximately 700 feet south.

The action had been recommended by the board of public works.

Ald. Ed Wanta asked for and got approval that an addition be made to the July 11 council minutes regarding two motions of his adding the words, "As recommended by the board of public works."

Motions Cover Advertising

The motions covered advertising for bids on two bridges, one in Walter A. Olen Park on Eighth Street extended to E. 12th Street and the other on E. 12th Street extending to Seventh Street, and for the sewer and water mains.

Eight of the 12 taxpayers involved in the utilities construction signed a petition objecting to the July 11 action of the council to advertise for bids for sewer and water mains.

A request of Carl Sengstock regarding Fairway Lakes Estate on the north side west of N. Twelfth Street proposing an even exchange of land with the city was referred for study to the board of public works.

Sengstock wants to exchange a lot with 33 feet of frontage on N. 12th Street, running back 330 feet, which would be an intended street named Sunset Drive, for city-owned land to the north.

Equal in Footage

Sengstock's present parcel is about equal in square feet to the city land, according to a city official, and leaves a strip for sewer easement.

The recreation committee discussed its need for a full-time "working" foreman, citing the fact that the city now has about 96 acres of parks, with sufficient work for a man through the entire year.

The park board was granted permission to advertise for a full-time foreman and to bring a recommendation back to the council.

—Learned the new rescue unit is expected to be delivered about Aug. 15.

Refers Hiring

—Referred the matter of hiring a person or firm to try to recover additional amounts of income taxes for the city to the finance committee with power to act.

—Referred the question of a peddler ordinance, raised by the Association of Commerce, to the ordinance committee for recommendation.

—Confirmed appointment of Mrs. George Zachow by the mayor to the library board to replace Mrs. W. H. Finney, who recently resigned.

—Accepted the resignation of Lester Kasson as milk inspector effective Sept. 1. Kasson served the city for 25 years and will be sent a letter of appreciation.

—Approved tavern operator licenses for Kenneth Wege, James Gretzinger, James Eggleston and Marie List, who live in the city, and for Dorothy Hoffman, route 3, and Dela Krause, route 2.

Clintonville School Tax May Go Up $2

City's Share of Budget Is Up $66,753 Over Last Year's Levy

CLINTONVILLE — Councilmen were told by Mayor Frank Sinkewicz Tuesday night that the city's portion of the tax levy for Clintonville Joint School District No. One for 1967-68 would require an increase of approximately $2 per $1,000 in the tax rate.

Of the district's total levy of $835,388, the city's share is $531,989 — up $66,753 from the 1966-67 budget.

In order to realize this additional $66,000, Sinkewicz said that assuming the city's economy was stable, $1 increase would provide $26,000 and $2 would provide $52,000, using last year's assessed valuation.

Previous Value

The assessed valuation a year ago was about $26 million for the city and Lloyd Eggleston, city clerk, said as it now stands, the city's increase in valuation is $600,000. The assessed valuation is the valuation on which the city determines its levy.

Mayor Sinkewicz remarked that education is an important element of our community and we elect school board officials, who are competent, and they, in turn, establish a good school budget.

Jori Humke Recalls Year's Stay

Chilton Girl Back from Switzerland

BY ALICE CONNORS
Post-Crescent Correspondent

CHILTON — Jori Humke will have an advantage when she studies in her intended major of German during her coming freshman year at Ripon College late this month

The 18-year-old daughter of Dr and Mrs Everett Humke, 69 E Brooklyn St, returned Saturday from nearly a year's stay in Switzerland

She can be excused if her English shows a trace of German influence, since she spoke a Swiss dialect of the German language while living in Wetzikon, Switzerland, a community of approximately 13,000 about 26 miles from Zurlich.

She lived with Mr. and Mrs. Vati Kuster, who have two daughters, Hildegarde, 18, who was visiting in California as an exchange student, and Edith, 16.

Kuster works as a specialized mechanic in a bus and truck factory, one of the major industries of Wetzikon, while his wife is a part-time proofreader for the local newspaper.

The principal language of the town is a Swiss-German, which Jori says she had "quite a time" learning. By Christmas, however, she was talking quite fluently and since has acquired a High German manner of speaking.

Schools Not Similar

School in Wetzikon is unlike school in Chilton, Jori said, since the teaching staff at the Wetzikon school is doctors and professors.

School lasted from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. in summer and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in winter, with a two-hour lunch period and a short coffee break in the morning.

Jori only lived about one kilometer (.62) miles) from school and bicycled home during the noon hour. Most students use this means of transportation, but those coming a distance travel by train, the principal source of transportation in Switzerland.

Students are able to choose the school they want to attend, Jori said, contrasting this with the American arrangement of school districts. Students usually have made definite plans by the time they are 11, and their intended vocation helps them decide which school will best suit them.

Because of the long hours and number of subjects taken during the school term — sometime as many as 16 — school was "very hard. But students really enjoy studying, because to them it is a great privilege to be able to go to school," Lori explained.

While in the Wetzikon, Ellenruth Siebenschuh, an exchange student to Chilton two years ago, visited with Jori. Miss Siebenschuh stayed with the Humkes during her visit here.

Jori purchased souvenirs to show her family when she returned, among them the traditional cowbells, linen articles and chocolate. She values highly a picture post-card collection.

"It was both the hardest and rewarding year in my life thus far," Jori reminisces, "I have learned so much in one year, both about people and their customs. It is an experience I will not forget".

For Heavier Runway

Committee May Ask Board for $70,000 More in Port Funds

The executive committee of the Outagamie County Board indicated Wednesday morning favor of allocating an additional $70,000 funds to increase the thickness of concrete on the new crosswind runway now under construction at the Outagamie County Airport.

The committee heard a report by airport committeeman John Dietz, in which he noted that the original specifications for the runway called for 9 inches on concrete in "critical" areas and 7 inches in "non-critical" zones.

New recommendations by the FAA were published in May and received by state officials last week. They call for 10 inches of concrete in critical areas and 8 in non-critical.

Cost More Later

Revamping of airport specifications at this time to add the extra concrete would cost about $70,000, including construction and engineering costs.

The airport committee recommends the authorization for this work at this time on the basis that it would cost four to five times more to do the work at a later date, and conditions point to the fact that it will have to be done when the runway is extended at a later date.

Dietz pointed out that the runway (presently scheduled for 5,200 feet) is expected to be lengthened to 7,500 feet and at that time will attract larger aircraft that will require the support of the thicker runway.

Kaukauna Supv. Russell DeLaHunt commented, "We're building a port for planes that aren't here. When they are here they will serve industry that is not here now. Why not let that industry pay for it?"

Port Competition

Dietz again pointed out the additional cost of such delay and the fact that the Outagamie port must compete with ports in Winnebago and Brown Counties. He noted that the Oshkosh facility was already going ahead with the 10-inch concrete runway and that to keep up, Outagamie must do the same or suffer the loss.

A poll of executive committee members indicated favor of moving ahead on the action and instructed airport committee members to draw up a resolution to the effect to be presented to Tuesday's county board meeting.

A discussion of where the funds would come from noted several possible sources and the finance committee was suggested as the group to work out details.

Car Strikes Horses; Riders Hurt Slightly

Mishap Occurs on Town Road Bridge Near Black Creek

Two teen-age girls escaped with minor bumps and bruises when the horses they were riding were struck by a car on a bridge two miles northwest of Black Creek on State Road about 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Injured were Lorna Thede, 16, Manitowoc, and Shirley Hauser, 19, route 1, Black Creek. Driver of the car which struck the horses was Duane D. Wussow, 34, route 1, Black Creek, who said he got to the middle of the bridge before he saw the horses and "there was no place to go."

Wussow avoided hitting a third horse ridden by Margaret Suprise, 20, route 1, Black Creek. Outagamie County police said the front of Wussow's car was extensively damaged. Police believe at least one of the two horses would have to be destroyed.

William A. Madson, 18, route 3, Kaukauna, suffered an arm injury when his car went into a ditch, then rolled over into a field at States 54 and 55, 2 miles east of Seymour, Tuesday night. Madson told county police he was northbound on 55 and did not see a stop sign at the intersection.

Freedom Bar Operator Guilty of Two Charges

Robert Ludwig Fined Total of $200; Two Other Counts Dismissed by Request

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer, in a surprise move late this morning, moved to dismiss two tavern counts against Robert Ludwig, agent for Ludwig Lanes, Inc., at Freedom.

Ludwig, 38, of route 1, Kaukauna, was found guilty on two other counts and was fined a total of $200 and costs by acting Outagamie County Judge David H. Sebora of Calumet County.

Schaefer, at the start of the second day of the 12-member jury trial, asked for dismissal of charges of furnishing beer to five minors and failing to properly display his retail beer license.

Schaefer, in explaining his actions, said he had decided Wednesday to subpoena 15 more witnesses — all youths allegedly in Ludwig's at the time of a "raid" Jan. 27, but later learned that it would not be possible to continue with trial Friday.

Conflict in Schedule

Judge Sebora had indicated that should the trial run beyond today, it would conflict with his Calumet court schedule, and he would have to continue the trial to Aug. 16, when testimony would be renewed. Indications were that the trial would run for several more days, since Schaefer still had at least 30 more state's witnesses and John Esler, Ludwig's attorney, told the court he would call 10 or 12 defense witnesses.

Schaefer said that should there be a delay to Aug. 16, the state's testimony would have been "forgotten" and the defense would be able to come in with "fresh testimony" and that would be the testimony "the jury would remember."

Schaefer had originally intended to subpoena 18 youths who were in the tavern during the raid; then decided to call 15 more.

'No Contest'

Esler entered no contest pleas for Ludwig on charges of allowing minors to loiter in the Freedom tavern, and failing to display an identification registration book. Judge Sebora found Ludwig guilty and fined him $160 on the first count and $40 on the second. Court costs, which Ludwig must pay, are expected to run high.

Before Judge Sebora imposed the fines, Schaefer said that Robert Ludwig had three prior convictions on tavern law violations. The latest charges against Ludwig were brought following a "raid" by state beverage agents and county police shortly before midnight Jan. 27.

Most of the testimony Wednesday afternoon came from the four state agents who made the investigation.

Agents Testify

They were Robert Seeman of Wausau, a field supervisor, and investigators John Schulz, Richard Breed, and Russell Nikolai, each of whom, at the request of Schaefer and over the objections of Esler, supplied the names of some 30 minors — ages 15-17 — agents said were in the building.

Schulz testified that he was in Ludwig's about an hour and a half before the "raid," and at that time observed "what appeared to be" a number of minors in the bar. Schulz said he ordered a large bottle of beer and left after 10 minutes.

He then conferred with other agents, after which county authorities were notified and it was decided to assemble as soon as possible.

Breed said that after authorities arrived at Ludwig's, he heard some youths shout, "it's a raid," then saw two youths dive under a pinball machine. He said he dove after them and caught one, but the second youth got away.

Identified Himself

Seeman, in explaining the procedure used, testified that immediately upon entering the tavern, he identified himself and said an "age check" would be made.

He testified that youths under the age of 18 were asked for names, ages, and addresses, then were ordered to the sheriff's department next day with their parents. The four agents interviewed the youths and obtained statements Jan. 28.

On a question by Esler, Seeman said that his men made the investigation at Ludwig's after having received "several complaints." He did not say who filed the complaints.

Seeman testified that when he identified himself the night of Jan. 27, he was told that "Joe Ludwig was the man in charge."

The only testimony from youths allegedly in the tavern Jan. 27 came from Ardyce Kamke, who said late Wednesday that she had to pay 50 cents to get into the barroom portion of Ludwig's. She said she turned 18 years old Feb. 2. Miss Kamke is from route 1, Kaukauna.

Seven Witnesses

Seven witnesses were heard Wednesday morning, including Sheriff Norbert Marx, Undersheriff Calvin L. Spice, Lt. Investigator Jack Zuelzke, investigators Joseph W. Vanden Oever, and George Hanlon, Patrolman Richard Rohm, and George H. Schroeder, chairman of the Town of Freedom.

The county officers said they and the state agents arrived at Ludwig's about 11:55 p.m. Jan. 27, after meeting at State 55 and County Trunk UU, a mile away.

Police said the building was crowded — VandenOever estimated there were between 150 and 200 persons. He said a band was playing.

Marx told of how authorities were "stationed" at various points in the building, to prevent those present from getting out or others from getting into the tavern.

Esler asked Marx why there was a "mass invasion" of Ludwig's by authorities on Jan. 27, and Marx replied that the investigation was made after consultation with state authorities.

Each policeman told of his particular duties while the investigation was going on at Ludwig's.

Schroeder testified that the Town of Freedom had issued Ludwig's a license, and that the license was valid at the time of the alleged offenses.

Incident Occurred During Vandalism At Rural Home

A route 1 Seymour man will be arraigned in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Friday afternoon on a felony charge brought after a rural West De Pere youth was seriously wounded in a shooting incident early the morning of June 26.

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer said that Gerald M. Nagel, 24, has been charged with causing injury by negligent use of a weapon.

Nagel allegedly fired a shot from a .22 caliber rifle that struck Robert Manders, 17, route 2, West DePere, in the abdomen after three youths reportedly were causing vandalism in front of his home about 1:30 a.m.

Manders, who was struck by the bullet as he was getting into a car, was taken to a Green Bay Hospital where he remained for some time.

Two Green Bay men, a few days after the shooting-vandalism incident, were fined $100 and costs each on a charge of prpcuring beer for minors. One of them also was fined an additional $100 for causing criminal damage to property at the Nagel home.

Away From Integration

It just may be that American encouragement of complete integration of white and Negro citizens may have come too late.

It seems ironic that the more progress that is made for Negroes in the United States, the more demands are made and the more violent the demands become. But this has been the history of revolutionary movements, even when they are not coordinated and controlled. In some ways American Negroes, struggling for equal housing, education and employment opportunities are like people in the newly independent and underdeveloped nations of Asia and Africa. As they become aware of what is available to others and the possibilities of having it themselves, they become more violent in their efforts to get it.

Despite the advances, the situations in Negro ghettos of the large cities where most of the summer's riots have occurred are desperate. As Senator Robert Kennedy points out, only 43 per cent of adult Negro men in a typical ghetto have full time employment which pays more than $60 a week and only a bare majority are employed at all. The census figures are not accurate because so many male Negroes have no fixed address. And this of course contributes to the instability of the family which some sociologists have conceded influences the frustration and anger which leads to the violence.

The more radical leaders of Negroes are not the slightest bit interested in sharing the white man's world or so they say. They speak of "black power," or shooting down "whitey," of destroying white property. They want political and economic power but not as part of an integrated society. And certainly the riots have tended to go in this separatist direction. As violence increases, the opposition hardens, retaliation grows and the resulting oppression creates new hatreds and explosions.

Discrimination in the past against newly arrived Irish immigrants, the Germans in World War I, the Japanese in World War II did not have this history of violence which has accompanied the seeking of equality for the Negro. It is in part a matter of the color of skin. But, except among fanatics or for fun, there never was any talk of Irish or Norwegian or Italian control of the country. The reaction was almost the exact opposite; efforts by Italians not to be associated with the underground Mafia, German antagonism toward the Bund, massive Japanese-American enlistment in the armed forces. Integration, even of different religious denominations, has now become accepted among the great majority of Americans.

It may be that the deep white opposition to integration with Negroes is a major cause of the current violence. But this cannot be entirely the fault of American whites. The failure of many Negroes to overcome their handicaps has had something to do with the continuation of the ghettos.

There has been no real evidence that the Negro violence is a Communist plot despite some speculation on this point. Rather it appears that it is easy for white Americans to blame almost all their troubles upon a Red conspiracy without bothering to find out whether any such thing exists. But certainly it does seem likely that in the explosive situations of the ghettos, the spark of an agitator, homegrown or imported, is enough to set things aflame. The rebellious Negro youths, with apparently nothing to lose or so they think, are the tinder. Uncontrolled at home, uninspired in school, frustrated or led to believe that they are discriminated against; for them the violence is an outlet and something to do on the idle summer nights.

The Milwaukee curfew and sealing off of the city was a sound and effective move to stop the violence. But American cities cannot exist in a state of perpetual seige. The solutions must be found to enable the American Negro to grow up with hope and not despair in an integrated society or a segregated one of his own making.

Whitney Young, executive director of the National Urban League and a long time civil rights leader, warns that the "separatist self-segregation" only "breeds more segregation." And "whether imposed from the outside or sought from within, segregation leads to disadvantage in competing for the rewards of society." We concur.

But the urban violence indicates at least considerable Negro adherence to the more radical ideas of black power and separatism. In the long run it appears that the Negro community itself must determine whether it seeks true integration or a separatist society which is likely to be always on the brink of violence and revolution.

American Policy and Red China

Representative Clement Zablocki, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on Asian and Pacific affairs, told the Eagles Club convention that the United States should continue to make efforts to get in touch with the Chinese leaders in Peking and to make plans for the eventual entry of Red China into the United Nations. The congressman is quite right. The problem is to find a way.

Right now, when reportedly Mao Tse-tung is being confronted once more with serious rebellion and this time among army troops, there is little possibility of any contact. One of Mao's major policies is to encourage hatred of the United States and continue to charge us with colonialism with our involvement in Vietnam as the main evidence. The rampaging Red Guard is fanatical in its violence against the United States and anything, even haircuts, which seem to reflect Western ideas or culture. Nor is there any sign so far that Mao will not continue to be faced with opposition for some months ahead.

But even if the Red Chinese leaders were eager to get into the United Nations and restore diplomatic relations with the United States, the road would be a tough one. The United States has taken a rigid stand toward Peking, first attempting to punish it by nonrecognition, a foolish effort, then trying to act as if it were not there. If the government of Chiang Kai-shek had been lily pure, there might have been some reason for this attitude. But a big reason why the Communists won that civil war was the corruption of the Nationalist regime and its failure to find solutions to the serious grievances of the Chinese people. This does not mean, however, that the Communists are any less corrupt or more successful in alleviating misery.

As our troubles increase around the world, at least some Americans, but not notably the leadership in Washington, are coming to realize that we cannot dictate to other countries what sort of governments they should have. In our opposition to communism, we have actually elevated its appeal to some people and its threat of managing to hold together despite the fragmenting influence of nationalism and the failures of communism to match the progress in capitalistic countries. What started out as a sincere desire to protect other peoples from outside aggression and the seizing of power by totalitarians, has turned to rigid lines particularly in Asia. There has been no sign of leadership toward re-establishing normal relations with China from the Department of State.

Nor does there seem to be a plan for the future. What will Washington do, for instance, if Philippine President Marcos is persuaded, not merely to send no more troops to Vietnam, but to insist that some military bases in the Philippines be closed? Will we blame it all on the Communist Huks whose increase in influence has come about because of failures of the Philippine government to meet the needs of the people despite some valiant efforts?

Congressman Zablocki pointed out that by making efforts to contact the Red Chinese, "we give the lie to those who claim that Peking's hostility is simply a reflection of American hatred." Unfortunately a lot of hostility around the world has developed because of American intransigence toward governments and leaders on whom we have not stamped our approval.

Germans Like Their Lager Beer

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Aug. 31, 1867.

A great deal has been said in this city, as well as elsewhere, about the enormities of the liquor traffic, and the evil results consequent to the use of intoxicating liquors, and many honest and well meaning people actually think that the remedy consists in refusing to grant licenses to sell liquor, and in the speedy enactment of a prohibitory law.

Now theories are all very well, but facts often upset the most plausible theories.

Look at the population of the county (Outagamie) and the State, for that matter, more than a third of it of German birth or parentage.

Beer is essential to them in their opinion, as coffee and tea is to the American of English or Irish descent. Legislation under these circumstances will fail to convince them of its injurious effects.

They know that the appetite for tea or coffee is no more natural than the appetite for more intoxicating fluids. They regard any attempt to deprive them of their lager beer as a beverage exactly as the great mass of native-born Americans would feel if legislation or organized effort were made to deprive them of or prevent by force their drinking of tea and coffee.

They do not believe that beer is injurious, and legislation will not change that belief.

Nor are Germans alone in this belief. A large portion of other nationalities in our midst think as they do on the subject. Hence the futility of prohibitory legislation with the sense of the people so manifestly against it.

The only safety, in this view, lies in the field of a licensing system with all the restraints on dealers that careful observation and experience may dictate.

25 YEARS AGO
Thursday, July 30, 1942.

New officers of the Little Women's Circle of King's Daughters were Miss Roseann Gmeiner, president; Miss Helen Moder, vice president; Miss Gloria Enger, secretary, and Miss Sally Schoefer, treasurer.

Jack Falcus was named chairman of a new committee of the Appleton Jaycees which was studying the possibility of staging community farewells for draftees leaving Appleton for the Army.

S. N. Pickard was general chairman of the Neenah citizens' committee making plans for the AAU women's swimming and diving championships in mid-August in the city's new municipal pool. Working with Mr. Pickard as chairmen of the various activities were Ole Jorgensen, Paul Stacker, Mrs. L. O. Cooke, M. E. Palmer, Jack Zima, Son Colburn, Arthur Schultz, George Pyott and Walter Werner.

10 YEARS AGO
Thursday, Aug. 1, 1957.

Three Appleton postal drivers were honored by the National Safety Council and the United States Postal Department for more than 20 years of safe driving. Acting Postmaster Francis Sumnicht presented pins to William Schulze for his 27-year record of driving without an accident; Chester Riesenweber for his 23-year record, and Alvin Schneider for 21 consecutive years of safe driving.

Miss Barbara Siegel, Appleton, won a scholarship to Valparaiso University in Indiana. Miss Siegel planned to major in mathematics.

Two Appleton members of the Rainbow Division were to take part in the official dedication of a new city park in Oshkosh. They were A. W. Pingel and Erwin Hantschel. The park was named in honor of the Rainbow Division, national organization of World Wars I and II, and the two men were to carry the official battle flag signifying the engagements in which the 42nd Division participated.

MAGNIFYING GLASSES

Politics Has Red Tinge

Greece Called Nation Embroiled In Past, Unadjusted to Future

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

ATHENS — Constantine II, the King of Greece, 27, on the throne here a scant three years, has aged perceptible since I last saw him. So has his mother, dowager Queen Frederika, an important and controversial figure in Greek politics.

The problems of this hard-pressed son of a gentle Danish father and a German mother do not arise because he is not a Greek. Modern Greece has never had a king who was Greek.

Today's monarchy was not established until 1833, when the Turks were driven out and Greece heroically achieved independence in 1821 from the sultan's Ottoman empire after 400 years in its bondage.

The longest ruler was Prince William George, the son of Denmark's King Christian IX, who ruled as George I for 50 years until deposed by an assassin's bullet. George II, in turn, was in exile 11 years before returning here — temporarily.

Was Mouse-Trapped

Pro-American young Constantine was mouse-trapped in the April 21 coup of the military officers' triumvirate, and the attractive monarch made no bones about his distaste for the putsch. Now he is caught between the new government of Col. George Papadopoulos, ousted Premier Stephnos Stephanopoulos and, by my own count, at least five other rivals with names as hard to spell, pronounce or remember as an off-brand Japanese radio.

Each wants to serve as premier, and at one time or another most of them have. And all show the inveterate Greek temptation of exploiting a national crisis to become a great historical figure.

Thus the uneasy penumbra of Papadopoulos' role makes forecasting his future as easy a project as going into a refrigerator to see if the light has gone out.

Plum for Communists

Scarcely realized in our country, the Communist countries of Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria completely abut Greece's entire northern frontier. She dangles like a plum under them.

The blocking of Greek internal Communist factions, especially within the army, where the Moscow tie-in is undeniable, had a part in the April 21 putsch. The roots of the Communist party go back to World War II days and the bloody postwar years when Communists dominated the KKE branch of the so-called National Liberation Front. They have never laid down their arms and have further disrupted this country in the Cyprus dispute (which remains unsettled) with Turkey. Their whispered word, "Opla," is still the whisper of assassination here.

As the Greek saying goes, the Papadopoulos triumvirate knows where the devil keeps his tail. But beyond the Moscow-engineered threat, the shaping forces in the army in the April 21 putsch were domestic.

The new government is neither a bad nor a good government — by Greek standards. We are the ones who seem to be defining it, a thankless insistence that is not helping the United States relations at all. Once more we meddle, but we do not mend.

This Washington characteristic had a further setback during the Israel-Arab imbroglio in which the Greeks viewed the U.S. and the Soviet Union and saw what classic Greek called "the importance of the mighty ones."

Unadjusted to Future

Greece is a country embroiled with its past and not yet adjusted to its future. Tragically. Greeks have been hurting each other since Balkan history began, and the leftover sight of the German Wehrmacht's indestructible contributions to European architecture — notably pillboxes — serves to remind you that this lovely land has been occupied by various foreign aggressors for 2,000 years.

Like many other ancient places, this chunk of time has gone adrift here, once you get out of the capital. It is a serious mistake to stay in Athens and judge Greece. The true Greece is in the hinterlands. There, time is still measured by most peasants in donkey-hours of travel, the years scored only by the ruins and each year's weather.

There you encounter neither anti-Americanism nor any intense interest in the Athens government. Instead, you find that the word for a friendly American translates as "guest" and you encounter at once the peasants' simple delight in doing anyone a service.

After battling your way through the pressure-cooker politics of Athens, the change descends on you just as, in the myth, Zeus descended upon Danae in a shower of gold.

Wisconsin Report

New Presidential Primary May Curb Cross-Over Voting

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The novel option provided in the new Wisconsin presidential primary law for a "no" vote in both party columns is misunderstood in some quarters and probably needs amplification.

Wyngaard

It has been hinted that the Republicans in the legislature contrived that provision, a novelty in ballot preparation, out of a desire to embarrass President Lyndon Johnson, who may conceivably be the only Democratic candidate listed on the preference ballot in this state next spring. Thus there could be a kind of plebiscite on his conduct of the Vietnam war, it has been suggested, or on any other issue associated with the administration that may be troubling the electorate when the voting takes place.

The truth is that the provision was not inspired by partisan interests. It was suggested by a wholly independent student of election administration and has the purpose of providing the broadest possible and practicable choice for the voter in the next presidential preference election. The truth is also that it was unanimously approved by the bipartisan study commission which drafted the revision. It had no objections from leading Democrats who surely would have protested if they suspected opposition skullduggery.

THEOBALD MADE SUGGESTION

It was Rupert Theobald of the Legislative Reference Bureau, a man trusted and admired by partisans of both faiths, who suggested the idea.

The rationale covered several considerations.

First, there remains the possibility that one ballot or the other will contain no name of a legitimate presidential nomination candidate. President Johnson, for example, cannot be forced to have his name on next spring's Wisconsin ballot. He could file a disclaimer, in spite of his prospective candidacy, as long as he has not acknowledged that he is seeking another nomination. No other bona fide Democratic candidate might be agreed upon by the state commission which will be charged with preparing the ballot.

In such a situation, the Democratic Party should have the right to elect an uninstructed delegation to the convention. This would be the effect of a majority nay vote, either against a minor candidate or against the President himself, although such a contingency is not easily visualized.

The same rule would apply to the Republican side of the ballot. There are likely to be several candidates listed there. But it is possible, at least theoretically, that a majority of Republican voters won't respond to them, and prefer to vote nay. This would provide the Republican Party of Wisconsin with an uninstructed national convention delegation, free to make its own choice at the scene, according to its own taste and judgment.

CHOICE OF BALLOTS

There is another and possibly more important consideration in the "no" option that may not be immediately apparent. The primary election is "open," which means that voters can choose the ballot that appeals to them at the moment, without regard to their actual affiliation or likely decision in a final election.

That situation has bred the "cross-over" problem, which has embarrassed, worried and probably damaged both party interests in the state in the past. Republicans were frustrated by the problem in the primaries of the 1950's. Democrats struggled with it in 1964, when thousands of Republicans obviously entered the Democratic column, having no contest on their own ballot, to heckle President Johnson with a vote for the intransigent George Wallace.

Given a chance to vote "no" on their own side of the ballot, Democrats won't be as inclined to invade the Republican primary. As it happens, Republicans are likely to stay on their own side of the ballot next year, with the contests promised there, but the same "no" option may dissuade them from crossing over another time.

Students of politics know that absentee voters are not always apathetic and that indifference is not wholly a matter of ignorance. Some voters don't like what is offered them. The new law provides a unique avenue for registering a protest.

Israel and Vietnam Prove an Old Adage

Romney's War Chest Suffers From Hard Luck

May Become Candidate for President With Statement in September or October

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — On top of all his other political miseries, Governor George Romney of Michigan now faces a severe money crisis in his just-begun drive for the Republican presidential nomination

It has not by any means reached the stage where "Romney Associates," the cover name for the Romney-for-President organization, can't pay their bills But Romney s money raisers have fallen far behind their ambitious schedule And with Romney Associates maintaining high salaries, of mid-campaign proportions in both Lansing and Washington that spells real trouble ahead

Ironically, when the Romney presidential effort began last

Novak

Evans

November fund raising seemed the last thing to worry about On hand were this all-star trio of money-raisers

Detroit millionaire Max Fisher, a major fund-raiser for the United Jewish Appeal (UJA) with money sources not only in the Jewish community but in the oil industry, as well, restaurant-hotel magnate J Willard Marriott, of Washington expected to hit his fellow Mormons as well as other businessmen Washington financier J Clifford Folger, who as Richard M Nixon's former chief fund-raiser is thoroughly familiar with the conventional sources of Republican campaign money

Hard Luck, Illness

But that all-star trio has been plagued with some failures and a lot of bad luck Folger simply hasn t brough in the money expected of him Marriott was struck by serious illness and is out of the campaign indefinitely Because of the six day Middle East war, the UJA called on Fisher to touch his sources for emergency Israeli fund-raising—the same sources who might have been giving to Romney

Normally, Romney might be able to recoup from these money setbacks through Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York, who has personally contributed millions to his own and other Republican campaigns But believing that the party should no longer be propped up by the Rockefeller fortune, the governor has chosen this particular time to drastically curtail political contributions That means Romney has Rockefeller's unequivocal endorsement but little of his money

Scranton Help Sought

Yet for all of this ill fortune, the Romney fund-raising operation would be in no great difficulty if his presidential prospects and polls were nearly as high as last November Fund-raising is often a good barometer of a candidate's progress, as shown by one recent backstage incident

Len Hall, Romney s campaign manager, explained the diminishing state of his war chest to former Gov William Scranton of Pennsylvania and asked for his help in raising some money Scranton readily agreed But despite Scranton's immense prestige inside the wealthy Eastern establishment, his first fund-raising efforts were less than successful

This is a clear signal from the fuxnd-raising barometer that Romney's year-long plunge has not yet hit bottom Fearful that Romney will not survive New Hampshire's presidential primary against Nixon next March, Republican money sources who want a moderate nominated falter at pouring money into a losing cause

But There is Hope

What they cannot see are some behind-the-scenes reasons for hope in the Romney organization The lack of coordination and occasional enmity between the Lansing and Washington offices of Romney Associates may be coming to an end Lansing's Walter Devries, long a Romney aide and idea man, held a long and productive session with Washington's Len Hall in Washington last week There will be more such meetings

More important, with his tax program now enacted, Romney will be spending less time as governor of Michigan and more as presidential candidate in the month ahead He has confided to visitors to his summer residence at Mackinac Island that he may well become an avowed candidate in September or October—an extraordinarily early announcement date

That would enable him to make his scheduled trip to Europe in October with somewhat elevated status Presumably, it also would impel him to spend more time preparing for delivery of speeches rather than just reading them cold (something his political advisers have been pleading with him to do)

But nobody expects an early announcement of candidacy in itself to restore the vital momentum Romney lost earlier this year And until something does restore that momentum, Romney's war chest is bound to remain perilously low

Counties Share Problems

NACO Seminar Speakers Emphasize COG Concept

DETROIT — Representatives of Outagamie and Brown Counties here for the annual conference of the National Association of Counties (NACO) have found themselves in a comforting situation.

They've learned by listening to speeches, attending special seminars and talking to other convention delegates that counties from North Carolina, California, Minnesota, Kansas or Hawaii are having the same problems with federal aid, urbanization, planning and taxation.

COG Emphasis

In addition, Fox Valley area dlegates who include Executive Secretary Alvin Woehler and Supvs. Joseph DeBruin and Sylvester Lenz from Outagamie County and Board Chairman Myron Lotto from Brown County, have been confronted with extremely forward-looking and farsighted approaches to their problems.

Most delegates, including those from the Valley, have been surprised by the emphasis placed by seminar speakers on the advantages of the Council of Government (COG) concept.

Advantages, stressed by speakers, are greater efficiency and professionalism in county government and more economical operation.

Lotto was especially impressed with a Tuesday seminar dealing with regional councils of government and the position of a federal and state aid coordinator on the county level.

Dealing with the COG theory, Walter A. Scheiber, executive director of the Metropolitan Washington (D.C.) Council of Governments, pointed out how people "go from cities to towns to villages without realizing they have crossed governmental boundaries.

Problems The Same

"Problems, too," he stated, "are the same despite the prescence of local polical boundaries."

Addressing himself to representatives of counties and small municipalities, Scheiber admonished them that they "rarely have problems which don't affect tour neighbor."

And speaking about a fear which is prevalent in conservative areas throughout the country, he stated that Councils of Government are not "super" or "metro" governments.

"They are voluntary associations," he said, "which do not replace local governmental units. And, unlike special districts and authorities, they can deal with any problem or function."

COG is a relatively new government concept, the first having been formed in the Detroit area in 1954. Today, there are slightly more than 100 in existence throughout the country, including the Fox Valley Council of Governments in the Fox Cities area.

Interested in Valley

Richard C. Hartman, director of NACO's National Service to Regional Councils, commented privately that he is especially interested in the Fox Valley COG.

"I'm especially interested in seeing how the Fox Valley Council of Governments develops," Hartman said, "because we haven't had much experience in areas with populations of between 100,000 and 150,000 people."

Hartman, who said he has had a lot of correspondence with Eugene Franchett, executive director of the Fox Valley COG, said the fledgling council "holds promise because there's not as many governments which should allow them to get ahead of their problems faster.

"Your area is somewhat unique for that reason," he said, "and it's hopeful when city, town and village elected leaders can get together on that level.

"Your problems are regional," Hartman stated, "and solutions can be found only when local governmental agencies act in concert."

Earlier in the day, while addressing the same seminar which Scheiber faced, Hartman pointed out that COG is "one of the first areas in which NACO, the National League of Cities and the National Council of Mayors have been in total agreement.

"There is a great potential of strength in local government when city and county resources are pooled. Together, they have more know-how and professionalism than there is on the federal level."

'Archaic Laws'

Hartman and other speakers made reference to the advantages of the council of government scheme in states where archaic laws act as a hindrance to county government modernization.

These units act as agencies which can retain professional technicians in various fields and then provide the services to member municipalities either on a contractural basis, or by charges if operating budgets are too low.

"Not only that," Hartman said, "but the council of government is a vehicle for obtaining federal aids which might otherwise be unavailable to individual municipalities."

On the subject of federal aids, many speakers urged larger metropolitan counties to consider the creation of the position of federal-state aid coordinator on the county level.

Michael Mathis, assistant state's attorney from Peoria, Ill., explained the thinking when he said there are 502 separate types of federal grants to state and local government.

"Somebody has to attempt to keep up with these programs," he said. "I don't say we should grub for money, but we all should at least be aware of available federal programs which meet our needs.

"A coordinator's salary," Mathis said, "can be made up many times by the federal aids he helps obtain."

Weight Loss Subsidy Would be Benefit to All

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Should the government pay fat people to lose weight?

Why not?

At first glance the proposal may sound ridiculous, but if all factors are considered, it makes at least as much sense as many other government support programs.

If Uncle Sam is willing to pay a farmer an allotment to reduce his acreage under cultivation, why shouldn't he be equally willing to hand a little cash to tubby city dwellers as an incentive to hold down their production of fat?

All Would Profit

Such a program is fundamentally sound because all concerned would profit, including the government itself.

How? Well, let's see.

Let us first examine a typical fatty case today, Sam Slugg, a middle-aged breadwinner with a wife and two kids, a $12,000 annual income, and 40 pounds of excess body weight.

"Sam," his doctor warns him, "you've got to take off those 40 pounds or you're going to die 10 years early. It's as simple as that."

"Okay," says Sam, whose conscience already has been bothering him because he knows that fat is unpatriotic and un-American. "I'll go on a diet."

He does go on a diet, and begins to count his calories like a miser. He even joins a gym club to get more exercise. The first few pounds evaporate like morning dew under a hot sun.

Then Sam runs into a few hard facts that every dieter learns:

That losing weight is hard, lonely, grueling work.

That it can be very expensive. For some reason which a layman can never understand, diet foods from which salt and sugar have been removed cost more than ordinary foods to which salt and sugar have been added. And steak, of course, which is featured on many diets, costs more than spaghetti.

Lack of Reward

In time, discourage by hunger pangs and the lack of any evident reward, Sam relapses into his old pattern.

"To heck with diets," he says, reaching for the mashed potatoes and gravy."

Just as the doctor promised, Sam dies 10 years early, and soon his family is on government relief.

Ah, but what a different end to the story if an alert government, wise to the true financial situation, should enter the picture.

An agent from the U.S. Internal Revenue Service phones Sam:

"Sam, your doctor tells us you've got to drop 40 pounds or you'll be off our tax rolls 10 years early. We don't want that to happen because in 10 years we figure to collect maybe $30,000 from you.

"So here's our deal. We'll give you a $1,000 cash bonus the day you can show us you've lost those 40 pounds, and we'll pay you $100 a month in cash for every month that you stay at that level.

"It's a game in which neither of us can lose, Sam. You make money, and so do we. A dead taxpayer is no good to us at all."

Well, what live taxpayer wouldn't jump at the chance to get something back from the government? Who wouldn't take off weight if he was paid to do it?

Sam quickly fasts away the 40 pounds and has so much energy he doubles his salary, which makes the tax people as happy as it does him.

It's surprising the professional politicians haven't already put into effect this program of being paid as you lose weight for fatties.

Milwaukee Policemen Check the sights on their high powered rifles as they take anti-sniper positions on the top of the buildings being used as command post headquarters in the city's disturbed inner core Wednesday night. The command post had been sniped at Tuesday night, but things were quieter Wednesday as the curfew seemed to clamp a tight lid on the city after racial disturbances broke out Sunday night. Police Keep Humors

'No Place for a Grouch'

BY KEN HARTNETT

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A sharpshooter sat on the roof of the police command post Wednesday night and shouted down an order: "Hey, send us up something to drink. We're getting thirsty."

A fellow policeman looked up. "What would you like? A case of Andeker?"

"Just what you're drinking," came the answer.

The officer below held a soft drink in his hand. "Wait a minute," he said, "I'll get a long straw."

Across the street, a Brink's truck being used for antisniper duty, stood by a curb. Someone had scrawled, "Soul" along the side.

"You got to stay in a light mood," a policeman said. "Otherwise, you'd crack. This is no place for a grouch."

Reporters seemed as relaxed as the police, although the police apparently didn't think so.

People Didn't Care'

Milwaukee Vandalism Shows No Basic Plan

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Residents and businessmen of a north side Negro neighborhood ravaged by rioting and vandalism this week say they see little pattern in the outbreak. Some remarked the property isn't worth protecting anyway.

A Negro clergyman, pointing to damage to the front of a store he had made into a church, said the situation "is like that broken glass. There's no real pattern to it, no real design."

A church deacon, boarding up a broken window, said he feels "it was just a lot of wild people who didn't care what they hit."

Further down Third Street, where rioting broke out Sunday night and where snipers' bullets punctured store windows Tuesday night, a candy shop's windows were boarded up. An appliance store with costly radios in a show windows was unscratched.

A dry cleaning shop operated by a Negro couple had broken windows. A nearby dry cleaning store owned by a white man was undamaged.

A car dealer said 57 of the 58 windows in his building were broken, and that four of his Negro employes volunteered to clean up the debris without pay.

A jewelry store operator said the neighborhood's older Negroes are dismayed, but that teen-agers "walk by the store and look at our broken window and laugh."

A 43-year-old Negro, who works at a car factory, said the neighborhood is deteriorating and that "most of these buildings should be burned down anyway."

"When the curfew is on and all is quiet," a companion added, "you can see rats this big running across Third Street."

Guard, Police Find No Joke In Riot Area

to check the identity and reason for moving of anyone leaving the forbidden sector. Should anyone try to get in, he was to be checked twice, which included a thorough searching of his vehicle.

Everyone in the Guard knew the reason for the policeman's utterance of already-known rules. A 4-year-old girl had been shot two hours earlier by unidentified men in a 1956 white-over-tan Oldsmobile. Although police had the license number, the Guard sergeant at Capitol and Green Bay made sure his armed sentinels took no chances.

"If a car comes and it doesn't belong to the police or to us," he said, "stand right here at port arms and force him to stop. When he stops, you level the rifle at him and ask him what he's doing here. If the car even slightly resembles the Olds, and someone inside makes a sudden move with a pistol, shoot."

The squad leader wanted no chances taken and didn't intend his men to take any either. While all National Guardsmen had explicit orders to "shoot to wound," if a case arose where there were no alternative but to just "shoot," it would be assumed that what was expected of the Guardsman was done.

No suspect vehicle arrived that night at Capitol and Green Bay. About all that did arrive was rain which forced the troopers to don their ponchos and try to keep their M-1 rifles protected from rusting. The night was over at 5:30 a.m., the time set for the lifting of the Milwaukee curfew. Guardsmen at this main intersection and just one block north of the U.S. 141 freeway could count on one hand the number of vehicles they had been forced to turn back.

This was the third night of the rioting and Milwaukeeans knew it would gain them nothing if they went for a drive. Other checkpoints reported that six autos had been halted carrying weapons, and this made the mission a success. But to most, there was nothing to do but stand and wait.

California Plans to Send Aid to Chile

By BILL STALL

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California plans its own foreign aid program for Chile after severing an aid arrangement with the U. S. State Department.

Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan says he has wiped out his state's partnership with the United States in an Alliance for Progress program to aid Chile.

"The State of California must proceed without further federal participation or assistance in the Chile-California program" Reagan told Secretary of State Dean Rusk in a letter Wednesday.

He accused the State Department of indecision, imposing too many restrictions and bureaucratic obstruction in handling the aid.

"This is disappointing. The administrations of both Chile and California have prepared themselves for an energetic continuation of the program," Reagan said.

But the governor said he will try to continue the project—which offers technical assistance to Chile—by raising private funds in California.

William P. Clark, Reagan's cabinet secretary said California would proceed under a "loose agreement" to avoid the U. S. Constitution provision that "no state shall enter into any treaty, alliance or confederation."

Clark said a major reason for the break was the State Department's rejection of Ray Long, assistant director of California's Agriculture Department, as the new head of California-Chile assistance.

Clark denied State Department assertions that Long is not fluent enough in Spanish or experienced enough in foreign affairs for the job.

The state government also was unhappy about the federal government's trimming of the program's 1967-1968 budget from $280,000 to $175,000.

Egypt Agrees to U.N. Plan for Suez Canal

JERUSALEM (AP) — Egypt has agreed to a United Nations proposal not to float ships in the Suez Canal for a month, the Israeli Foreign Ministry said today.

Lt. Gen. Odd Bull of Norway, personal representative of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant in the Middle East, informed the Israelis of the agreement on his return from Cairo.

Statue's Jeweled Crown Stolen in Arab Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP) — An ancient gold crown encrusted with diamonds was stolen early today from a statue of the Virgin Mary in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in the Arab quarter of Jerusalem, police reported.

The theft occurred between midnight mass and early morning prayers when only a few worshipers were in the church, investigators said.

The crown, described as small but very valuable, was on a statue in a small second floor crypt in a wing of the church under repairs.

Police said they believe the thief may have been a boy or a small person since the opening through which the crypt was entered is very narrow.

Tax Surcharge Asked To Pay for More Troops

tary operations may now exceed our earlier estimates."

Johnson said original budget estimates for 1968 have been hiked $4 billion for defense and $2 5 billion for civilian programs.

That would bring expected spending to $79.5 billion for the Deefnse Department and Atomic Energy Commission and $62 billion for civilian programs.

Johnson also said he has asked McNamara "to conduct a searching review of all defense expenditures and to withhold all such expenditures that are not now essential for national security."

Johnson also recommended a speed-up in corporate tax collections.

"Beginning Jan. 1, 1968, corporations would pay their estimated taxes on the basis of 80 per cent of their liability, rather than 70 per cent," Johnson said.

"Over a five-year period, small corporations, as well as large, would become current in their tax payments in the same way as individual proprietors already are," he said.

Johnson also recommended "continuation of excise taxes for the immediate future."

The 7 per cent manufacturers excise tax on autos is now scheduled to drop to 2 per cent April 1, 1968, and to 1 per cent Jan. 1, 1969.

"The drop to 2 per cent should be postponed to July 1, 1969, and the drop to 1 per cent should be postponed to Jan. 1, 1970," Johnson's message said.

He said the presently scheduled reduction in the 10 per cent excise tax on telephone service to 1 per cent on April 1, 1968, should be postponed to July 1, 1969 The elimination date of the telephone tax, now scheduled for Jan. 1, 1969, should be postponed until Jan 1, 1970, he advised.

Johnson said the surcharge on individual incomes would mean that "a family of four with income of $10,000, now ordinarily paying a tax of $1,100, will pay at most an added tax of $9.25 a month."

He said the three out of four American families with less than $10,000 annual income will pay a lesser increase.

Johnson said the proposed 10 per cent surcharges on corporation and individual incomes would yield $6 3 billion in revenues for fiscal 1968 and some more in 1969.

U. S. Planes Used

Congolese Move to Stop Mercenaries

KINSHASA, Congo, (AP) — U S Air Force planes flew Congolese army reinforcements to Kivu Province today to intercept a powerful force of white mercenaries and Katanga mutineers moving eastward toward the border of the Rwanda republic.

The C130 planes took 150 Congolese soldiers to Bukavu to bolster the strength and morale of Congolese forces routed by the rebels 80 miles northwest of the city Tuesday.

The Congolese lost at least 50 dead in the Tuesday engagement and three of their small force of armed cars were destroyed Other Congolese troops meanwhile occupied the towns of Punia and Lubutu, abandoned by the mercenaries and Katanga gendarmes earlier this week.

Bitter Fighting

A Congolese communique said Punia and Lubutu, stronghold of rebel commander Jean Schramm, were captured in bitter fighting However, reliable sources reported the rebels abandoned the two towns of their own accord and Congolese forces subsequently moved in without any fighting.

The sources said present indications were that the rebel group, comprising some 200 mercenaries and 300 well-trained Katangans, was stronger than anything the Congolese could deploy in the remote almost inaccessible forest area near the Rwanda border.

Judging from past performance of the Congolese troops, the reinforcements flown to Bukavu seemed unlikely to stop the rebels.

Military observers in Kinshasa said it was still uncertain whether the rebel force was heading for Bukavu or Goma, Congolese cities almost astride the Rwanda border some 75 miles away.

The force was last reported some 110 miles east of Punia, at a road junction from which they could turn either toward Bukavu or Goma.

The small army of the Rwanda Republic was reported to be on alert in case the rebels try to break out of Congolese territory, but it was unlikely that the Rwandans could put up very effective resistance against the rebels.

The rebels' withdrawal from Punia and Lubutu ended speculation that Schramm planned to hold out indefinitely in the hope that Congo President Joseph D. Mobutu eventually would be obliged to make peace with him.

The rebels moved to Punia following their withdrawal from Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville, on July 13.

Crisis Builds In Uruguay

Government Workers Striking for Pay Hike of 40 Per Cent

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Tiny Uruguay sank deeper into crisis today as strikes for more pay increased, electric power cuts chilled homes, and business houses and food shortages showed no sign of easing.

At least 200,000 government workers were on full or partial strike to press demands for a 40 per cent pay boost to offset a similar rise in the cost of living. President Oscar Gestido's government, already deep in the red, claims it cannot meet the wage demands Union leaders claim the government plans to freeze wages.

Gestido moved toward a showdown with the 400,000-member leftist National Workers Convention, the CNT, which engineered the strikes as part of a war of nerves against the government.

Navy units occupied the port area to keep out striking dock workers who might damage installations. Police also cleared strikers out of government banks where partial strikes and slowdowns disrupted operations.

Partial Stoppages

High school teachers walked out today. Partial stoppages by state telephone employes disrupted long distance service.

The railways, the state oil, alcohol and cement monopoly and other state-owned enterprises also were hit by stoppages, sitdowns, slowdowns and "working to rules."

With winter's freezing weather gripping the capital, power cuts of three to four hours daily worked a particular hardship in a city largely dependent on electricity for heating and cooking.

The food supply has been cut by severe summer drought, fall floods and heavy frost which badly damaged crops. Supermarkets are rationing milk, one bottle per buyer, and housewives have to stand in line for two hours to get it.

Vice President Warns Against 'Jungle Rule'

Humphrey said priorities must be jobs, education, training and retraining, decent housing, convenient mass transit, creative use of tax and other incentives to bring private investment into the central city, crime control, recreation, health services and participation by all people in the life of their community.

Humphrey reminded the audience that President Johnson has recommended almost $26 billion for federal programs directly helping the poor.

'Too Much'

"And, he said, "if you don't think that is enough money, than talk to the people who think it's too much."

"Humphrey said measures passed by the 89th Congress provide "the basic building blocks with which to eliminate the slum and build a stronger nation."

But, he warned, there is still a need for other programs to supplement laws already on the books.

Humphrey recommended passage of the Presidents' Safe Streets and Crime Control Act, firearms and narcotic control legislation, plus appropriations for rent supplements, metropolitan government grants, urban research funds, urban information and technical assistance, the Economic Opportunity Act, low income housing, rural development and rat control measures.

"A bill like rat control ought not be laughed about in Congress." Humphrey stated. "If they laugh, let them see, just as I have seen, the babies in hospitals whose fingers have been eaten off by rats."

Humphrey also urged passage of the Model Cities Act, which he said "has the structure for the rebuilding of American cities."

Offering a new proposal, the vice president recommended that all 50 states "consider formation of councils for civil peace at state and, where possible, the metropolitan level.

"A state council for civil peace" he said, "could include representation from all racial and religious groups in the state such as the state attorney general's office, the National Guard, law enforcement agencies and officials of local government.

"It could provide," he explained, "a state community relations service designed to prevent violence and to gain community cooperation and hear the voices of those who have gone unheard. A council for civil peace," Humphrey said, "could provide a way and means for those who would be the innocent victims of violence to have an opportunity to forestall that tragedy and to bring to bear their knowledge, their information and their sense of citizenship."

The vice president urged Americans "not to condemn the many for the sins of the few" and stated he has "faith in the courage and good sense of the people who today remain still trapped within the walls of poverty and despair."

Solemnly speaking to the silent crowd, Humphrey said, "The way you treat people is the way you treat God."

He warned, however, that "the injustices of 100 years will not be wiped away in five or 10 years, and the behavior patterns of a lifetime will not be wiped out in a month or even a year."

The "ghetto of the heart, mind and soul, as well as the physical ghetto, will not dissolve in the warmth of good intention and wishfulness.

"It will be eradicated only," Humphrey said, "when each of our citizens stands equal and proud before the law and his neighbors. It will be eradicated only when the people trapped within it are able to lift themselves into self-sustaining, productive citizenship."
